PLAN TO BATTLE FOR MORE SHIPS

Republicans Prepare Measure to Make Navy Second in Three Years

Washington, D. C., May 20.—Republican members of the House naval affairs committee held a meeting yesterday to lay plans for a fight to increase the naval building program agreed to by the Democrats.

The Republican members of the committee at their meeting decided to make a fight in the House for a program which they submitted to the committee yesterday and which the committee rejected by a straight party vote of 13 to 8.

The program is one approved by the general board of the navy to bring the American sea forces back to second place in a period of three years. It calls for the construction of 25 destroyers, six battle cruisers, six scout cruisers, twenty-eight destroyers, thirty-five submarines, five of a sea-going type, two gunboats and one each of hospital, fuel, oil and ammunition ships, as well as an increase of 25,000 in the personnel. In order to give each fighting vessel a full complement and make it unnecessary to put efficient ships in the reserve in order to fill up the crews of other fighters by transferring their men.

Plan to Light Nearly 1,000 Harrisburg Houses

Close to a thousand houses in Harrisburg have been wired for electricity during the last few weeks as the result of a campaign along that line that had been conducted by the electric light company. The efforts of the crew which handled the work has broken all previous records in the county, according to the company's officials.

To date just 825 homes, old residences as well as the newer ones, have been equipped with the modern lighting system, and by this evening the thousand mark is expected to be reached.

SEVEN BIG TABLES FOR THE RETURNS

State Department Gets Ready For the Compilation of Official Votes

Seven big sheets, some containing over thirty names, have been prepared at the department of the Secretary of the Commonwealth for the listing of the returns by counties of the vote at the primary election on Tuesday.

These tables are the largest ever made at the Capitol for entering returns and are due to the big lists of candidates for delegates and alternates at large, the numerous candidates for Congress at large and the several nominations which the people at large must make under the new law.

It is not expected that the official count can be completed within three weeks, judging from experience in former years. Some of the smaller counties and some which have less than 100,000 population have been requiring as long as Philadelphia and Allegheny to complete returns. Letters have been sent out to county commissioners urging immediate counting of votes for delegates and alternates and State committeemen so that the results may be certified in time.

Schuylkill county was first to report last year, taking the laurels which were formerly held by Northumberland.

REAL ESTATE ONLY 2 BRIEFS MUST BE FILED

Attorneys Representing Hard-scrabble Property Owners Preparing Papers

With the exception of R. Frank Nead and George R. Barnett, all the attorneys concerned in the "Hard-scrabble" condemnation appeal case have filed their briefs with the Dauphin county court and as soon as these two lawyers finish the preparation of their papers the great bundle of data will be turned over to the judges for consideration.

Members of the bar as well as real estate men look for an early decision on the subject although it is generally appreciated that the court's "work is never done" and that both judges are constantly busy in chambers when not sitting on the bench.

The fact that many of the interested property owners are desirous of ascertaining definitely just what they stand to lose relative to their properties has presented an interesting phase of the problem. As soon as the legal ends of the tangle are straightened out it is expected that the city will proceed with the filing of condemnation bonds and it is known that City Commissioner W. H. Lynch, superintendent of streets and public improvements, is ready to proceed with the razing of buildings as soon as the city takes over the properties. This means that the residents of the "Hard-scrabble" district must have ample time to look about for new homes. The unsettled situation consequently is causing some annoyance, it is said, among those who have been negotiating for other properties.

Within another month or six weeks the court will rest for its vacation and it is the hope of the attorneys and others interested in the city's next big improvement proposition, to have the whole problem practically settled by that time if possible—at least so far as the legal end of the controversy is concerned.

BUSY ON PLOTS IN THE SUBURBS

New Water Pipe Is Being Laid in Bellevue; Other Projects Near Town

Work was begun yesterday by the city water department on the construction of the new water pipe lines in the Bellevue Park section.

Council at its meeting last week approved the contract as recommended for the pipe line construction by City Commissioner H. F. Bowman, superintendent of public safety, and the successful bidder was ready to get busy at once. The completion of the new water lines in half a dozen of the rapidly developing streets is only one of the big improvements which are on the 1916 program of development in the smaller suburbs of the city.

Paving and other improvement work is being pushed ahead as rapidly as the labor situation will allow as the question of obtaining sufficient help is still a mighty serious one. Incidentally the same situation applies to carpentering and other jobs in which building contractors are interested.

In the outskirts of the city the new development projects are being sold or built up. Two or three new tracts which are to be developed in accordance with the general city plan as mapped out by the Planning Commission, are awaiting final approval of that commission. These include the W. S. Harris and the Lower Walton farm sections of the McCormick estate in Cumberland county. The Planning Commission was to have met a few days ago to take up these problems but no quorum was present.
