B. F. BARKER TELLS GOOD POINTS OF HAYNES CARS

"The mileage of the old cars that have answered the inquiry of the Haynes Automobile Company for the oldest Haynes car running in America has served to indicate that a well-constructed automobile will run indefinitely with only a reasonable amount of care," says B. F. Barker, of the Miller Auto Company, distributor for the Haynes "Light Six."

"One four-cylinder Haynes car, that left the factory in 1909, has run up a mileage of 300,000, in all sorts of weather, and in pleasure and passenger service. A comparatively large number of the two and four-cylinder cars have averaged in the neighborhood of 100,000 miles, and in many cases a share of this mileage represents slow going delivery work and trucking."

"In the instance of the older two-cylinder automobiles some of which have been running fourteen years or more, it is very hard to obtain definite figures. The cars were manufactured before reliable speedometers were known or even made. In some instances, the speedometers have been removed, particularly after the car had ceased to operate for pleasure purposes."

"These old Haynes cars have been in practically every town and village that American roads reach, crossing deserts, fording rivers, threading mountain trails, pulling through the mud of the plains, as well as seeing lighter service on streets and boulevards. Only the care with which they were built can account for their remarkable durability."

"Revolutionary factory methods, however, have enabled manufacturers of better grade automobiles to offer carefully constructed cars at prices that are one-half or one-third the figures of ten years back."

"Dollar for dollar the automobile buyer gets twice the mileage and many times the comfort of his neighbor whose purchase is ten or even five years old."—Advertisement.

TILE PROVES POPULAR FOR USE IN RESIDENCES

Many persons building homes to-day do not feel that the house is complete without the use of tile in some place or another. It was only a few years ago, however, that the only tile work found was around the fireplaces.

From here it worked its way to the bathroom floor, and then to the walls; after a short time people began to use the tile floors in the vestibules. During the past few years a great many homes have been equipped with tile floors and tile base in the kitchens, and real estate dealers, building to sell, have found this investment one that brings better prices for the houses and quicker sales.

It is only within the last three years that the use of tile has become so extensive in the better class of homes. A contract was started this week by W. S. Cunkle & Son, the mantle and tile concern, located at 179 North Fifteenth street, which calls for the floors throughout the first floor of the house with the exception of the kitchen and pantry; the porches are tiled and also the bathrooms.

The Cunkle concern has been rushed with orders during the past month for tile work in some of the finer residences that are now being erected. Some houses require tile on porches and bathroom; others are being equipped with tile floors in the bathroom, lavatory, porch and vestibule; and several stores are having the entrance laid with mosaic tile with the owner's name inserted. Taken all together, it shows that tile is coming more into general use every day, and if you are contemplating building or making alterations it might be well to call on W. S. Cunkle & Son for suggestions in this line.—Advertisement.

A STORE THAT REPRESENTS ITS WARES TO BE JUST WHAT THEY ARE

A little stain and varnish on some kinds of furniture covers a multitude of shortcomings in the builder. Two pieces that quite closely resemble each other in general appearance may be widely distinct in real worth, cost and value. Both kinds are always sold at the furniture store of Mr. A. Gerber, located at 424 Rely street, but no buyer need fear being imposed upon by having the poorer article offered him when he thinks he is buying the best.

Mr. Gerber says that this is the strongest element in the success of his business integrity—honor between seller and buyer. He says that he likes to carry all grades of furniture in store for the reason that he does business with all classes of people and where one person may be interested in old, rare and valuable pieces of mahogany, another customer may probably want a piece of finely polished birch, mahogany finished, as very few people can tell the difference.

In such other lines as curtains, rugs, pictures, etc., Mr. Gerber keeps a good deal larger stock than the wants of the community, but he finds that it pays, for some people in furnishing a home prefer to select from several different models as well as prices of furniture, and he is always stocked up so as to take care of all of them. If you are thinking of purchasing anything in the furniture line it would pay you to look over the large stock at the Gerber store and get his prices before purchasing elsewhere.—Advertisement.

FRENCH CLEANING MATERIAL AGAIN BEING SHIPPED

The West End Clothing House conducted by Messrs. Flowers and Freidman at 1527 North Third street states that when the war broke out in Europe the demand for this material in their business was at a standstill on account of not being able to obtain material, the process being slow and the price high.

The new desire to inform the public that they have been successful in procuring a shipment of this material is now able to turn out the same high class work as he made his branch of their business grow so rapidly. Although the price of this material is considerable higher they have not raised the prices of their work.

Mr. Freidman, the manager, says that although they have been very busy in the dyeing and cleaning department that they are handling a large amount of business in the tailoring department. In this department they do both ladies' and men's tailor work as well as made to order clothing. They expect to add to their line of ready-made clothing and ready-to-wear men's clothes, haberdashery, etc. and on account of the low overhead expense of this establishment, will be able to sell at a large saving to the purchaser.

The firm of Cohen & Son, located at 431 Market street, have opened a new department, especially for sporting goods under the management of Alexander Kassner, with the most complete stock of supplies for the sportsman in this vicinity. The firm of Cohen & Son has been in business in Harrisburg over twenty-five years and is well known all over Central Pennsylvania.

The new department will be run under the most solid business principles and the magnitude and variety of the sportsman's supplies to be found in Harrisburg is not to be found in any other store of its kind in this vicinity or outside of the larger cities.

The stock already consists of the best and best lines of guns, revolvers, ammunition, bicycles, fishing tackle of every kind and description, as well as a most complete stock of baseball and tennis supplies. Anything that could be found in the sporting goods departments in larger cities can now be bought at this store and at popular prices. Sportsmen are invited to call and inspect this new department and get acquainted with the new management.—Advertisement.

TAILORING BUSINESS BUILT UPON A SOUND POLICY

Fred S. Lack, the merchant tailor located at 26, 28 and 30 North Dewberry street, this city, enjoys the confidence and patronage of a very large number of the businessmen of the city of Harrisburg and vicinity. This confidence is founded upon a business policy that never fails if it is at the same time combined with a thorough knowledge of the particular requirements of the trade.

When Mr. Lack first started in business, he determined that in his stock would always be found the best and latest patterns he could possibly secure, and with tailoring, reasonable prices and perfect fit and satisfaction guaranteed he felt sure that he would be able to build up a good business. As a result of this policy Mr. Lack has made many customers who never think of looking elsewhere for anything in his line.

Knowing they will always get full value for their money and will be told only the truth regarding anything purchased at this store.

Through a constant reaching out for more extended purchasing fields and a wider range of home trade, Mr. Lack's business has made great strides. To this end he has secured entire control of certain special patterns, as well as purchasing special patterns direct from the mills, an advantage that accrues to the benefit of the customer, as well as to himself. Not only this, but he imports direct from Europe in large quantities instead of taking their foreign-made goods from wholesalers in this country. These facts have given Mr. Lack a standing and reputation of which he is justly proud.

Mr. Lack is a tailor of experience and his motto is perfect satisfaction or no pay, which is an absolute assurance to the customer. If you are contemplating purchasing a new suit or top coat it will surely pay you to stop in and have a chat with Mr. Lack and have him show you his latest patterns before placing your order.—Advertisement.

STILL A GOOD JOB

Chauffeur One of Best All-Around Positions for Ordinary Man

Here is proof that there is a greater demand for chauffeurs now than ever before—it is proof that $30 a week is the average salary. The following appeared in the September issue of Motor Print, a magazine devoted to automobiles. We don't ask you to take our word when we say there are now not half enough trained chauffeurs to go around. Read below what Motor Print says—then send us your application and let us help you to get one of these good jobs.

Mr. Pelton, 27-29-31 North Cameron street, this city, trains and places a great many chauffeurs. The demand for competent chauffeurs continues unabated, and the average price for the labor of these men is about the same as it has been for the last three or four years. A good driver gets on the average $120 a month for his work. There are men who get as low as $15 or $18 a week and others who are paid anywhere from $40 to $50 a week, but the average in the cities is nearer $30 a week.

Men who claim to know say that no owner can expect to pay less than $125 per month for a really good man. A capable and industrious chauffeur can save a great deal of money for his employer. A man who is salaried high enough to take a keen interest in his work will look out for things and will keep a car in such condition that expenses of running it are bound to be less.

It is not exactly reasonable from the standpoint of the chauffeur for an owner to expect to get an experienced driver and mechanic, the latter part being the more important, for anything less than $30 a week.

In New York some taxicab companies pay men a fixed salary by the week and they eke this out with their tips. One company, for instance, gives its men $17.50 a week and the lucky ones with tips of $1.25 to $1.50 a day get more than $25 per week most of the time. There is a consistent and steady demand for honest and able men in this taxicab line.

The companies find a great deal of difficulty in getting enough honest men for the work.—Advertisement.
