

Why that knock

Bent cam-shaft? Maybe. Timing-gears a little loose? Perhaps. Ten-to-one, the power plant is chuck-full of carbon. And it was only last month you had the valves reground—Good Night! There you are—the symptoms are unmistakable: improper lubrication.

Atlantic Motor Oils will offset that condition. They will diminish carbon to an absolute minimum—and the knock will take to the tall timber in the bargain.

Atlantic Motor Oils are not prescribed as a panacea for car-troubles, but they are recommended by the oldest and largest manufacturers of lubricating oils in the world as the correct lubricants for all makes of motors.

Polarine, the famous year-round lubricant, is exactly right for eight out of ten cars. Under certain conditions, your particular motor may require one of the other principal motor oils—Atlantic "Light," Atlantic "Medium" or Atlantic "Heavy." Your garageman will advise you which.

Actual tests demonstrate that proper lubrication often increases gasoline-mileage by as much as five miles to the gallon. That's worth considering.

Read up on this subject. We have published a handsome and comprehensive book about lubrication. It is free. Ask your garage for it. If they cannot supply you, drop us a postal and the book will be sent you without charge.

Attorney General's Department Takes Over Prosecutions of Actions

Prosecutions of all cases involving charges of causing forest fires will be handled hereafter by the attorney general's department, which is now in charge of actions for violators of the game, fish and similar laws, arrangements having been made this week for the chief forest fire warden to bring to the attention of the legal department cases wherein it is suspected that forest fires were started through carelessness or by disobedience of the law.

NEGRO RANK IGNORED

Montgomery, Ala., May 30.—The wife of Major Robert B. Moton, the negro educator who succeeded Booker T. Washington as head of Tuskegee Institute, and Blanton Moton, the major's brother, were ejected from a Pullman car at Troy to-day on complaint from other passengers who required to ride in the coach provided for negroes, under the Alabama law. They attempted to travel in the sleeping car, Major Moton said here, against his advice.

A WELL KNOWN WOMAN SPEAKS.

In Every Town in Pennsylvania Neighbors Say the Same.

"I will drop you a few lines to let you know that your 'Favorite Prescription' has done me a wonderful lot of good. Seven years ago when our first child was born I was left miserable. I doctored with two physicians without any relief. I then went to see one of the head doctors in Williamsport; he said I must have an operation at once and that I should quit work, but that was something I could not do. I then began taking your 'Favorite Prescription,' and it helped me so much. I always suffered so until our last child was born when I got along nicely. I shall never go through it again without your medicine."—Miss F. W. MEYERS.

COLISEUM LEADS WITH CONVENTIONS

Place of G. O. P. Meeting Has History Rich in Political Interest

Chicago, May 30. — The Chicago Coliseum, where the Republican National Convention of 1916 will be held beginning June 7, has a history rich in political interest. More national political conventions have been held in it than in any other building in the United States.

Three Republican national conventions have been held within its walls and it was there also that the Progressive party, in 1912, held its first national convention and nominated Col. Theodore Roosevelt for president. The Republicans nominated their presidential ticket in the Chicago Coliseum in 1904, 1908 and 1912.

The building was designed as a model convention hall but later adapted to broader uses. It was built by Charles F. Gunther and several business associates on the site of the old Libby Prison War Museum, at Wabash avenue and Fifteenth street, less than a mile from the hotel and retail shopping district.

The castellated walls of the old war prison were used for the Wabash avenue side of the structure. It was built of stone, brick, steel and glass and was finished in 1900. The building is 403 feet long, 170 feet wide, and 110 feet high and cost nearly $1,000,000. It has a wide balcony extending around three of the walls and is well lighted and ventilated.

Build Additional Balconies

For this year's convention two additional balconies with seats for 732 persons have been built between the main floor and the regular balcony. This gives a total seating capacity of 12,400 of which 9,400 seats are on the main floor and 3,000 in the balconies. The crowds will enter through four main doors on the Wabash avenue side. There are 22 exits. There will be 100 doorkeepers and 100 ushers in addition to a large special detail of police to handle the great crowds.

The seating arrangement will follow the general plan of former conventions although several changes have been made which it is believed will add to the comfort and convenience of the delegates and visitors.

Thousands of Seats

In front of the speaker's stand are the seats for the 921 delegates and back of these is the space set aside for the seating of the alternates. The section reserved for delegates and alternates is enclosed with a heavy rail. The rest of the main floor and all the balconies will be used for seats to accommodate the crowds of visitors.

Adjoining the coliseum on the south is an annex three stories high, 170 feet deep and with a frontage of about 100 feet on the Wabash side. It is connected with the main building by several broad entrances.

In the basement of the annex, at the south end of the main building and near the speaker's stand, is a telegraph and telephone room where scores of special wires have been installed for the use of the news-gathering associations and newspapers in sending stories of the convention to every section of the country. In the basement of the main building is a completely equipped temporary hospital in charge of 25 of Chicago's leading physicians and surgeons who have volunteered their services for the occasion.

The upper floors of the annex have been fitted up with the private rooms of the officers of the convention. Here are the private offices of the chairman, secretary, treasurer and a score of minor officials. The convention postoffice for the prompt distribution of mail to the officials and delegates is in this section. There is a large meeting room for the Republican National Committee and numerous rooms for use of the committees of the convention.

In the decoration of the convention hall the managers departed from the long established practice of practically relying exclusively on flags and bunting to obtain the desired artistic effect. This year the scheme of interior ornamentation is more elaborate and artistic than ever before, according to reports from the decorators.

signed by R. C. Hall, superintendent of the Coliseum and Julius Floto, an architect. White and gold dominate the color scheme while American flags, shields and bunting are used to complete the working out of the decorative plan.
