EFFECT OF WAR ON WORK OF CHURCH

Reveals Strength of Christianity, According to Reports at Presbyterian Assembly

Atlantic City, N. J., May 19.—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States in session on the Steel Pier until Friday, May 26, is one of the important church gatherings of the year and the reports that have been prepared by various committees for consideration during the week reflect some of the new phases of church problems and particularly some of the effects which the great war in Europe has had on church work.

These reports, compiled in a book of 290 pages, which were placed in the hands of the delegates to the assembly here today, include some optimistic views as to the effects which the war is having and will continue to have on religion. The executive commission of the Alliance of the Reformed Churches throughout the world reports:

"Instead of showing the failure of Christianity, this war has revealed the strength of Christianity, for Christianity has been the only bond that has not snapped because of this war. Out of the present conditions in Europe three facts are emerging that bear on the religious situation. The first is that religion over there has become largely philanthropy. The people have passed from faith to works. All the countries are full of charitable efforts to relieve poverty and suffering.

Opportunity for Evangelization

"The second peculiarity is evangelization. The 24,000,000 men of the different armies afford a grand opportunity for the spread of the gospel. The 2,400,000 prisoners in Germany, most of whom are Russians, open a great field for the evangelization of Russia. In the camps, in the hospitals, in the prison camps, is an open door of hope, tremendous and mighty that will affect every church in Europe.

"The third feature is personalness, that is piety which more than ever has become a personal thing. The war is making Europe learn that religion is a personal matter rather than a formal one.

The lines between demoniations are largely broken down in armies and camps. Faith is being purified, sham and unreality are burned out. People are thinking straight and centering themselves on Jesus Christ. These characteristics are not going to pass entirely away for Europe has been too deeply stirred. She is back to what she was before the war."

Call for Americans

After the war, the report points out, there may be a great call for Americans to take up the continuance of English church work on the continent of Europe, particularly in Germany and Austria, where prejudice may militate against Britishers resuming their activities.

The divorce evil in America receives considerable attention by the special committee on Christian life and work which points out that the estimated average of divorces has reached the alarming ratio of about one to every twelve marriages, "a showing that is worse than that of any other civilization." "We must organize," the committee says, "as never before, a nationwide campaign of education in behalf of the welfare of the family and the home concerning the sacredness of marriage and evils of divorce." The same committee discusses the use of the Bible in the public schools and the church is urged to work toward creating a public sentiment that will favor and even demand such a course.

Deplore Sabbath Desecration

In discussing the observance of the Sabbath another committee submits a lengthy report covering many phases of the problem and deplores among other things that in our national capital there are social functions of every description on the Lord's day.

Modern inventions as the automobile and motion pictures are cited as adding a tremendous influence to the work of the church is urged to work toward creating a public sentiment that will favor and even demand such a course.

Resolutions are proposed in protest against the operation of moving picture theaters on Sunday and also against the use of public school buildings on that day. The faculties of colleges and seminaries, it is proposed, should also be urged to omit recitations on the public mornings so as to leave the Sabbath free from the felt necessity of some of the students to prepare their lessons on that day. Another resolution condemns the Sunday newspaper and points out that Canada, even in war time, has found that the Sunday paper is not a necessity. In comment on the working of the Dominion Lord's Day Act, the report adds that ninety per cent or more of the Sunday newspapers published in the United States for distribution in Canada on Sunday had been pushed back over the line about a year ago, however, that the Sunday newspaper has made serious inroads lately among the people of Scotland, which is the stronghold of Presbyterians.

Win Many Victories

The committee reports a number of victories in the movement for observance of the Sabbath, among them the Sunday closing of the saloons in Chicago for the first time in more than forty years. The committee is also gratified at the stand many employers have taken in regard to Sunday work, and it notes that even in England the authorities have found it advisable to ban Sunday work, even in the munition factories.

One of the most important of the reports is that by the committee on Church Co-operation and Union which also confers with the Church of the Disciples of Christ with a view to closer relations. In the matter of evangelization, the question is also raised whether the hour has not arrived for "the inauguration and promotion of a country-wide movement of evangelistic endeavor of such a character as will meet with the approval and appreciation of the united ministry of our land."

The assembly's approval is also to be asked of the steps thus far taken in the movement for the World's Conference on Faith and Order proposed by the Protestant Episcopal Church.

HYPHENATED ARE AGAIN HIT BY T. R.

popular strength in Nebraska and Pennsylvania. The effect of this showing has been immediately visible upon many of the politicians within and without.

Refused to Prepare

"We, through our representatives at Washington," said Col. Roosevelt, "have absolutely refused in the smallest degree to prepare during these months of world cataclysm. We have refused to learn the smallest part of the lesson being written on the scroll of torment in Europe. We have refused to take the smallest step, either to do our duty to ourselves or to do our duty to others. We have endeavored to deceive ourselves by announcing that in this policy of supine inaction and of failure to perform our duty, we are actuated by the loftiest motives. I doubt whether we have really deceived ourselves, and most certainly we have not deceived others. There is not a nation in the world which believes that our course of conduct has been dictated by anything save timidity, unworthy shrinking from effort and shilly, and cold and selfish love of money making and of soft ease.

Must Prepare Thoroughly

"In any serious crisis there are always men who try to carry water on both shoulders. These men try to escape the hard necessity of choice between two necessarily opposite alternatives, by trying to work up some compromise. In actual practice, this compromise usually proves to combine with exquisite nicety all the defects and none of the advantages of both courses. It is true that in ordinary times it is essential. But there come great crises when compromise is either impossible or fatal. This is one of those crises. There is no use in saying that we have fit ourselves to defend ourselves a little, but not much. Such a position is equivalent to announcing that, if necessary, we shall hit, but that we shall only hit soft. The only principle is to prepare thoroughly or not at all. The only right principle is to avoid hitting if it is possible to do so, but never under any circumstances to hit soft. To go to war a little, but not much, is the absolutely certain way to ensure disaster. To prepare a little but not much, stands on a par with a city developing a fire department which, after a fire occurs, can put it out a little, but not much."

Administration Wastes Time

Col. Roosevelt declared that the Wilson administration "has taken no step toward preparation, and has done nothing efficient to sustain our national rights." Because, he said, the administration had at intervals, "ventured forth to speak in contradiction of its own policy, and in the face of the fact that its followers have refused it any whole-hearted support. They object, Roosevelt added, "even to make-believe preparedness; they insist on even more thorough-going helplessness than that which we had so amply provided at Washington."

"We must make this nation as strong as are its convictions in reference to right and wrong," declared Col. Roosevelt. "It little matters what our ideals may be and what achievements we may hope for, if these ideals and achievements cannot be reduced to action. The events of the past, and the events of today, show that national ideals amount to nothing if the nation lacks the power to maintain them against opposition."

"Therefore, if we are to win at home against those of our fellow citizens who believe in the policy of unpreparedness, that is, of national weakness and inefficiency, we must have strong and well reasoned convictions and express them with strength and sincerity. A considerable part of the strength of Mr. Ford in the primaries, and the strength of the advocates of half-preparedness at Washington, comes from the fact that no real alternative of policy is offered with sincerity and fearlessness."

Urges Military Service

In urging "universal military service based on universal training, Col. Roosevelt said he believed in it because it would be not only of incalculable benefit to the nation in the event of war, but of incalculable benefit to the individuals undergoing it, and therefore to the nation, as regards the work of peace. He continued:

"I believe that the dog-tent would prove a most effective agent for democratizing and nationalizing our life; quite as much so as the public school, and far more than the American university and the American city as they are today. Preparedness through universal service would turn out to be the best possible school of practical civics. In such a school all men who are Americans in spirit would get together and learn to work together, so as to insure co-operation among our people in social and industrial life. Such co-operation would be the result of merely war, but also the sense of obligation—which is just as important as the other two.

Must Abolish Pork Barrel

"We must abolish pork barrel methods in the army—as regards army posts, navy yards, as regards everything else. Remember that after preparedness has been accepted by the country and the necessary funds voted, the real work will have only begun. England's navy represents over three centuries and Germany's army over two centuries of development along an unbroken line of tradition and progress to the present stage of efficiency. The first and all important essential is to divorce the army and navy organizations absolutely from politics."

Col. Roosevelt asserted that "the extreme naval party in Germany has recently advocated war with the United States on the ground that in the end, as the result of such a war, we would have to pay all the war expenditures of the Germanic powers and their allies."

Stand Together

"These enormous sums would be raised by taxation on all our citizens," he said, "those of German descent would pay as heavily as those of any other descent, and all would share equally the shame and dishonor. A foreign foe is the foe of all of us alike. If in this land the citizens of one national origin successfully set the fashion of influencing this nation to its own detriment in the interest of the country from which they originally came, sooner or later it is absolutely certain that the citizens of some other national origin will repeat the experiment; and this country will be left degraded and helpless among the nations. If such an event befall us, the bitter bread of humiliation will be eaten by all of those who dwell in this land, no matter what their creed, no matter what their national origin. It will be eaten by your children and grandchildren and great-grandchildren just as much as by mine.

"Americanism is a matter of the spirit, not of birthplace or descent. Among the best Americans I have ever known, among the men closest to me in social and political life, are, and have been, men born in, or men whose fathers were born in, Germany, Ireland, the Scandinavian kingdoms, and other European countries. They stand on an exact level with the other Americans, whose ancestors were here in Colonial times. We are all part of the same people.

"We all stand together for our common flag and our common country. We must so prepare that this country will be a good place in which the children of all of us shall live; and to do this we must so prepare that we can repel all foreign foes and preserve the inestimable right of setting for ourselves the fate of this mighty democratic republic. But the essence of this policy of full preparedness, which remember is not only military but that least as much industrial and social, is that it is purely defensive, and is the best possible assurance of peace. No nation will ever attack a unified and prepared America."

RIVER CARNIVAL AT COLUMBIA

Special to the Telegraph
Columbia, Pa., May 19.—A big river carnival has been planned for the Fourth of July, and a meeting held last night at the Colonial Club Charles

B. Westerman was elected president of the organization, under whose auspices it will be held.

James A. Emenhiser was named as secretary and D. C. Bettey, treasurer. There will be a fine display of fireworks in the evening.

ADDRESS BY DR. TEITRICK
Special to the Telegraph
Columbia, Pa., May 19.—Dr. Reid B. Teitrick, Deputy State Superintendent of Public Instruction, has been selected to deliver the annual address to the graduates of the high school at the commencement exercises on Tuesday evening, June 6.

Tender Teeth—the first sign of Pyorrhea

When you brush your teeth, does it feel as though you were brushing against the quick? Do the gums sometimes bleed? This is because pyorrhea has caused the gums to pull away from your teeth, leaving the unenamelled surfaces unprotected.

Your dentist will tell you, if you ask him, that you have gum recession; and that gum recession is caused by pyorrhea.

Unchecked, pyorrhea will warp and shrink and deform the gums. It will break down the bony structure into which the teeth are set—and you will eventually lose them. To save your teeth you will have to begin to fight this dread disease at once.

A specific for pyorrhea has been discovered recently by dental science, and is now offered for daily treatment in Senreco Tooth Paste. Senreco combats the germ of the disease. Its regular use insures your teeth against the attack or further progress of pyorrhea.

But Senreco does more. It cleanses the teeth delightfully. It gives them a whiteness distinctive of Senreco alone. Its flavor is entirely pleasing, and it leaves in the mouth a wonderful sense of coolness and wholesomeness.

Start the Senreco treatment before pyorrhea grips you for good. Details in folder with every tube. A two-ounce tube for 25c is sufficient for 6 weeks' daily treatment. Get Senreco of your druggist today; or send 4c in stamps or coin for sample tube and folder. Address The Santanel Remedies Company 503 Union Central Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Resinol Soap improves poor complexion

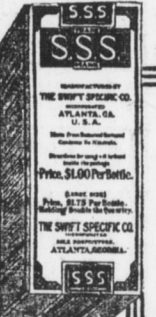

If you want a clear, fresh, glowing complexion, use Resinol Soap at least once a day. Work a warm, creamy lather of it well into the pores, then rinse the face with plenty of cold water.

It does not take many days of such regular care with Resinol Soap to show an improvement, because the Resinol medication soothes and refreshes the skin, while the pure soap, free of alkali, is cleansing it.

If the skin is already in bad condition, a short treatment with Resinol Ointment may first be necessary to restore its normal health. Resinol Soap and Ointment are sold by all druggists. For samples free, write to Dept. 258, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

Men like the way Resinol Shaving Stick soothes the face and prevents redness after shaving. It makes daily shaving a real satisfaction.

Dynamite and Impure Blood

A Building Full of Dynamite is Dangerous.
A Body Full of Impure Blood is Extremely Dangerous.

You feel a keen sense of anxiety when aware of the nearness of a quantity of dynamite—yet exhibit little concern when the body becomes contaminated with impure blood, subjecting you to some severe malady.

From the first danger, perhaps, you can move—from the second danger you will only find safety in treating the blood with S. S. S. S. S. S. not only assists Nature in eliminating the poisons responsible for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Malaria or Scrofula, but has elements in its vegetable ingredients that materially increase the health-sustaining qualities of the blood corpuscles.

Don't delay treatment with S.S.S. It can be had at any druggist.
