STUDENTS WILL BE GIVEN CHANCES

Announcement of Examination Plans by the Department of Labor and Industry

Undergraduate college students may be obtained for summer employment in agricultural, mechanical, chemical, civil engineering or mining engineering work through the Bureau of Employment of the Department of Labor and Industry, according to an announcement made to-day by Commissioner John Price Jackson.

Students from many colleges have applied to Director Jacob Lightner, of the employment bureau, for work along the lines of their college courses and manufacturers and heads of industrial plants may be able to obtain help by communicating with the nearest offices of the bureau of employment. The Pennsylvania State College provides many students for summer work and many of them are applying to the Labor Department for information regarding summer positions. The offices of the bureau of employment are located in the Masonic Temple, Harrisburg; Hannan building, Johnstown; 1519 Arch street, Philadelphia; Hartje building, Pittsburgh, and Chamber of Commerce building, Altoona.

MAY ONLY OPEN PART OF PARKWAY

Reservoir. Two or three bridges and some cutting, filling and rolling are yet to be done, however, before the highway will be in shape for traffic.

Inspect New Roadway The section was inspected yesterday by Park Commissioner Gross, Assistant Superintendent Forrer, Mayor E. S. Meals and Sheriff W. W. Caldwell, a former city highway commissioner. They were the first visitors to officially roll over the roadway yesterday. The long stretch which winds through the pretty valley just west of Paxtang is one of the wonder spots along the great wooded circle that encompasses the city; it is just a little more beautiful, if this be possible, than Cameron's extension.

Letters, more or less caustic in character have been exchanged recently between the park authorities and railroad company relative to the subway. The park authorities had been requested to prepare plans for the improvement; this was done. The railroad company's engineers, however, didn't approve and returned them for revision. This was done. Still the company isn't satisfied. Urgent action has been requested by the park officials and this was one of the problems threshed out this afternoon at the informal meeting of the members of former park commissions with Commissioner Gross and Assistant Forrer.

Ex-Park Officials Confer John T. Brady, resident counsel for the Philadelphia and Reading; William E. Bailey, J. Horace McFarland, H. E. Hershey and Samuel Kunkel are among the former park commissioners who had been invited to meet this afternoon to assist Park Commissioner Gross in an advisory capacity in the handling of the park work. The old officers will simply act as an advisory board, however. Messrs. Brady, Bailey, McFarland, Hershey and Charles A. Disbrow formed the park commission which was instrumental in bringing about the present park system.

River Front Slope Treatment

In addition to discussing the subway problem the ex-commissioners threshed out the river front slope question to some extent. That the slopes leading from the ramps will be ripped up with limestone taken from the city parkway "cuts" beyond the almshouse is certain. Filling and planting will be necessary and the effects of the recent high water's ravages will be repaired as speedily and as satisfactorily as possible. The new heights of steps leading from the river park to the wall, it was decided last evening, will be placed at Pine, South and Forster streets.

Acquirement of the Prospect Hill Cemetery tract, one of the unconnected links in the parkway drive over which the park authorities have been working for several years, was another problem that was discussed at this afternoon's conference.

net the employes a 10 per cent. increase recently having been placed in force by the old management. The orders announcing the new increase were posted shortly after noon to-day and were signed by General Manager Quincy Bent. They read as follows:

Effective May 1, there will be a general wage readjustment in all departments. The rate for common laborers will be 20 cents per hour. In other departments the increase will be equitably proportioned.

News of the increase, which was unexpected, spread rapidly in the borough. It is taken by many in Steelton to be in line with the Bethlehem Steel Company's policy of sharing profits with employes and paying good wages whenever the output of the plant will permit. While it has been generally expected in Steelton that some method of scuring—better—felling—among the men would be found by the Schwab interests, it was believed that the famous

Schwab bonus system would be introduced here. The flat increase comes as a complete surprise to the thousands of men affected.
