Lucas PAINT is Good Paint

PAINT IS MADE IN MANY GRADES, in many ways, by many processes, by many manufacturers, from many materials.

THERE'S A LOT OF SHINANIGAN, a lot of humbug, a lot of perfectly innocent fallacy, a lot of mistaken ideas, in paint.

RIGHT NOW hundreds of persons are planning on painting. They will be laying down their good money for paint within the next month.

WE FEEL OBLIGATED to spend a few dollars to print some interesting facts for the benefit of the buying public. We've spent much time and effort in collecting these facts, and you may accept them as authoritative. Watch for them. They will save you money.

PERHAPS, AFTER WE GET THROUGH with this instructive advertising campaign, a few of our readers will have a hankering to daub their fingers on "bargain paint"—just as some folks do in seeing whether a "wet paint" sign is true. But we hope they'll afterwards remember our humble efforts in trying to warn them off.

WINDOWBOXES TO GO UP ON MARKET SQUARE FRONTS

Harrisburg Gas Company and Harrisburg Feed Company Make Decision Today

The Harrisburg Gas Company and the Harrisburg Feed Company, occupying the same building on Market Square, have joined the Telegraph's porch and window box contest. The building will be decorated with boxes in which plants and vines will grow and bloom all through the summer months. This is a move in the right direction. The gas company, as a public utility, is setting the pace for other business enterprises having their homes on Market Square, and L. C. Williams, of that company, and James W. Barker, of the feed company, are co-operating heartily in the project. Other business men on the Square are seriously considering the placing of window boxes and it is believed that the example set by those who put up boxes this year will in time result in the decoration of every building in the heart of the business district, just as the stores and office buildings in the cities of Germany are beautified with flowers during the summer months. Among those who joined the movement to-day are: Mrs. Charles C. Hoffman, 2134 North Second street. Mrs. Brooke Trout, 2143 North Second street. Mrs. J. K. Smith, 2115 North Second street. Mrs. A. Wesley Lutz, 2141 North Second street. Mrs. William W. Stewart, 1604 State street. Mrs. George Wirt, 1620 State street. Mrs. Howard C. Bratton, 1618 State street.

DECLARE MARTIAL RULE IN DUBLIN

[Continued From First Page] Troops have arrived at Dublin from Belfast and England. Will Arrest Rioters Steps to arrest all those concerned in the movement, Mr. Asquith said, were being taken. The following telegram was received in London to-day from Baron Wimborne, lord lieutenant for Ireland, dated Dublin: "The situation is satisfactory. Stephens Green has been occupied. Eleven insurgents have been killed. The provincial news is reassuring." Premier Asquith told the house of commons that drastic action to suppress the movement in Ireland was being taken. Had No Machine Guns Outside of Dublin, he said, the country was tranquil. The premier added that steps were being taken to acquaint neutral countries of the real significance of "this most recent German campaign." Premier Asquith this afternoon read a telegram in the house of commons stating the situation in Dublin was satisfactory. It was not the case, the message stated, that the rebels had machine guns. Routes May Be Closed At the opening of the House of Commons to-day, Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, said it was difficult to say whether any routes to Ireland were open or closed. He added that he was going there if he could make arrangements. Irish Leader Who Planned Revolt May Be Beheaded London, April 26. — Sir Roger Casement, leader of the separatist faction in Ireland, who was captured while attempting to land arms from Germany, on the Irish coast, was conveyed across Ireland Saturday by a strong armed escort who knew the prisoner only by two initials. He arrived in London without incident and immediately was lodged in the Metropolitan Prison. The fact that Sir Roger Casement has been brought to England to stand trial and is detained in military custody leads to the assumption that he will be tried on the charge of high treason. This charge has been preferred less than half a dozen times in England the last hundred years. The last instance was during the Boer war, resulting in the conviction of Arthur Lynch in 1903. Mr. Lynch, who is now a member of the House of Commons, was sentenced to death but the sentence was commuted and a year later a pardon was granted. The Express suggests the possibility that Sir Roger, if convicted of high treason, may be beheaded, as under the existing law a person found guilty of this offense may, by crown warrant, be given the penalty of beheading instead of hanging. Denounces Uprising as Act of Folly by Political Lunatics and Sinn Feiners By Associated Press London, April 26. — An act of folly by political lunatics—old disgruntled cranks and young Sinn Feiners, is the orthodox view of the Irish Nationalists on the uprising in Ireland as expressed by Matthew Keating, a member of Parliament from South Kilkenny. Mr. Keating has been active in the Nationalist group for six years. "The utter lack of real political significance in what has just taken place in Dublin can be understood when I explain that those concerned could not possibly represent more than one per cent. of the population of the country," said Mr. Keating. "To illustrate, not more than twenty-five of this brand of cranks can be found in my constituency of 7,000. Many of them originally joined the Irish volunteer movement when Sir Edward Carson organized Ulster. "Some time after we started the Irish volunteer movement to offset the division between the Irish Nationalist volunteers, those following Redmond and those following the old revolutionary movement. The latter, composed as stated adopted the name of Irish Volunteers and continued to talk nonsense and drill after the beginning of the war. It is quite evident that these kept in touch with Sir Roger Casement and arranged an onslaught to coincide with the ill-fated gun running exploit of Thursday. "Mr. Birrell never asked why the volunteers existed. He knew it was not to serve against the enemy but rather to obstruct the imperial forces. On December 19, he declared evidence of their disloyalty is voluminous, yet he did nothing. "If he had any policy other than merely drifting, it was to turn a blind eye to the disloyal movement. The government persuaded itself that the reason could be overcome resolutely looking the other way. The government's wait-and-see policy was complicated by a hide-the-truth policy. "Would Have Been Roused "If the newspapers had been permitted to publish information in their hands Sunday night these things could not have happened. The Irish authorities would have been aroused from their sleeping sickness by publication of news that something very exceptional was occurring. They might have taken ordinary precautions, but the press was muzzled. It is proof of the grossest negligence and obtuseness when four or five parts of a great city can be seized by comparatively a small number of armed men. Colossal Blunder "This colossal blunder follows upon and surpasses all other blunders of the war. How much longer is the nation prepared to drift under the leadership of leaders who refuse to lead? "The Daily Express says that Augustine Birrell's strange hesitation in informing the House of Commons of the Irish revolt makes it natural to imagine the situation is worse than officially reported. "The Daily Chronicle says: "What is most dreaded now is that even the order speedily restored may be at the cost of bloodshed which may rattle for generations. One cannot help fearing reaction against the prospects of constitutional home rule." "The Times says: "The whole miserable business is a sorry comment upon the complete failure of Mr. Birrell to maintain respect for law and order during the nine years of his weak, callous administration. Such are the fruits of truckling to sedition and making light of contempt for law." TRY TO BLOW LEGATION By Associated Press Athens, Greece, April 26. — A bomb thrown to-day, with the supposed intention of blowing up the Bulgarian Legation, struck the grating of a cellar window and rebounded into the court yard, where it exploded. Dauphin Court So Intimates in Hearing Property Owners' Objections

Harrisburg officially explained its legal position in the "Hardscrabble" problem to the Dauphin county courts when City Solicitor D. S. Seitz this afternoon argued the municipality's answer to the exceptions and appeals to the condemnation viewers' award. Mr. Seitz represented the city alone although the various objecting property owners are represented by an array of counsel that includes James Scarlet, Senator E. E. Beldeman, W. L. Loeser, John C. Nissley, B. Frank Nead and George E. Barnett. Twenty-seven exceptions to the report of the viewers, all of them supported by what the protesting attorneys declare are legal foundations, and half a dozen appeals from the amounts allowed, constitute the basis of the objections. Argument began yesterday afternoon when Mr. Nissley and Mr. Nead had the floor and ended to-day with Mr. Barnett's talk. Messrs Scarlet and Beldeman, it is understood will discuss only the question of appeal—that is, whether or not the property owners have been allowed sufficient compensation. In the absence of Mr. Beldeman, Arthur H. Hull may assist Mr. Scarlet. During the argument of Mr. Barnett to-day both President Judge Kunkel and Additional Law Judge McCarrell intimated pretty plainly that all of the questions could have been as readily brought up before the condemnation proceedings heard by the board of viewers. The Viewers' Hearing Mr. Barnett not only attacked the legality of the city's method of opening Front street, but he protested against the constitutionality of the act of 1871 under which the proceedings were instituted, raised the question of the viewers' right to decide questions of law, and objected to the way Council had authorized the opening of the street. "Were these points of law raised before the board of viewers?" asked Judge Kunkel. "No," said Mr. Barnett. "Then how," asked the court, "could you expect the viewers to pass upon fact and conclusions of law if these points were not submitted to them?" Opening a Street President Judge Kunkel also took issue with Mr. Barnett on the latter's contention against the way Council had directed the opening of the street. "The city solicitor was directed to open the highway," pointed out the attorney. "Now what authority is there for such method of legally opening the street? Council alone has the power to do this. It cannot delegate the power to anyone." "How would Council open the street?" President Judge Kunkel wanted to know. "By passing an ordinance declaring it open." "Would the street then be opened?" inquired the President Judge with a suspicion of amusement in his voice.
