"Suppose in a city of 20,000 homes, each home would save a cent each week, how much money would be saved in that city each year?"

Susie Smart jumped up and said, quick as a flash, "$62,400."

asked.
"Each family would save three dollars and twelve cents a year, that makes $62,400 for twenty thousand families.
"How does each family save $3.12 a year?" asked the teacher.

"If you SAVE-A-CENT each week," said Susie, "You save six cents every time you SAVE-A-CENT."

Teacher hasn't seen through it yet. Pa sez Susie wuz right. Ma sez Susie wuz wrong. Sez she's learned by experience that every time she gets SAVE-A-CENT she saves twenty-six cents—since one package of SAVE-A-CENT at 4 cents does more and better work than three 10-cent cans of any cleaning powder.

Skeleton Crews of Warships Roosevelt Is Choice in

Oyster Bay, L. I., May 8.—Colonel Roosevelt, in a speech at the Arbor Day exercises of the Cove School, said that he hoped that not long hence there would be in every school in the country the kind of drill given by the Boy Scouts who were present. "What's more," he said, "I hope that we'll all be trained, as you Boy Scouts are being trained, to fit ourselves to do our duty in time of peace and in time of war." brought to him on the bridge for two days. When Hampton Roads was reached a hait was made to permit him to catch a few hours' sleep after a supply of ammunition had been taken aboard.

supply of ammunition had been taken aboard.

There were not as many officers and men aboard as are needed to man the vessel efficiently when she is in reserve in the back basin at League Island. The crew was as short handed. Regular watches for either men or officers were out of the question. One officer in the engine room had to be put under the ship surgeon's care more than once because of the prolonged periods in which he was forced to remain in a particular area of intense heat.

The ships were ordered to Annapolis to take aboard several hundred midshipmen for the summer cruises. The trip was made in almost dead calm. Veteran officers said that if heavy weather had been encountered the vessels would have been in actual danger.
