liam R. Douglass went to Reading this morning to attend a special session of the schedule committee.

Failure to get grounds in condi-tion and the necessary backing at Altoona and Johnstown, wifi result in dropping these two towns. For the present the league will start with six clubs—Harrisburg, York, Lancas-ter, Lebanon, Reading and Allen-town. A new schedule will be ap-proved today.

town. A new schedule will be approved today.

The contract for grounds at Rittersville, near Allentown were closed yesterday and work started on the erection of grandstand and bleachers. This will necessitate the playing of Allentown on the ground for two weeks. Other towns are in good shape and according to reports there will be old-time celebrations in every city on Wednesday, May 10.

Five cities, each with grounds will make application for admission. One of the cities is Coatesville where grounds are in shape and a team ready to start the season. President Douglass, however, would like to show baseball fans high class sport and for this reason two more towns will not be added until later. It is understood that conditions will favor a change of the circuit later on.

American Exports Last Month Are $410,000,000

Washington, D. C., May 4.—All world's export records were broken by the United States during March, and it was predicted by department of commerce officials that at the end of the fiscal year thos country will have a trade balance of $2,000,000,000 in its favor. Statistics announced to-day day show March exports valued at $40,000,000, which is double the March average for the last five years.

For the nine months ending with March exports were $2,95,000,000, exceeding the same period last year by more than $1,000,000,000. March imports were $214,000,000, and for the nine months $1,505,000,000.

Williamsport Boy Puts It All Over Lightweight Champion; Other Bouts Pleasing

Frankie McGuire of Williamsport, practically an obscure boy in lightweight class last night at Chestnut street auditorium, put it all over Freddie Welsh, the champion. Mc-Guire lacked the steam with his punches at times. His work was highly creditable considering that he has not had any training from men who know real fighters.

Welsh was on the defensive most of the time. The Williamsport lad used an upper cut frequently and it worthe Englishman. Stiff jabs on the face by McGuire kept Welsh busy using his covering up tactics, and his famous pose with one hand over the face and the other ready to ward off the blows. The younugster forced the the blows. The younugster forced the fighting.

McGuire lost his head several times when he used the open rope tactics, and had Welsh been faster there might have been another story, however, the glory, according to the general opinion last night went to. McGuire and Welsh was given a further advance toward the has been class.

Guire and Welsh was given a further advance toward the has been class.

Welsh Plays For Stomach

In the first round Welsh played for his opponent's stomach, but McGuire was cautious. Honors were even. The second found the Williamsport boy rushing the champion and landing frequent blows on Welsh's face and head. It was McGuire's round. The third was also the latter's round because the youngster did all the fighting. The fourth was even in honors, and the fifth slightly in favor of McGuire. The latter was strong in the final mix-up. Welsh weighed in at 141 pounds and McGuire 138 pounds. The fight attracted a large crowd, and was the most expensive show ever put on in Harrisburg. The promoters, according to reports will have no profits. They were anxous to give local patrons an exhibition with a real champion, and this proved successful.

The other bouts on the bill were fast and interesting. Frankle Erne, the former Harrisburg boy, now a physical director at Lancaster was badly punished by Al Murphy of Scranton. Charley Collins of Columbia and Jule Ritchey of Lancaster, went six rounds to a draw in a bout that was somewhat disappointing.

The seri-windup between Johnny Gill of York and Jimmy Conway of Scranton was a good match. Gill had the best of the battle in four rounds. Conway was a heavier boy and knew the game. One round was even. In the opening bout Kid Smith of Columbia went after Ben Rottenhouse of Lancaster with fierce blows and put the latter out in two minutes. It was a good fight while it lasted.

Twenty-seventh Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers, in annual session at Lebanon yesterday, elected Colonel H. C. Demming of Harrisburg, president, and decided to meet in Harrisburg next year. The sessions were presided over by William Jennings, of Harrisburg, rst vice-president. A banquet followed the business session.

William Jennings, son of the late commander of the One Hundred and Twenty-seventh Regiment, declined the presidency of the association, again declaring that he would enver accept the honor as long as there were original members still living. These officers were then elected by acclamation: President, H. C. Demming, Harrisburg; vice-presidents, William Jennings, Harrisburg; treasurer, B. F. Frantz, Middletown; chaplain, A. S. News from the meeting of the Pennsylvania State league at Reading today will be awaited with much interest by local fans. As intimated several weeks ago the season will start with six clubs. This will be satisfactory to fans providing the game is up to the standard. Reports from the various cities show a number of promising youngsters at work. The players who are in the game for improvement, according to experienced fans, furnish interesting sport. President Douglass of the State League is of the opinion that the players in his organization will show some speed.

The latter, in the opinion of Manager Mack needs a little more seasoning.

Manager George Cockill is drilling a fast bunch at Lewisburg. He does not have all the material needed, and hopes that to-day will bring a final decision on the question of protection. As has been stated a number of players do not care to start the game until they are sure it is to be under organized baseball. Players now in famp at Bucknell, include Mathews, Mack and Yothheimer, outfielders; Elair and Evans, catchers; and Ramsey, Stewert and Relanard, pitchers.
