

BLACKHEADS AND PIMPLES ON FACE

Large, Hard and Red. In Blotches. Caused Itching and Burning. Lost Rest at Night.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My trouble, which was blackheads and pimples, was so severe in the face. The pimples were large, hard and red and were in blotches and caused much disfigurement. They also caused much itching and burning and my face became irritated by scratching and I lost my rest at night on account of the trouble. At last I got Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment both morning and evening, applying the Ointment first, then in about five minutes I washed my face with Cuticura Soap and in three weeks I was healed." (Signed) B. J. Strickler, 679 Princess St., York, Pa., Aug. 12, 1915.

108 BUNGALOWS TO BE ADDED TO CITY

But Don't Plan to Rent One For All Are Tenanted By Cirous Animals

WHOLLY MODERN IN EVERY RESPECT

One of the Ringling Bros. Giraffe Family.

Exactly 108 gaily painted bungalows, many fitted with plate glass windows, some boasting fireplaces, others having private baths and all wired with electric lights are soon to be added to the residence district of this city. These habitations are divided into two and three rooms each, every one has a special housekeeper and all are on wheels. They will not be "For Rent" for the landlords filled them almost immediately after this year's Spring housecleaning. The "bungalows" form the homes of the Ringling Brothers' circus menagerie, which is to exhibit here, Wednesday, June 14. The "baby section" is a big feature of the menagerie this season, including two giraffes, several lion cubs, three tiger whelps, a baby kangaroo, five elephants and an infant camel. The giraffes are the youngest of their kind in captivity and were brought to America this Spring from Abyssinia. The circus is featuring a wonderful fairyland spectacle this year entitled "Underella," which has been produced at a cost of $1,000,000 and requires a cast of 1250 people and 300 dancing

Whitford Kane culls this bright dramatic criticism from one of the very Southern newspapers. "An audience of 100 and 'Hamlet' was done at the theater last night."

Jesse L. Lasky, president of the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company, says the solution of the "clean play problem" rests entirely with the women of the United States whose duty it is to select the right kind of motion pictures for their children to see, just as carefully as they select the books their children read.

state, is to be set forth in "A Son of the Immortals," the attraction at this theater to-morrow, with J. Warren Kerrigan interpreting the role of the monarch unexpectedly thrust into control.

The show at Paxtang Park Theater this week, is made up of such standard vaudeville acts as the Colonial Montrose Troup, Anderson and Evans, Bob Warren, Billy West, and Beltrah. The Montrose Troup is one of the best European novelty acts the park has ever played, while Anderson and Evans, in their laughable comedy sketch, "On the Rocks," keep the audience in excellent humor all the time. A matinee, free to all children, will be given at the park theater on Saturday afternoon.

To-day for the last time will be shown William Gillette's star of the legitimate stage, in "Sherlock Holmes" his former stage success, "Sherlock Holmes," at the Victoria. The film has been heralded as an exhibition of Mr. Gillette's art. To-morrow will also be shown "The Iron Claw." To-morrow the feature is the Kitty Gordon in "Her Maternal Right."

In the new five-reel Triangle-Ince comedy-drama, "The No Good Guy," which is appearing at the Colonial to-day and to-morrow, William Collier, who is starred, has made no hit by accident, but by the use of high intelligence and fine sensibilities. He plays the role of a young man who is weak and foolish with his money, and the characterization of a native, good-natured, thoughtless spendthrift, a man with a boy's heart, and a girl's sense of responsibility, delights the audience through the entire five reels. Harry Gribbon and an all-star Keystone cast, will create some new laughs in a thrilling comedy, entitled "A Dash of Courage."

CLEVER BILL AT THE MAJESTIC

Bill That Has Quite a Bit of Variety, Good Humor, and Cleverness

It's a good bill playing at the Majestic for the last half of this week. Other bills have presented more variety, but this one should give vaudeville lovers a treat in many, many ways. First there comes the Skatella. Ever hear of doing a Spanish dance in roller skates? They do it, and they do it wonderfully well at that. That isn't all they do, but it's about the finest single bit. Next there are the Reynolds, two women and a man, who sing, dance and give a little interlude of mysticism which isn't at all bad. An old friend of the Harrisburgers (when vaudeville held forth at the Orpheum) is found in "The Square," a laughable comedy with J. C. Nugent and company of one. It's a clever little act, and receives a hearty welcome from old friends. Wilkins and Wilkins, new to the city, are making friends fast—very fast. And they should. For the act is about as drolly clever as one might wish for. Clever dialogue, eccentric dancing and original foolishness crowd the act. Last on the bill is Victor Morley, the second Clifton Crawford, in "A Regular Army Man," a reproduced
