COLLEGE MAN'S RESPONSIBILITY IMPRESSED ON DICKINSONIANS

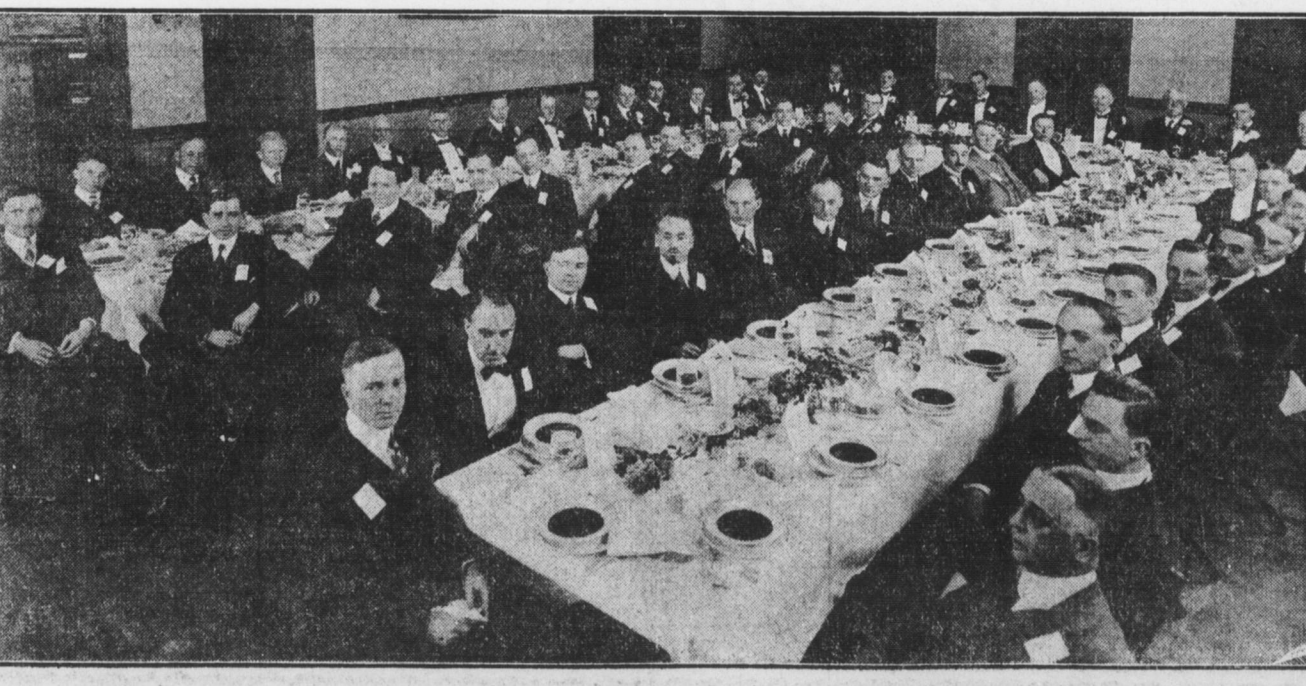

College memories were recalled more vividly last evening at the annual banquet of Dickinson alumni when "Old Noah" Pinkney, the aged colored pretzel vendor of the Carlisle Institution, dropped in upon the fifty or more amazed and delighted diners at the Harrisburg Club.

The appearance of "Ole Noah" was as much of a "stunt" as the addresses, the music and the songs. The decorations, including the great Dickinson banner and the flowers, gave a real color touch.

The college man's responsibility as a citizen was the theme of the talk. Vance C. McCormick, who represented Yale University as a guest of honor, opened the discussion, and he was followed by Dr. George Edward Reed, former president of Dickinson, Dr. Melvin G. Filler, present dean; Dr. B. O. McIntyre, representing the college; Prof. W. Harrison Fitchler, of the law faculty; Thomas R. Jeffrey, for the student senate, and Henry Spicer and Thompson R. Martin, for the alumni.

WILLIAM H. EBY, JR. He is secretary and treasurer of the Pennsylvania Insurance Exchange and is a grandson of the late Maurice C. Eby, a former Mayor of Harrisburg.
