

HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH A NEWSPAPER FOR THE HOME

Published evenings except Sunday by THE TELEGRAPH PRINTING CO., Telegraph Building, Federal Square.

E. J. STACKPOLE, Pres't and Editor-in-Chief F. R. OYSTER, Business Manager, GUS M. STEINMETZ, Managing Editor.

Member American Newspaper Publishers' Association, The Audit Bureau of Circulation and Pennsylvania Associated Dailies.

Eastern office, Hasbrooke, 33rd Street, New York City; Western office, Hasbrooke, 25th Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Chicago office, G. S. G. Building, Chicago, Ill.

Entered at the Post Office in Harrisburg, Pa., as second class matter.

By carriers, six cents a week; by mail, $3.00 a year in advance.

Sworn daily average circulation for the three months ending May 31, 1916. 22,189

Trust in nothing but in Providence and your own efforts: never separate the two.—Dickens.

WILLIAM PENN HIGHWAY THE new secretary of the William Penn Highway will find plenty with which to occupy his time and energies.

NEW TYPES OF HOMES THE real estate columns of the Telegraph, especially those of Saturdays when builders lay before the public advertisements showing what they have to offer.

THE BREWERS' BULLETIN WE have read from "stem to stern" the latest issue of the Bulletin of the Pennsylvania State Brewers' Association.

REALITIES OF SOCIALISM IN the House of Representatives the other day, Meyer London, of New York, the only Socialist member, was discussing a bill to regulate the government of Porto Rico.

DANIELIZING THE NAVY To get officers and men for the three new dreadnoughts, the Nevada, Oklahoma, and Pennsylvania, Secretary Daniels ordered today that six battalions be placed in reserve with 40 per cent complements.

These utterances are the stern realities of Socialism. They represent the ultimate of Socialistic doctrine. Whoever embraces Socialism, even philosophically, may expect to find himself sooner or later occupying the same position as London and Belmer. It is well, therefore, to avoid a tendency to evil.

These utterances are the stern realities of Socialism. They represent the ultimate of Socialistic doctrine. Whoever embraces Socialism, even philosophically, may expect to find himself sooner or later occupying the same position as London and Belmer. It is well, therefore, to avoid a tendency to evil.

possals eagerly espoused by the President and some of his party, are socialistic — perhaps not extremely harmful in their socialism — but socialistic, nevertheless, and constituting the first steps toward the ultimate views which London and Belmer lead one to believe inculcate murder and treason as reputable weapons.

JUSTICE HUGHES JUSTICE HUGHES may or may not be nominated by the Republicans at Chicago. But that possibility is probably, perhaps, gives interest to Mr. Hughes' attitude on matters of public moment.

Some of the "booms" are about to go bang. —Going to the national conventions isn't what it used to be in the days of annual passes.

WHAT THE ROTARY CLUB LEARNED OF THE CITY [Questions submitted to members of the Harrisburg Rotary Club and their answers are presented in the organization's annual "Municipal Quiz."]

Summer Winds Of all the winds of summer-time that blow, I think the sweetest are the ones that go early morningtide down the hill.

Postmaster General and Congress [From Philadelphia Inquirer] In spite of the apparent willingness of Assistant Postmaster General Blaklee to be the "goat" in the controversy between Congress and the Post Office Department the issue is really one between the Legislative branch of the government and the Postmaster General.

Hen Adopts a Quail [Alton (Kan.) Empire.] Last summer one of W. D. Lemley's old hens stole her nest out on the creek.

Home Economies [Buffalo News] The American housewife is under indictment. The crime of which she is accused in wastefulness and the garbage can is being subpoenaed as chief witness.

No Room for Triflers [Kansas City Star] Boys and girls and young men and women by the thousands are to be graduated from high schools and colleges in the next fortnight.

OUR DAILY LAUGH AN ABSENTEE. Bangs: I never see you at the ball games any more. Whangs: No. The way the home team is playing now, I find it less depressing to read about the games than to see them.

Politics in Pennsylvania By the Ex-Committeeman The Pennsylvania delegates to the Chicago convention got away yesterday, in two bodies. The Penrose delegates, under the direction of Secretary W. Harry Baker, passed through here early in the afternoon aboard two special cars and were joined at this point by Delegates Stamm and Coleman.

TELEGRAPH PERISCOPE —Some of the "booms" are about to go bang. —Going to the national conventions isn't what it used to be in the days of annual passes.

WHAT THE ROTARY CLUB LEARNED OF THE CITY [Questions submitted to members of the Harrisburg Rotary Club and their answers are presented in the organization's annual "Municipal Quiz."]

Summer Winds Of all the winds of summer-time that blow, I think the sweetest are the ones that go early morningtide down the hill.

Postmaster General and Congress [From Philadelphia Inquirer] In spite of the apparent willingness of Assistant Postmaster General Blaklee to be the "goat" in the controversy between Congress and the Post Office Department the issue is really one between the Legislative branch of the government and the Postmaster General.

Hen Adopts a Quail [Alton (Kan.) Empire.] Last summer one of W. D. Lemley's old hens stole her nest out on the creek.

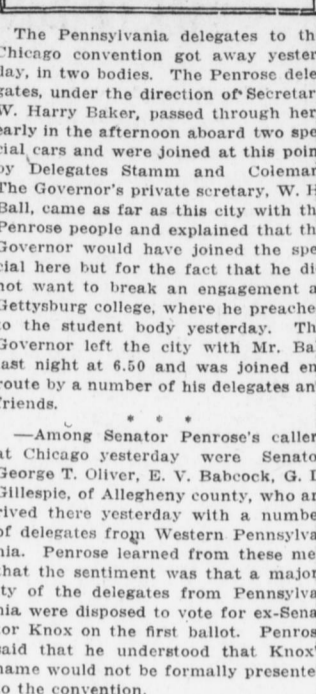

Home Economies [Buffalo News] The American housewife is under indictment. The crime of which she is accused in wastefulness and the garbage can is being subpoenaed as chief witness.

No Room for Triflers [Kansas City Star] Boys and girls and young men and women by the thousands are to be graduated from high schools and colleges in the next fortnight.

OUR DAILY LAUGH AN ABSENTEE. Bangs: I never see you at the ball games any more. Whangs: No. The way the home team is playing now, I find it less depressing to read about the games than to see them.

SARCASM. He's a lucky chap. Yes, indeed. He always manages to be a waker when opportunity calls.

THE CARTOON OF THE DAY STRANGE HOW YOUR HUSBAND, USUALLY SO CAPABLE, CAN BE SO INCAPABLE.

—From the Columbus Dispatch.

TORNADOES By Frederic J. Haskin

THE tornado season is well under way. The Mississippi valley is just regaining its equilibrium after a siege of storms that took heavy toll of life and property.

Evening Chat Local coal dealers are a bit reticent in talking over the increase in anthracite coal prices since the operators have granted the demands of the miners.

Hundreds of people in the city will soon receive checks for money which they have saved in the Vacation Funds in several banks in Harrisburg. It was announced this morning.

Brick winds that rattle the surface of the Susquehanna to the frequent dismay of sailor-canoeists do other damage occasionally, too.

Flowers were a glut on the markets Saturday, and many were carried back to the farms. It is estimated that the supply of flowers here is about 25 per cent in excess of what is needed.

Amateur baseball players have found out the location of the headquarters of the "D. Demain" in local weather observation. When it rains, the morning or the skies are cloudy, telephone calls are quite numerous.

"A stretch of white sea sand, palm trees, under which are spread little tables, shaded by varicolored umbrellas, twinkling electric lights that rival the weird splendor of the summer moonlight, pennants, streamers and insignias, all blowing in the breeze, and from some distant, included bowler the strains of orchestral music lending its charm to a scene of such beauty, that's the way the Panama and Hawaii looks."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR MORE OF LEMOYNE SCHOOLS To the Editor of the Telegraph: In fairness to the Telegraph's subscribers in the Lemoyne district, we hereby try to answer the letter to the Editor in Friday night's issue entitled Lemoyne School Matters.

There is no wish on the part of "the few of our citizens" who are so generous as to question the wisdom of this August board have signed a remonstrance to the strength of over one hundred fathers, taxpayers and voters.

OUR DAILY LAUGH AN ABSENTEE. Bangs: I never see you at the ball games any more. Whangs: No. The way the home team is playing now, I find it less depressing to read about the games than to see them.

SARCASM. He's a lucky chap. Yes, indeed. He always manages to be a waker when opportunity calls.

OUR DAILY LAUGH AN ABSENTEE. Bangs: I never see you at the ball games any more. Whangs: No. The way the home team is playing now, I find it less depressing to read about the games than to see them.

SARCASM. He's a lucky chap. Yes, indeed. He always manages to be a waker when opportunity calls.