Vanta garments for infants go far toward making one of the happiest ideas ever conceived for the comfort of a baby. The first Gertrude skirt was the idea of a physician, well known as a baby specialist.

The soft part wool skirt protects baby from draughts and is very absorbent. The Twistless Tape fastenings at shoulders can be readily loosened, permitting garment to be slipped off and a dry one put on, without having to undress baby. Demonstration now in progress under the direction of a professional nurse.
