STEELTON AND NEARBY TOWNS

2,000 STEELTON CHILDREN TAKE PART IN ARBOR DAY EXERCISES

If you think the boys and girls in the public schools in Steelton don't believe in Arbor Day and conservation of trees, just take a peek at the pictures above. Fully 2,000 pupils of the borough schools held exercises in the morning in their rooms, and then turned out to plant 150 trees in the Luther R. Kelker park.

The trees were given by generous citizens and the Municipal League members. Each building and each school room planted one tree. In the upper picture is a group of High School students viewing the building tree which has just been planted. Charles S. Davis, principal of the school, is at the extreme right. He spent many hours in arranging for the observance of Arbor Day which was carried out so successfully.

The lower group is one of the Central Grammar school pupils around their tree.

MUST INCREASE SCHOOL MILLAGE

Improvements and Additional Courses Necessitate Additional Taxation

Members of the Steelton school board are considering the advisability of increasing the school tax rate several mills to cover additional expenditures which must be made within the coming year if the present high standard of the schools is to be maintained. During the present summer extensive repairs will be made to the High and Felton grammar school buildings and both will be repainted. The expense of this work will be heavy because no painting has been done on the exterior of the High school in the fourteen years since its erection. In addition to this the board plans to complete the addition of new courses in the schools as outlined sometime ago by Superintendent J. E. McGinnis. These include courses in domestic science for girls and manual training for boys. The latter course has already been started, but the purchase of additional equipment is necessary before the installation of the new studies will be complete.

HIGHSPIRE PLANS STREET LIGHTING

President Hoffmeister Discusses Measure to Adopt Electricity

Highspire last evening took the first official step toward lighting its streets with electricity when Council adopted on first reading the ordinance granting the Harrisburg Light and Power Company a five-year contract. The Harrisburg Company which lights the streets of Harrisburg, Steelton, Paxtang, Penbrook, Dauphin and other nearby towns, offered to install 60 and 100-candle power lamps at a cost of $22 and $24 respectively. The measure was passed on first reading after considerable discussion by a vote of four to three, President L. L. Hoffmeister and Messrs. Wise, Cumber and Brown voting for it and Messrs. Reem, Baker and Shelley in opposition. Mr. Reem led the opposition and President Hoffmeister advocated the passage of the ordinance. Many of the borough's residents were present. The measure will be considered finally at a meeting one month hence.

RETURN TO SCHOOL

The following students, after spending the Easter holidays in town with their parents, returned to their studies: Miss Josephine Mathias, Raymond Heberling, Edgar Hastings, Lebanon Valley College; Claude B. Leach, Lafayette College; George Brehan, State College; and Miss Edna Hester, a teacher in the public schools at Old Bridge, N. J.

Public Liability

"Then, too," said Mr. Hoffmeister, "the one big item is lost sight of. This is the question of public liability. If the borough takes over the plant, and one of its citizens is injured by a falling wire the borough may be sued for such a sum as would wipe out all the profits, apparent or imaginary, that may be earned for ten years. Whereas by purchasing light for the Harrisburg company, all the risks of this description are assumed by the company." "Now as to the statement that an effort was made to keep this from the public," concluded President Hoffmeister, "Council meets at stated times and the public is fully informed as to these things. The meetings are always open to the public; this question has been before it for ten years. Anyone interested could have appeared; all have the right of speech. To my mind the majority of the holders of property in Highspire are for this measure."

New System of Saving Wins Instant Popularity

One month ago we offered to the Harrisburg public for the first time the Harrison S. Gill System of monthly saving, with an interest rate which has never been less than 6.64 per cent. Inquiries quickly poured in and we have yet to find one person who is not well pleased with the system, and our sales have been far in excess of our liberal expectations.

Our proposition is to sell 5 shares in Harrisburg's oldest building and loan association, which in 12 years will amount to $1,000. We have arranged to insure payment of this amount with interest to your beneficiary, whether or not you live to pay one or all monthly deposits.

We have well trained agents to thoroughly explain our proposition. Through them alone can an intelligent idea of the system be had. These men are at your service to explain the proposition clearly, without any obligation to you.

Clip the coupon below, fill in the blank spaces, and mail it—NOW! We will be glad to give you detailed information, without obligating you in any way.

The Harrisburg Choral Society announces the Spring music festival will be held in the Orpheum theater, Friday, May 12. The Philadelphia orchestra and distinguished soloists will assist in the rendition of Coleidge-Taylor's Oratorio "Atonement." This orchestra has many friends in Harrisburg who will be delighted to learn that it is to play here. A symphony concert will be given in the afternoon, and the orchestra and distinguished soloists will assist the society at the evening choral concert.

Attorneys, police officers and newspapermen who visited the office of Frank A. Stees, at Steelton, this morning, were granted the honor of being presented to "His Majesty, the 'Czar of all the Slavs'." As each man was presented to "His Majesty," the neatly-dressed, distinguished-looking, and prosperous business man or executive, drew himself erect, flashed a smile, extended his hand graciously and murmured, "I am pleased, indeed, to meet you, sir." "His Majesty's" visit to Squire Stees was rather unexpected, having arrived in Steelton just three days ago, met the Justice last evening and then departed for Harrisburg.

NEW DORMITORY FOR THE ACADEMY

Although the definite plans have not as yet been completed, it is generally recognized that the trustees who financed the Selter Hall are active in the accomplishment of the new project, and equal success is prophesied, particularly in view of the fact that Headmaster Arthur E. Brown is said to have sufficient new pupils in view to completely fill the new building.
