PLAYS AND PLAYERS
Donald Brian has signed a contract to act for motion pictures with the Famous Players Film Company.

The first of the "summer shows" to be announced for New York was Law Fields and his "Step This Way," at the Shubert Theater. It is one of the typical summer plays, without any reason save that it is for amusement purposes only. E. H. Sothorn brought his season to a close last week with a final performance of "If I Were King." He declares this to be his farewell to the stage, although he may yet be seen in group of motion pictures.

E. H. Sothorn will begin his photographic career at the Brooklyn studios of the Vitagraph Company of American on the 1st of June.

For the first time on record the athletic association of a large modern university has sought the assistance of the motion picture to fill its depleted coffers. At Cornell, in Ithaca, N. Y., plans are now being made for a monster benefit performance on May 25.

In connection with this benefit it is interesting to announce that the Cornell authorities have offered to share the proceeds with the Actors' Fund of America.

In spite of the fact that Memorial Day offered anything but good park weather, it is claimed that 8,000 people visited Poxtang Park yesterday. Probably Poxtang's greatest attraction is the big open-air vaudeville theater. The big auditorium always cool and the air is of the purest country variety that Nature affords.

The bill this week is made up of an European musical and acrobatic stunt presented by the Colonial Montrose Troupe, who are the feature attraction. Anderson and Evans present a most pleasing comedy sketch that kept the audience laughing every minute they were on the stage.

Other acts on the park bill are Bob Warren, monologist; Bill West, singing comedian, and Bettrah and Bettrah.

Robert B. Mantell will make his first appearance at the Colonial to-day and to-morrow in a new Fox feature, "A Wife's Sacrifice."

The story begins by introducing Peppo (Stuart Holmes) and his sister, Gorgone. The death certificates of Hannibal and Claudia Palmieri have fallen into their hands. Seeing their opportunity to secure ill-gotten wealth, they claim a fortune of 20,000,000 francs.

They place a law firm in charge of their fraudulent case. Their last centime has been expended, and their wits are taxed to maintain an existence until their claim can be adjusted.

Mantell's role, the Count de Briquet, is that of a wealthy diplomat.

MORAL TREASON TO U. S. CHARGED

Urging the motto "America for Americans" for all Americans whether they were born here or abroad, the former President declared that "the salvation of our people lies in having a nationalized and unified America, ready for the tremendous tasks of both war and peace."

"I appeal to all our citizens," the colonel said, "no matter from what land their forefathers came, to keep this ever in mind, and to be scrupulously and contempt the sinister intrigues and mischiefmakers who would seek to divide them along lines of race, of birthplace or of national origin."

Condemns Hypheans
Col. Roosevelt said he came to St. Louis to speak on Americanism—to speak of and condemn the use of the byplay "whenever it represents an effort to form political parties along racial lines or to bring pressure to bear on parties and politicians, not for American purposes, but in the interest of some group of people of a certain national origin, or of the country from which they or their fathers came."

He was equally against the native American, the wrong kind and for the immigrant of the right kind, the former President declared, but the immigrant who did not become in good faith an American "is out of place in the United States. Each such nation should be judged by its conduct and that the United States should oppose encroachment on its own rights whether Germany, England, France or Russia be guilty of misconduct."

"This is not a mere abstract question which I am discussing. At this very moment it is blazoned forth in the public press that branches of the German-American Alliance, so-called, in different parts of the country, are attempting to coerce timid and unscrupulous politicians by threatening to vote against them, or by actually voting against them, when the German-American Alliance regards their action as unsatisfactory from the standpoint of the United States, but of Germany. These branches of the Alliance openly take the ground that they intend to shape American politics in the interest, not of the United States, but of Germany. The German-American Alliance of Pennsylvania, for instance, as reported in the public press, states that it intends to show the leaders of the national convention that it is ready to deal with a united German-American vote."

Moral Treason to U. S.
"Such a statement represents moral treason to the Republic. Branches of German-American Alliance in other parts of the country have used practically the same language. The Alliance has put forth no program affecting Germany and only Germany. I do not in the least object to because it denounces me. It has denounced Mr. Wilson almost as often and almost as severely. One of its favorite forms of denunciation included Mr. Wilson, Mr. Root and myself, as equally to be opposed in the interest of Germany."

"It is moral treason to the United States for any of its citizens to act and to seek to induce their congressional representatives to act, not with reference to the interests of the United States, but of some foreign power. The German-American Alliance is, in practice, an anti-American Alliance. Any such political organization, whether German-American, Irish-American or English American, is not a healthy element of the body politic."

Knife Hurled at Colonel Before Kansas City Speech

Special to the Telegraph
Kansas City, Mo., May 31.—Kansas City gave Theodore Roosevelt a rousing reception. Never in his career had he received a greater or warmer welcome anywhere than that accorded him to-day when he arrived here to fill his engagement to speak on universal training in the tool of Americanism. A conservative estimate puts 20,000 as the number of persons who were gathered at the Union Station to greet the former President when his train from Chicago arrived shortly before 9 o'clock.

It is about a mile and a half from the station to the Muehlebach Hotel, where Colonel Roosevelt was to speak. Mr. Roosevelt and along the entire route the people were packed half a dozen deep on both sides of the street.

Three Four-inch Knife
The police arrangements were very good and the crowds were prevented from getting too close to the distinguished visitor, but at one point a jackknife with a four-inch blade at him. The knife struck the automobile in which Mr. Roosevelt was riding and fell on the running board, a few centimeters to hitting John W. McGrath, Mr. Roosevelt's private secretary, than to Mr. Roosevelt himself.

Colonel Roosevelt was riding in his motor car when the incident occurred. E. C. Shell, a member of the American Legion, who was walking by the side of the car, a part of the crowd, suddenly hurled a thing strike the machine. He glanced downward and saw an open pocket knife at his feet. Shell picked it up and handed it to a policeman. The crowd was so dense that he made no effort to make an arrest.

Made Light of Incident
Colonel Roosevelt knew nothing about the occurrence until he reached his hotel. Then he treated it as a trivial matter, saying that from the nature of the attempted assault he thought it was a message to the American or a Latin-American. One of the evening newspapers came out with a seven-column headline, "Knife Hurlled at Roosevelt," and that made more excitement than the assault itself.

The man who threw the knife escaped in the crowd and was not arrested.

For Universal Training
Universal training based upon universal service was urged upon the youth of the Nation by Colonel Roosevelt in his Memorial Day address, delivered as a message to all Americans before Civil War veterans of the North and the Confederacy.

Appealing, he explained, to "the spirit of the thoroughgoing Americanism in all our people," the former President declared that those who assert that there is no danger of the United States ever being attacked are either ignorant or forgetful of the multitude of examples which show how international conflicts arise, and that "it is likely that if we are not strong enough to maintain our rights, including the right of the Monroe Doctrine," the United States will be subject to aggression which it would be obliged to resent or else abandon its national greatness.

"The people must choose as their executive and legislative leaders at Washington men absolutely national in spirit; men whose theory of government is as far as the poles from the pork barrel theory—and this whether the pork barrel be considered from a national, political or sectional standpoint; men who look forward and not back; men who face the facts as they actually are.

"After that we shall see a new Europe; a Europe essentially developing new social and economic means of meeting new problems.

"If, under these circumstances, we take refuge in a form of isolationism, the wreckage of principles in the past instead of developing these principles so as to meet the future, we shall be

SILVERTOWN Cord Tires have giant CORDS in them! They are made in "Straight-side" as well as in "Clincher" type. No Tires, of any construction, average LARGER than Silvertowns, taken Type and Size for Size.

The Silvertown Cord Tire of 36 x 4 1/2 inch Size, and "Straight-side" Type, has 1240 Cubic Inches of Air-space.

A thorough search of the Market failed to discover any 36 x 4 1/2 inch Tire, of any Thread-Fabric, (or alleged "Cord") Construction which had more than 1191 Cubic Inches of Air-space.

Silvertowns are made with Safety-Tread, as well as in the original Silvertown Rib-Tread.

This latter being closely copied by Makers of other Tires we now identify all genuine "Silvertowns" by the trade-mark shown herewith.

With Silvertown Cord Tires your Car will COAST 30% further than on Fabric Tires.

as foolish as if we were to arm our soldiers with flintlocks and send them against an army possessing machine guns, high power rifles and modern artillery.

Flintlock Theories Past
"The time for flintlock theories of statesmanship in this country is past," Colonel Roosevelt said, adding: "It is not appealing to the memory of copper-headed pacifists who put peace above duty."

Colonel Roosevelt urged the Nation to "hearken to the false prophets" professional pacifists who, he declared, do not serve high ideas. "In actual practice," he said, "the professional pacifist is the tool of the sensual materialist who has no ideals, whose shriveled soul is wholly absorbed in automobiles, and the movies, and money-making, and in the policies of the cash register and the stock ticker, and the life of fatted ease."

Two years ago these "false prophets" said there would never be another war, the colonel said, adding: "Let us not be misled again." Even should peace come in Europe to-morrow, he declared, it ought not to affect American policy of preparedness.

appeared here under the provisions of the John N. Stockdale lectureship on political science at Washington and Jefferson College and delivered two addresses.

His morning address was short and dealt with "preparedness." In the afternoon he elaborated on this subject and reviewed the relations of the United States with foreign powers. He maintained that the United States could not afford at this time to give up the Philippines; pointed out the need of amply fortifying Alaska; asserted that the proposed neutralization of the Panama Canal was shown by the violation of the Suez Canal neutrality, to be a farce; hinted that the United States might again be forced to go into West Indian affairs on a large scale, and indirectly advocated the retention of the principles of the Monroe doctrine.

He pointed out the nearness of the United States to Europe and the grave possibility of this country being involved in the present world conflict. A navy that should be at least the equal of Germany's coast defenses that would permit the navy in the face of attack to assume the offensive and an army reserve that would bring our effective fighting strength up to a half million men at once, were features of the preparedness campaign which he urged.

The former President was bitter in his denunciation of the present Administration's Philippine policy, declaring he could not properly declare himself "in the presence of ladies." He also assailed W. J. Bryan, declaring Bryan's statement that a half million men would respond to a call for volunteers between sunrise and sunset something that Bryan would

Little Boy Saved From a Terrible Death
It Was No Miracle, Quaker Herb Extract Did it

Little Ralph Gordon Bennett, aged 8 years, who lives at 45 Columbia road, Enola. This dear little fellow has just passed through a remarkable experience which practically snatched him from the very brink of the grave and brought him back to a life of health and happiness. His cure is so remarkable that it has created an immense sensation in Enola, where he lives and many people seem to think a miracle has been performed. Such is not the case, however, and all the credit for the cure must be given entirely to that most wonderful of all effective Quaker Herb Extract. This fact will be substantiated by Mr. and Mrs. James R. Bennett, parents of the child. This little child surely owes his life to Quaker Herb Extract. This result, together with the many others published, surely convince any person of sound mind that the Quaker remedies must possess marvelous curative powers. The cures of rheumatism, catarrh and stomach troubles reported are genuine; the testimonials are genuine, they are from Harrisburg people, and many of our neighbors and acquaintances. Can you ask or suggest or even imagine any stronger or more powerful proof to show the true merits of a remedy? Just read the case of to-day, consider it and you will surely admit that you are indeed fortunate to be able to supply yourself with that great gift to mankind, herbs, roots, gums, barks, berries, leaves and blossoms, Quaker Herb Extract. It is beneficial to all harmful to none, and that it is safe for children is surely proven in the following:

Statement of the boy's parents: When our little son, Ralph Gordon, was not yet two years old we discovered to our horror that he was afflicted with a tapeworm. We realized his danger and immediately arranged for treatment. It was unsuccessful and succeeded in getting only a part of the worm. That only seemed to increase our anxiety. Owing to the child's tender years it was not deemed advisable to administer such strong medicine again, soon so the little fellow continued in his misery. After a year or so we tried again and for the second time succeeded in getting a piece. Now what could or should we do? We were willing yet powerless to do anything more. The boy grew up pale, puny, restless and emaciated and caused us endless worry. We knew the consequences. We read in the paper where the Health Teacher was at Keller's Drug store and learned that he was anxious to prove that the Quaker Herb Extract would remove tapeworms completely. We called on him and obtained a treatment and took it according to directions; we did not have to starve the child and to our great surprise and intense joy in less than three hours after taking Quaker Herb Extract the worm came this time, complete with head. Our little boy was saved, he was cured. We cannot explain what a relief this was to us after over six years of continuous worry. We are only too happy to allow the publication of this wonderful cure; in fact we consider it a duty to do so, as thereby other sufferers may be relieved. Send for a treatment of Quaker Herb Extract, $1.00 per bottle, three for $2.50; Oil of Balm, 25 and 50 cents a bottle; Kidney Pills, 50 cents a box if you suffer from rheumatism, catarrh, indigestion or stomach troubles, at Keller's Drug Store, 405 Market street, where a fresh supply is always kept on hand.
