ROOSEVELT OUT IN OPEN FIGHT FOR PRESIDENCY

Endorses Efforts Under Way by "Nonpartisan League," Americanism Keynote

Oyster Bay, N. Y., May 12.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt late yesterday formally entered the race for the nomination as President by the Republican and Progressive conventions at Chicago on June 7 in a letter which he sent to Guy Emerson, secretary of the Roosevelt Non-partisan League. The league was organized with the object of obtaining Colonel Roosevelt's nomination by a reunited party. Colonel Roosevelt stated in so many words that he "approves" what the league is doing. The Roosevelt letter places an entirely new complexion upon the political situation. One sentence was considered especially significant, as it was generally believed to refer to Justice Hughes, who, according to many inspired stories, Roosevelt and the Progressive party were ready to support. The sentence reads:

"I do not have to improve my convictions on either Americanism or preparedness."

Colonel Roosevelt's letter says: "I do not have to improve my convictions on either Americanism or preparedness. I have fought for them all my life long, and when I was elected President I translated my convictions concerning them into governmental policy. The events of the last two years in Europe, and of the last four or five years in Mexico have brought into vivid relief the vital need of preparedness; and the sinister revival of the political racial hyphen in our politics has emphasized the need of stern insistence on thoroughgoing Americanism within our own borders."

"Twenty-one years ago, when I was post-commissioner of New York, I said: 'There must be a feeling of broad, radical and intense Americanism if good work is to be done in any direction. Our citizens must act as Americans; not as Americans with a preface and qualifications. Irish-Americans, German-Americans, Native-Americans—but as Americans pure and simple. It is an outrage for a man to drag into politics into our contests and vote as an Irishman or German, or other foreigner.'"

"What I thus said before is what I now say. Nineteen years ago, when I was Assistant Secretary of the Navy, I said: 'Preparation against war is the surest guarantee for peace. Cowardice in a race, as in an individual, is the unpardonable sin. It is a willful failure to prepare for danger may in its effects be as bad as cowardice. The timid man who cannot take the steps that will enable him to fight, stand on almost the same plane.'"

"We ask for an armament fit for the nation's needs, not primarily to fight, but to avert fighting as long as fighting can honorably be averted. Preparedness deters the foe and maintains right by the show of ready might without the use of violence."

"Your league emphasizes its devotion to these principles, and supports me only as representing these principles. This is emphatically the proper attitude to take; and this is the right attitude, and because you are working in this spirit, I very earnestly approve your work."

"Our present troubles with Mexico and Germany are the direct result of our utter failure to prepare, and of our governmental policy of almost unbelievable timidity and vacillation. A policy of vigorous preparedness and courteous, but immediate, insistence on our rights from the beginning of the war, would instead of being provocative have prevented all chance of trouble. It is a crime against this nation and against mankind that there has been no such preparation."

"I am glad and proud, as an American, that you are fearlessly and efficiently backing these ideas."

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

The general opinion last night was that the letters would rip the political situation wide open and would mark the start of the real fight on the part of Colonel Roosevelt and his friends and advisers in the Republican and Progressive parties to obtain the nomination for him. It was generally predicted that it would be followed up by a campaign conducted on the basis that Colonel Roosevelt was out in the open now, making the fight for the nomination along these lines, and that the fight would be kept up until there was a showdown in Chicago.

The new angle which the fight has taken, it was felt, would end all hope of a compromise on Justice Hughes if the Justice failed to come out with some statements before the conventions.

to-night will be Mrs. Wilbur F. Harris, soprano; Mrs. Roy G. Cox, soprano; Miss Belle Middaugh, alto; Miss Catherine Heicher, soprano, and Miss Mary R. Turner, soprano, all of this city and vicinity.

Patrons who are not in their seats at 8:15 o'clock to-night when the concert begins, will not be seated until the first intermission. It was announced this afternoon.

Dr. J. Fred Wolfe, of Bethlehem, the greatest Bach master of this age, conductor of the society, in speaking of Coleridge-Taylor's "Atonement" says: "It is a highly dramatic, modern work of tremendous virility. Its interpretation of the great drama is most intense. It abounds in moments of rare

Kirschbaum Suits at $15, $20 and $25

Copyright 1916. A. B. Kirschbaum Co.

The Celebrated Kirschbaum Vanitie

Here is the young man's fashion of the hour—cut with regular front, but with pleated and half belted back. Dressed in it you are ready for a quick change from office to country club—and in either case you would be strictly in accord with the mode.

They were made for us by the celebrated Kirschbaum shops with the express purpose of enabling us to offer more value in fabrics, in trimmings, in workmanship, in finish than the average suit made in the average way could ever hope to equal—or even to approach.

These suits were made not merely to sell at $15, $20 and $25—but to outsell anything else obtainable at these prices.

So diverse, so tempting is the array of garments we have assembled at this popular figure that our pen abandons hope of doing justice to them—and we content ourselves with saying that no matter what color, pattern, weight, weave or model you may prefer, it is here.

And whatever garment your choice lights upon you may be sure that it is all-wool and absolutely fast colors—that the Kirschbaum label unequivocally guarantees.

GAS ON HIS STOMACH CAUSED HIS MISERY

He Resorted to Quaker Herb Extract Is Now Well

(Special, York, Pa.)

Mr. Frank Gable of Mt. Wolf, also tells what happened to his little boy after taking this most wonderful remedy, Quaker Herb Extract only a few days. Parents should take notice.

Herman E. Grohn—a molder by trade and to all appearance a strong healthy man. People who saw him could not believe he could have any cause to complain of ill health, yet he did. It seems that always after eating his stomach would bloat, gas would form and his miseries would commence. The gas seemed to press against his heart, causing palpitation and pain. It would also cause shortness of breath and dizzy spells. He resorted to phosphates and sodas to relieve his condition but after each meal he would feel as dreadful as ever. He finally decided to try Quaker Herb Extract and Quaker Liver Tablets, which had been recommended to him, at the drug store. Did they help him? He called again and said: I am cured. I can eat and drink anything now served at home and no distress follows. My digestion is perfect. I enjoy what I eat. I attribute these results entirely to Quaker Herb Extract and Quaker Liver Tablets.

Mr. Frank Gable who works at Mt. Wolf called and said: I have a little boy four years old who I think has worms. He is pale and nervous, very restless in his sleep, grinds his teeth, bites his nails, picks his nose and has an awfully bad breath. He is very bashful and easily frightened. The Health Teacher said: Try Quaker

Herb Extract and Quaker Worm Candy. I gave these remedies to my boy nearly two weeks without any apparent results, but on a Sunday a remarkable thing happened. He expelled what must have been thousands of small worms from one-half to one inch in length. Some were dead but most alive. Since then my boy is a different child. He is lively, happy and active, and I must thank the Quaker Herb Extract and Quaker Worm Candy for this.

If you have rheumatism, catarrh, stomach, liver, kidney or blood troubles call and learn what Quaker Herb Extract $1.00 per bottle, or three bottles for $2.50. Oil of Balm 25 and 50 cents a bottle. Kidney Pills 50 cents a box, will do for you at Keller's Drug Store, 405 Market street.

How You Can Quickly Remove Hairy Growths

(Aids to Beauty)

A well known beauty specialist advises this treatment for the removal of hair from the face. Mix into a paste some powdered Coleridge-Taylor water, apply to hairy surface and after 2 minutes rub off, wash the skin and every trace of hair has vanished. This method is quick and entirely safe. To avoid disappointment, however, it is well to ascertain you get genuine delatone.
