LITTLE RED SPOTS ALL OVER FACE

And Chest. Got Very Big. Would Itch Something Terrible. So Bad at Times Couldn't Sleep.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I first noticed little red spots appear on my chin and forehead, and they got very big and redder, and a few days later they spread all over my face and chest. The ones on my face were festered and came to a head, but the ones on my chest would get hard and would be full of water. The pimples on my chest were the worst and they would itch something terrible. They were so bad at times that I couldn't sleep.

"After using about three cakes of Cuticura Soap and two and one-half boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Charles Christopher, 441 E. Washington St., Rochester, Pa., July 6, 1915.

Sample Each Free by Mail With 32-p. Skin Book on request. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston." Sold throughout the world.

Save Your ROSES!

Myriads of Aphids (plant lice, green, red and black) are destroying the Roses and other flowers. They obtain their food by sucking plant juices with their sharp, slender beaks. They cannot eat plant tissue and therefore cannot eat poisons. They must be killed by a "contact" insecticide, one that kills when it touches their bodies.

BIG SAVING IN PRINTING BILLS

Administration Plans to Cut Down the Number of State Publications Soon

Steps are being taken by State authorities to materially reduce the number of publications now being issued by the Commonwealth and the advertisement for the next contract will call for printing and binding of approximately 286,000 books of various sizes instead of 421,255, a saving of 134,655, which it is estimated cost about $50,000 a year.

The reduction of publications thus far has been effected through operation of the act of 1915, which provided that at least 80 per cent of the different allotments should be shipped singly, and the Division of Distribution of Documents, which handled the books, estimates in a report to the Governor that there are now three times the number of documents in the hands of individuals than under the old plan.

It is the intention of the division to prepare a schedule showing the number of each publication distributed to December 1, 1916, together with the number authorized and to provide for further reduction of publications for which there is no call. Authority will also be asked to sell publications, thereby limiting the free distribution to departmental and legislative officials and in the opinion of the distribution officers bringing in revenue to the State and meeting requests from parties offering to purchase. It is stated in the report to the Governor, "if free distribution were limited only to a reasonable amount by the members of the Legislature and the departments the selling of the remainder would distinguish between the parties who really desire the publications and those who request them merely because they are delivered without cost."

Dr. James M. Esler, the chief of the bureau, estimates that the distribution to single individuals has saved many publications from going to attics or cellars where they rested until junk dealers removed them.

Hearing Today.—The hearing on the application to make the appeal to the Superior Court a supersedeas in the Lawrence county electric company charters is being heard to-day at Huntingdon by Judge O'Leary, of the Superior Court. If the supersedeas is allowed there will be no hearing on the charter prospects on Wednesday.

Governor to Speak.—Governor Brumbaugh will leave to-morrow morning for Mercersburg where he will deliver the Memorial Day address at the Mercersburg Academy.

To Meet Wednesday.—The Public Service Commission will meet Wednesday in Pittsburgh to get on Western Pennsylvania cases and to give hearings. There will be a hearing here the following Monday.

For Further Hearing.—The Public Service Commission has arranged to give a further hearing to the application of Milton Hess for a certificate to operate a ferry near McCall's Ferry dam. Protest has been filed.

Buller in Chicago.—Commissioner of Fisheries N. R. Buller is in Chicago on business relative to the food supply for the various fish hatcheries for the year.

Aeroplanes to be Used.—Aeroplanes will be used in the First Brigade maneuvers near Philadelphia. They will be loaned by the War Department. The next Legislature will be asked to make some provision for aerial service.

Lecture at Beaufort.—Arrangements have been made for a lecture by W. Theo. Wittman, State expert on poultry at Beaufort farms to-morrow.

Monument Dedicated.—Many prominent people attended the dedication of the monument erected by the State at the site of Washington's Crossing on Saturday. Ex-Representative Gabriel H. Moyer, of Lebanon county, was orator of the day, and righteously determined that notwithstanding the fact that he was not a native of this country, he would serve his country.

2,500 Pilgrims Voice Demand For Roosevelt

Oyster Bay, N. Y., May 29.—The call to service was heard by Colonel Roosevelt yesterday under dramatic circumstances.

Twenty-five hundred dusty, leg-weary pilgrims, more than 2,000 of whom came from New York and not a few from far more distant places, marched the three miles from the railroad station to Sagamore Hill to voice their demand for his leadership. They received with a great, spontaneous outburst of enthusiasm and cries of "Our next President!" the promise that he would serve his country.

In his address, made from the porch of Sagamore Hill, while the marchers, massed on the lawn, gave cheer after cheer, he told of the faith that was in him and his beliefs as to the country's needs.

Text of Colonel's Address "To you, both native of this country and those born abroad, and above all, to you old native Americans of old stock," Colonel Roosevelt said, in part, "you cannot expect to get loyalty from the immigrant or the immigrant's children unless you make this country one to which a proud man can be loyal. And to do that you have got to demand that the country stand for courage and for strength.

Ideals of Courage "No man ever yet was loyal to a coward. No man ever yet was loyal to a weakling whose weakness was due to the fact that he won't not take the pains and undergo the effort necessary to be strong. If we as a nation do not put our ideals, including the ideals of courage and strength, and if we do not put to use our immense national resources—in other words, if we allow timidity and wilful weakness to become attributes, unless we make up our minds, we shall not command the loyalty of those who come to our shores.

"When we were menaced with trouble I acted up to my theory that the proper way of handling international relations was by speaking softly and carrying a big stick. And in that particular case Dewey and the American fleet represented the big stick.

"The way to get peace is not being so unprepared as to invite war, still less by using words which are not translated into deeds, but by behaving with scrupulous justice and courtesy toward the other nations, and at the same time being so prepared both in soul and in body, both spiritually and materially, to make it evident that insult to this nation by any other nation will not be tolerated by our people."

TWO WOMEN'S MEETINGS

Chicago, May 29.—There will be two conferences of women here during the Republican National Convention, the second gathering being announced to-day in a letter from Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Women Suffrage Association, calling for a meeting of the organization on June 6-7 in a local theater. The Woman's Party Convention will be held June 5, 6 and 7.

When I Took Over the Ledger

a little more than three years ago I found it antiquated in equipment—18-year-old presses—good, but out of date: typesetting machinery and everything else, old, worn and cheap—to get out a cheap newspaper.

The best men in journalistic lines declined to work for it, because they couldn't afford to work for what it could afford to pay.

I have been spending money for three years to make the Public Ledger superior to any newspaper ever published in Philadelphia, or anywhere else. I have spent money not only for new, efficient and up-to-date machinery, but also for brains—for the best men who know how to make the best newspaper.

With what result?

The Ledger, when I took it over, had an actual net sale of about 45,000 copies daily, at one cent a copy. I raised the price to two cents for a better paper, and we have gradually grown up to 60,000 copies daily, at two cents a copy.

Newspaper men said to me: "Curtis, you can't do it. With all other Philadelphia morning papers at one cent a copy, you never can 'put over' a two-cent proposition, no matter how good you make your paper. Pennsylvania people are satisfied with what they have.

But I have put it over!

The Public Ledger has a much larger circulation at two cents a copy than the old Ledger had at one cent, and with the Evening Edition I am putting out 180,000 copies a day—and trying to find room in the old Ledger building to put in more presses to take care of a growing circulation!

To every business man of Pennsylvania the Public Ledger has a special appeal in its Financial and Business Section. Our own industries particularly are reported in detail.

Try the Public Ledger for six months. Read it long enough to get that "fixed habit" for the Ledger. Don't stay satisfied until you know there is "something better". Try the Ledger to find out—then accept it or discard it. Only a trial can settle the matter for you—that's all I ask.
