

Splendid Laxative For Elderly People

Has Been Prescribed by Well Known Physician For Many Years.

MRS. RACHEL ALLEN

The infirmities of age are especially manifest in a tendency to constipation, and call for treatment that will afford relief in an easy, natural manner. The rapid action of cathartic remedies and purgatives that shock the system should be avoided, more especially as the relief they offer is only temporary and is usually more than offset by disturbance to the vital organs caused by their violent action.

Nearly thirty years ago Dr. W. B. Caldwell, Monticello, Ill., prescribed a compound of simple laxative herbs that has since become the standard household remedy in thousands of homes. It acts easily and gently, yet with positive effect, without griping or other pain or discomfort. Mrs. Rachel Allen, Galesburg, Kan., is seventy-one years old, and after using a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, wrote that it had done her a world of good and that she intends to keep it in the house always.

HUNTER SPEAKS TO SUPERVISORS

Asks Them to Help Make Good Roads Day a Notable Time in the State

Supervisors of all townships in the State have been asked by Joseph W. Hunter, acting State Highway Commissioner, to co-operate with the public on Good Roads Day, May 25, by laying aside all other work on that day and joining volunteers in highway work. The commissioner says that the supervisors can assist their neighbors by taking a leading part in organizing the workers in their districts. Mr. Hunter says in his letter that the State Highway Department will gladly assist the supervisors in any way possible through its bureau of township highways. There are 4,527 supervisors in the State, representing 1,509 townships.

EXAM. FOR MILLERSBURG RURAL CARRIER JUNE 10

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an examination for the County of Dauphin, Pennsylvania, to be held at Harrisburg, Millersburg and Middletown on June 10, 1916, to fill the position of rural carrier at Millersburg, Pa.

POISONED BY SNAKE BITES

Albert Miller, aged 19, of Penbrook, was bitten Sunday by a big snake, after a struggle during which Miller tried to kill the reptile. Last night when Miller's arm had swollen to twice its normal size he went to the Harrisburg Hospital for treatment. Physicians believe that they can remove the poison.

The Cup That Cheers Most

is the cup that is the most wholesome—for unpleasant after-effects can mar the keenest pleasure.

With the usual hot table drink, whether it be coffee or tea, there results to many persons an inconvenience in health which calls for a change.

Instant Postum

is rapidly filling this table want, and in a way satisfactory to taste, comfort and enjoyment.

The rich, mellow flavour of Instant Postum closely resembles that of mild Java coffee, and its absolute purity makes it a prime favorite of both parents and children.

Instant Postum is quickly prepared at table, a cup at a time. Simply place a level teaspoonful of the soluble powder in the cup, pour on hot water, then stir and add cream and sugar to taste. No waste.

"There's a Reason" for POSTUM
At Grocers everywhere.

GOVERNOR URGES LOCAL OPTION LAW

Makes Strong Speech in Its Behalf in Crawford and Erie Counties

Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh made local option speeches principally in his tour of Crawford and Erie counties yesterday and last night, leaving to W. D. B. Ainey, chairman of the Public Service Commission, and Ex-Deputy Attorney General E. W. Flettiz, of Scranton, his political speech making. The governor was well received in what has been considered territory indifferent to his candidacy and members of his speaking party undertook to rap those opposing the governor with severity.

Speaking at Erie at the close of the day, the governor said: "Our menace is not from within," he said, "for we are a peaceable people. We need forts and great guns and armies and navies for a menace from without. And we should have a protective tariff make that outside menace bear the freight for our security against war."

"We must have a reunited Republican party to do these great things for the safety of the nation. But we cannot be united under the leadership that lead us to defeat in 1912."

"I want you men to think before you vote next Tuesday," he concluded. "Decide if it isn't wise for you to send to Chicago men untrammelled and free, who will not follow special interests or the selfish commands of so-called leaders."

Mr. Ainey called the flight against Penroseism a "finish fight." And the governor, speaking after them climaxed their declarations by saying: "I feel that it is a fair and reasonable obligation to you that I make this fight. And I so believe in it, that I am willing to stay in this struggle for a party that will serve the people. Pennsylvania stands forth as clean and as fair a commonwealth as there is in the world."

Mr. Flettiz, who has organized nine counties in northern Pennsylvania for Governor Brumbaugh after severing his connection with the Penrose crowd, said: "Any man that thinks this a temporary rust that will blow over tomorrow is under delusion. We must have a reunited party and a higher standard of Republicanism. We need a housecleaning from top to bottom, and I, for one, am enlisted to take my part in this job until it is finished."

"We don't want a leadership in Pennsylvania that is based on an alliance of special interests. It is not one that I will follow. This is not a factional fight; it is a fight to see if a decent, fair-playing, honest Republican party cannot be brought about in Pennsylvania under the leadership of a man who typifies that sort of leadership, Martin G. Brumbaugh."

Mr. Ainey was just as clear in his statement of the permanency of this fight. "The Republican party still has a destiny, but it has been damped and hindered. But such a fight as is now being made is the kind that will clear it of this hindrance and allow it to fulfill that destiny. The men who are opposing his flow in this party are the men who fought his program of social legislation, the same men who were responsible for the disaster at Chicago in 1912."

At Meadville Mayor John E. Reynolds, former Congressman Arthur E. Bates, and W. W. Kincaid, a big manufacturer, who is a candidate for Congress on the Republican and Washington tickets, joined the party.

John A. Bolard, candidate for the legislature from Crawford county, was with the governor during the afternoon.

At Cambridge Springs former Deputy Attorney General Frederic W. Flettiz, of Scranton, and former Congressman Milton W. Shreve, who is in charge of the governor's campaign for a reunited party in Erie county, F. S. Phelps, editor of the Erie Times, and Arthur Mitchell, of Erie, an ex-assemblyman, joined the party.

Late Local and County News For Hasty Reading

The question of the validity of a verbal agreement between C. Vernon Rettew and his brother-in-law, Christian L. Long, as to the sharing of a portion of the increment from the late Mrs. Rettew's portion of her grandfather's estate, was threshed out before a Dauphin County Common Pleas jury to-day. Mrs. Rettew, the dead wife of Rettew, was a sister of Mrs. Long. Froudfather, a wealthy resident on the Cumberland Valley, they each inherited a twenty-fourth portion. Mr. Rettew was given his wife's share at her death. This he in turn turned over to Mr. Long, the administrator, for $15,500. The understanding at the time, according to Rettew, was that if the property increased in value to more than $21,000, he, Rettew, was to receive the excess. The property in question sold eventually for $26,000 and the $5,000 excess is the sum Rettew is suing for.

Because the bids City Commissioner H. P. Bowman received for laying a water pipe in Bellevue Park were too high as submitted by Johnson and Lyme, Mr. Bowman will probably readvertise for bids.

Among the marriage licenses issued to-day was one to Sylvester Eichelberger and Nelly Gregg, a widow and a widow of this city. She is 46 and he is 61.

The will of Abraham M. Fetrow, Middletown, was probated to-day and letters on the estate were granted to Anna C. Fetrow. The estate is worth $3,400.

Official tests of the new firehose was made this afternoon at the city water pipeline shop by Commissioner E. Z. Gross. Other councilmen attended. The trials were made under 100 pounds pressure.

Charged with entering the home of Andrew Henry, Hummelstown, Waso Belsic was locked up here to-day pending the result of inquiries by Lebanon authorities. It is believed Belsic may have been implicated in the murder Thursday, of Stanko Vickovic, Annville.

"Not heroin; just liver pills" was the verdict of Harrisburg hospital physicians after carefully examining 3-year-old William, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Cloud, 906 South Nineteenth street, to-day. While finding the bottle and tried the pills and distracted parents thought they were heroin.

City barbers to-night will make a general effort to obtain Friday half holidays during July and August. The Firemen's Union will meet to-night to adopt resolutions, the character of which officials declined to discuss.
