Girl Speaks in Brogue

A touch of humor was added when Mary Gorman told her story of meeting the country round and did not submit until one of the constables leveled a rifle at him.

The star witness from the standpoint of human interest was Martin Collins, a farmer's lad of 12 years who was called to identify Casement as one of the men arrested near Tralee.

After the hearing had been in progress for some time Casement turned his attention from the testimony to the writing of a long statement.

ferences at El Paso, as reported to-day by Major General Scott to Secretary Baker, has been to convince the Carranza government that the United States has no other purpose in its operations in Northern Mexico than to stamp out brigandage and as a consequence there exists substantially an unwritten understanding that the Carranza forces will endeavor to demonstrate their ability to handle the situation as the necessary first step toward withdrawal of the American punitive expedition.

Another important element and one which American officers regard as most vital to General Pershing's line of communications was cleared up by General Oregon's agreement not to bring the large forces of Carranza troops in Sonora through Pulpit pass into General Pershing's rear.

Eliseso Arredondo, Mexican ambassador-designate, has given out a statement explaining that nothing in the return of Peres Romero to his post as Mexican ambassador to Tokio, nor appointment of Rafael Zubara was diplomatic agent to Germany and her allies, is to be considered significant as foreshadowing alliances with these nations.

MERGER CLAUSE DELAYS MEASURE

The old ordinance which gives the company the use of certain streets there is a clause which restricts it from leasing its lines to any other concern or merging with any other company.

The Merger Clause

The other provision relative to granting the company permission to lease its conduits to the Western Union Telegraph Company—thus eliminating the telegraph company's wires and poles from city streets—is not objected to, but the councilmen are not entirely satisfied with the elimination of the merger clause.

Just when the Commissioners will meet to discuss the subject was not decided upon to-day, although Commissioner W. H. Lynch, who asked for postponement, said he will try to get his fellow-councilmen together for the purpose before the end of the week.

with 500 attending delegates from all parts of Pennsylvania.

Senator Beldieman complimented the Patriotic Order of Americans and all other patriotic organizations for their good work in having the Bible read each day in the public schools of the State.

Now that you have accomplished so much good through the reading of the Scripture in the schools, your duty is to have an American flag on every school building in Pennsylvania, to see that there is also an American flag in every schoolroom.

Let Bridge Plan Contract

If this be true, then the York company, it was argued in Council to-day, is liable for the city tax of 10 cents per pole.

Opening Session

The opening session to-day was called to order by William A. Adams, past national president of the Patriotic Order Sons of America, who welcomed the delegates and introduced the speakers.

City Commissioner Edward Z. Gross greeted the delegates on behalf of the city. Mayor E. S. Meals not being able to attend, Commissioner Gross presented the key to the city to Mrs. Ella Long Wright, of Akron, Ohio, president of the State body.

Mrs. Amber Strauss, State vice-president, responded to Senator Beldieman. Mrs. Wright opened the business session at 10 o'clock.

The entire morning was taken up in enrollment of delegates. The appointment of committees followed and the delegates got down to business late this afternoon.

The program for to-night includes a banquet at the Chestnut Street Auditorium. The big gathering will end to-morrow night with a dance.

Arrangements were then made to close the convention at 6 p. m. with an address by General Secretary John R. Mott on "The Added Responsibility of each word and study them carefully. It is a hymn with a meaning."

In conclusion Senator Beldieman added: "It is only a matter of a very short time when national laws will make the Holy Bible and American flag a universal factor in all schools of the country."

VOTE IN BERKS LIGHT

Reading, Pa., May 16.—Candidates and other close observers of the political situation do not expect more than half of the vote to come out at to-day's primaries in Reading and Berks county. Politicians have failed to arouse the usual enthusiasm and this will be reflected in the total vote. There has been unusually small interest in the campaign.
