C. E. COMMITTEE FURTHERS PLANS

Pastors to Preach on Coming Convention on Sunday, June 25

At the Christian Endeavor headquarters room last evening the general convention committee held a meeting at which time Miss Ida M. Sowers, chairman of the badge committee, conducted the devotional exercises. On Sunday, June 25, the pastor of all churches interested in the State C. E. convention will be requested by the convention committee to preach a sermon on "Young People's Work and the State Convention."

eral convention committee will take an active part. Rev. R. L. Meisenholder, chairman of the junior and intermediate rally work, reported that a meeting will be held in the Fourth Street Church of God, on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at which time at least 10 children from each society are requested to attend and arrangements will be made with the juniors to take part in the entertainment part of the program of the big junior rally. On Friday evening, at 7.30 o'clock, in the Fourth Street Church of God, the junior convention choir will meet for important rehearsal. Prof. John F. Kob, chairman of the entertainment committee, reported that nearly 1,000 places have been secured for the entertainment of delegates coming to this city during the week of July 11-14. There are still about 500 places to be secured for entertainment and all persons desiring to entertain delegates are urged to report to Prof. John F. Kob, 1501 Swatara street. The Adams county convention will be held at Biglerville, on Thursday, June 15. Harry W. Keitel, chairman committee on hall, will lead the singing and deliver an address on "The State C. E. Convention." A new C. E. society was organized at Swatara station on last Sunday evening, with eighteen members. Among the boosters who were on the program during the evening were John E. McCullough, president Dauphin County C. E. Union; Benjamin Whitman, Miss Bessie E. March of this city; Paul A. Strickler and Harry Laucks, of Hummelstown. The denominational rally for the United Brethren societies of this city and vicinity will be held in the First United Brethren Church, Boas and Myrtle streets, on Tuesday evening, June 13. A strong and interesting program will be prepared. A combined musicale of the Harrisburg C. E. choral union and Lemoyne talent will be held on Thursday evening, June 8, at 7.45 o'clock in the Grace United Evangelical Church, Lemoyne.

Pine Street Church Boys to Camp at Losh's Run

Eugene E. Miller and Charles R. Thompson, who are actively in charge of Boyd Memorial Hall in South street, are completing plans for a summer camp to be held at Losh's Run for the boys of Pine Street Presbyterian Church, under 16 years of age. The camp will be pitched along the Juniata river and tents will shelter about forty boys from July 21 to 29. After that date a week at the camp will be given to the men. The camp will be regularly appointed and discipline will be enforced. It will be for instruction as well as pleasure, and regular hours, setting up exercises, etc., will be compulsory. The fishing and swimming at Losh's Run is of the best, and seventeen boys have already signified their intention of going.

MAJESTIC SHOW FOR FIRST HALF

A Bill With Plenty of Variety and Humor Altogether Clever and Good

The bill for the first half of the week at the Majestic is good in every way. A little more variety than has been the rule for the past few bills is in vogue this first half, starting off with Booth and Leander, comedy cyclist and comedian. Each of the men contribute several good items. Mabel Johnson has a decidedly clever ventriloquist act, which she presents in a novel manner. "What's the Matter With Ruth?" is a most amusing satire both on and off the stage, for in the box is a masquerade of the cast not listed on the program, with his droll foolishness. Burns and Kissen, with songs, give the only singing act, and with one or two comics and several other numbers present a good contribution to the variety bill. "The Girl in the Gown Shop" deserves the place given it—that is the headline. Victor Kahn is featured, and with his nonsense and antics he is easily the best humorist on the entire bill. There are some good musical numbers in the act and several amusing situations in the plot.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS This may not be true, but it is good just the same. Fernie Rogers, the musical comedy prima donna, was singing in a summer opera company, the leader distributed the program, and after several numbers had been played the trombone player glanced over the show bill, and with a grin said: "No, this is the next number," was the reply. "Well, if that's the case, I have been playing one number ahead all the evening."

Miss Kathryn Williams has been invited by the board of one of the largest normal schools in an Eastern State, to deliver a lecture on motion picture art. Though unable to avail herself of the privilege, Miss Williams was chosen from the scores of artists all over the United States to represent the screen industry.

LOCAL THEATERS

Yesterday marked the opening of the second week of the summer vaudeville season at the Paxtang Park Theater. Jolly and Wild, who head the park show this week, present one of those rapid-fire comedies that always put a lot of pep into a bill. Wilson Franklin and company present a farce comedy sketch entitled, "My Wife Won't Let Me." Mr. Franklin is a comedian of no mean ability, who speaks with a slight English droll. Stuart and Ruby offer an entirely original dancing act entitled, "On With the Dance," that was well received by the park audience, while Al Harrington in "The Crazy Janitor," and Helene and Emil, two exceptionally clever gymnasts, serve to round out a very pleasing performance. Matinees will be given at the park theater on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Some of the accidents which occur in the Jesse L. Lasky production of the thrilling automobile story of "The Race," now being shown at the Regent, were taken in the exact locality in which they happened to Anita King, the Paramount Girl, on whose famous transcontinental automobile trip the story is founded. Victor Moore, the clever comedian, supports Miss King. Others in the cast include: Mrs. Louis McCord, Ernest Joy, Horace B. Carpenter and Robert Bradbury. Admitters of Mary Pickford will have

CINDERELLA HAS 5000 COSTUMES
Caring For Wardrobe Used in Gigantic Spectacle Tremendous Task. Never a Spangle Lost.

600 WINGS FOLDED AWAY EVERY DAY
How would you like to be responsible for almost 5,000 costumes with the knowledge that each and every one had to be unpacked and carefully repacked again twice each day, six days a week and for a stretch of thirty-five weeks in a season? Such is the task that divides itself between Mrs. George Harz, mistress of the feminine wardrobe, and Walter Wilcox, master of the men's habiliments used in this season's spectacle of "Cinderella"—fairytale feature of the Ringling Brothers' circus. Never before, it is said, were so many costumes worn in a single dramatic production. And seldom have there been those needing more careful attention. The cast which portrays the well-known nursery story numbers more than a thousand characters. These persons, as the theme would suggest, dress

In truly magnificent style. But the court frocks of fair ladies or the velvet coats of pages and handsome cavaliers are as nothing compared with the daintiness of the costumes worn by the fairies themselves. There are fully 300 of the woodland sprites and, in addition to the delicate chiffon draperies, the spangled skirts and gold-threaded fur-bellows, are the butterfly wings. Six hundred dainty wings that must be packed and unpacked with the greatest care. It has been said that 80 wonderful is the Ringling system that not so much as a spangle is ever left behind when the great circus folds its tents and moves in its travels. Not so much as a silver thread must be lost by those who have charge of the thousands of "Cinderella" costumes. Of course, the heads of this important department have many assistants. Twice seamstresses and as many tailors are constantly employed on tour. They are never idle. If you do not catch the hum of busy sewing machines and the click of many needles from where you sit watching the wonders of the circus program it is because the sound is drowned by the lilting blare of the big show band.

When the Ringling Brothers' exhibit here Wednesday, June 14, "Cinderella" will be the most wonderful of all its many new features. The story will be told from the greatest stage that has ever been built. In seven splendid acts it will tell the tale from the time when the King's heralds invite all to the grand ball, to the triumph of the glass slippered heroine in the biggest thing of its kind ever traveled in America. Following the conclusion of the spectacle will come two hours of circus acts, many of which are new to this country because the great war has required a host of foreign artists to seek engagements here.—Advertisement.

"Fake Remedies" Advertised

No doubt some of the medicines advertised are fakes, but these never have any lasting success. They stand in striking contrast to the good old standard, dependable remedies, like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which has stood the test of time and for more than forty years has been alleviating the suffering of womankind. Such medicines are a blessing to the community and will continue their good work from one generation to another.—Advertisement.
