

LEAGUE PROSPECTS NOT BRIGHT CLAMOR FOR COCKILL--SCORELESS BALL GAME

SCORELESS GAME IN SHOP LEAGUE

Catcher Rhoads Has Only Clean Hit; Effective Pitching Is Feature

Stars on the Smith Shop and Planning Mill teams of the Lucknow League played a scoreless game yesterday.

Murphy, pitching for the Planning Mill, pitched air-light ball, not a man reaching first base nor a ball being hit out of the infield. He retired the side on strikes in the third and in all struck out seven men, and did not issue a base on balls.

Gilday also pitched nice ball for the Smith Shop, being especially steady in the pinches, and striking out four men, the one hit secured off him being of the scratch variety.

Rhoads caught a nice game for the Planning Mill, also securing their only hit, while Geary played his usual good game at third. For the Smith Shop Bricker played a nice game at first, while Hocker and Garman played nice games in the field, the latter pulling down a nice fly.

Standing of the Teams

Planning Mill	6	1 .857
Clerks	8	2 .800

LEAGUE PROJECT NEEDS BOOSTING

Local Enthusiasts Anxious to Have Manager Cockill Come Here

Local enthusiasts who are anxious to land a baseball team for Harrisburg are anxious to have Manager George Cockill come to Harrisburg and aid in boosting the project. Prospects for a team are not bright. According to reports, the price for a franchise in the New York State League is now $4,000. Half of this amount must be paid in at once.

It is the general belief that a canvass should be made by Manager Cockill and those anxious for a team. To date no offers of subscriptions have been received. The $1,500 in eight includes an offer from Manager Cockill and Walter Blair. One plan suggested was to sell stock at $50 per share.

According to figures given out, at an average attendance of 1,000, starting June 15, the profits should not be less than $4,800. If the attendance averages but 800, there would be a profit of $2,500. One local enthusiast said last night:

"I would like to see a team here. Harrisburg should have baseball, but I do not think a large amount of money ought to be paid out at this time. First, neither Sadrak or Sadrak's tail-end team. He is playing his games on the road. If the New York State League is anxious to get Harrisburg on the circuit, President Farrell should have Troy located in Harrisburg during the balance of the season. It would pay better than the present arrangement. In the meantime local supporters could get together and organize an association to take over the franchise. It is rather late to put money in a tail-end team. Lew Wachter would not lose anything by playing the balance of the season in Harrisburg."

English Woman May Land Golf Honors in Big Match

Manchester, Mass., June 7. — The English golfer, Mrs. W. A. Garvin, playing under the colors of the Cherry Valley Club, took the lead in the American women's golf championship tournament at the Essex County Club yesterday.

In the second 18 holes of the 54-hole competition in medal play she made a score of 86, duplicating Miss Harriott Curtis' card of yesterday's first rounds, and thus brought her total to 176 for the two days' play. Miss Curtis took 93 for her inward and outward journeys, her total being 173, or three points below Mrs. Garvin's total for the 36 holes. These two young women are the leaders at the start of tomorrow's final day. Mrs. Garvin had a great margin over the next two ranking contestants, Miss Marion Hollins, of West Brook, L. I., and Mrs. R. H. Barlow, of the Merion Cricket Club.

GOLF ANTIQUES ON EXHIBITION

The Fogan Collection of Centenarian Clubs on Display This Week at Bogar's

The combined characteristics of an antique lover and connoisseur on golf sticks are perhaps not so unusual but what a sufficient number of persons possessing them may be found gaining in the display windows of George W. Bogar's sporting goods store in the Square for the next few days. The Robert Fogan collection of golf clubs is on exhibition and will there remain for the rest of the week. They are the sticks which attracted so much attention at the San Francisco world's fair.

Longevity is the chief recommendation for a putter made in 1780 by one Jackson, but the modern golfer would scarcely care to risk his score by using this particular stick. There is also a spoon which was the result of Douglas McEwan's handiwork in 1797, and Sir Thomas Montcrieff was no slouch in 1864 when he used to drive them out of sight with some of the clubs that are now on exhibition here.

Colonel Bogey used to shiver with apprehension every time Sir T. M. put in an appearance.

There is a list of eleven clubs, all of which have a history and all of which were collected by Robert Fogan, of St. Andrew's, Scotland, that famous happy hunting ground which has been visited by every golfer of note and which is responsible for much that has been given to the game in years past. One of the clubs has a head that was made from an apple tree 300 years old, another is said to have been used by Tom Kild when he won the English championship. The shafts of all are of hickory, the heads of blackthorn and dogwood. They are of ample proportions, and resemble very little some of the dainty sticks that one sees nowadays.

MAJESTIC — Vaudeville and Motion Pictures
COLONIAL — "Blue Blood and Red."
REGENT — "The Eternal Grind" (Pickford).
VICTORIA — "Mysteries of Myra."

PLAYS AND PLAYERS
Geraldine Farrar, star of the Metropolitan Opera House, and of the Paramount Picture Program, bids fair to have a public square in the town of the birthplace named after her, if the reports coming from Melrose, Mass., are true. Mme. Farrar was a pupil in the old Horace Mann School. Two years ago the building was razed and the square named the location after Horace Mann. Recently, however, a strong sentiment has sprung up to have the site, now a public square, named after the singer.

Earle Williams, the Vitagraph star, is having numerous experiences in the play "The Girl in the Gown Shop" and A. C. Harrisburg's new athletic body, is pulling wires for a big program for July 4. He is lining up the fastest boys possible and in his final program, he expects to hand local enthusiasts a big surprise.

Confederate veterans at Vicksburg, Miss., were, it is said, greatly interested in the historical details coincident with the "battle" reproduction of Civil War periods. The Confederate veterans recently consulted the "Crisis" Col. Campbell. "The Crisis" will be a twelve-reel production.

LOCAL THEATERS
"Blue Blood and Red" is the odd title of the new Fox production booked for the Colonial Theatre tomorrow, which features George Walsh and Doris Pawn. The story is quite different from the usual Fox production, being one of the first Western produced. A young man, who is a descendant of blue blood stock, gets expelled from college and starts for the West. Here he meets a girl who is of red blood stock, and a romance springs up. The story is a sequel to the Barriscale and William Desmond, two of the stars of the Triangle service, will be at the Colonial Theatre tomorrow, in a sensational drama that has caused it, it is said, a sensation wherever it has been shown, entitled "Not My Sister."

Two big feature dramas head the bill at the Victoria to-day. The sixth episode of "The Mysteries of Myra" will be presented to-day. Novel in conception, this drama, with its great, mystic, is distinctly different from anything ever screened, and features Howard Brook and Jean Sothorn. Another interesting part of "The Girl in the Gown Shop" will also be shown to-day. T. E. Powers cartoon comedy will also be shown. For to-morrow and Friday the feature will be "The Girl in the Gown Shop" taken from the novel of the same name by Rex Beach.

Mary Pickford's appearance in "The Eternal Grind," which is the attraction at the Regent to-day and to-morrow, will, it is said, be pronounced her "greatest." There are big scenes in the film. One of the most powerful is that in which Mary finds Ernest lying in bed, more frivolous sister, Amy. Suspecting Ernest of duplicity, Amy has followed him to Mary's lodgings, armed with a revolver. When Mary realizes the situation, she snatches the gun from her sister and forces Ernest to remain where he is until a minister is found. Then, concealed behind the curtains, she presses the revolver against Ernest's back while he goes through the marriage ceremony with Amy.

On Friday and Saturday, Charlie Chaplin, the $27,000 comedian, will appear in "The Floorwalker," the first release under his Mutual contract.

An excellent show and some regular summer weather have made the Paxtang Park playhouse the favorite resort of theater patrons so far this week. Jolly and Wild, a vaudeville act well known to local theater patrons, is the feature attraction of the park show this week. Wilson Franklin & Co., the vaudeville company, had the park audience convulsed with laughter at the comedy sketch, "My Wife Won't Let Me." Harrington and his two little terrier dogs, are exceptionally good. Stewart and Kreeley are very nice dancers, while Helene and Emilion show almost incredible skill in an original gymnast act.

Have you seen "The Girl in the Gown Shop," now appearing at the Majestic? It is one of those refreshing acts, just the kind of entertainment for warm weather. Four other pleasing acts round out the bill. Lovers of musical acts will welcome the Sixteen Navassar Girls, who head the bill for the last half of the week. This is a band, orchestra and choir, and each of the sixteen young girls, who make up the personnel of the company, is a soloist. Completing the bill are: Josephine Lenhart, in vocal imitations; Moore, Gardner and Rose, three men in a comedy singing, talking and piano act; Frank and Eldry Fisher, man and woman, in a comedy sketch entitled "Perseverance"; and Martini and Sylvester, two men in a comedy acrobatic act.

Country Club Decides to Increase Indebtedness

The expected approval of the plan to increase the indebtedness of the Country Club of Harrisburg from $6,250 to $91,250 was given last evening at a meeting of the club members in the Board of Trade building, when it was unanimously decided to make the increase. This final action was necessary before the work could be pushed on the new club grounds at Fort Hunter. Plans for the clubhouse have been approved and work will shortly be started with a view to having the house ready for occupancy by April 1, 1917.

The club has reserved the right to use the present grounds until the new club is finished, although Dr. C. S. Rebeck and several others have taken over the property at Coxwood. The board of governors will meet next Tuesday evening in the offices of the president, John Fox Weiss, to hear the report of Lesley McCrea, who was chairman of the committee on financing the new club project.

Re-elect Reading Directors; Adjourn Until October

Perfunctory proceedings restricted to the re-election of retiring directors characterized the annual meeting of stockholders of the Reading Company, which was held at the Reading Terminal yesterday. Exactly 2,090,173 shares, or 74.9 per cent. of the total were voted.

The directors re-elected for the coming year were: E. T. Stotesbury, H. P. McKean, Henry C. Frick, George F. Bakr, Daniel Willard, Isaac Hiestler, Joseph E. Widener, Alfred H. Smith and William L. Kinter. Following the election of directors the meeting was adjourned until October 9, the date of the annual meetings of the stockholders of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company and the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company. The annual report of the Reading Company will be read at that time.

WELLY'S CORNER

Brooklyn is leading the National League, with three other teams in the running. It looks like a season's race between the Dodgers, New York and Philadelphia. Manager McGraw has given notice that once the Giants are in first place, it will be some task to put them.

Cleveland, long record holder for tail-enders and second division runners, is setting a pace this season in the American League. The Naps have undergone a rejuvenation that has brought good results. However, the American race is also assuming an interesting stage. New York, Boston and Washington are still factors in the chase for leadership.

Notwithstanding the good reports from both the International and New York State Leagues, the attendance is not what it should be. Of course poor weather has been mostly responsible for the lack of crowds. In the International League, however, there is a strong opposition to the game being played. It is not up to the standard, according to reports.

Breaking 150 targets without a miss yesterday at Catawissa gives President John G. Martin, of the Harrisburg Sportsmen's Association, three more chances on a gold watch. If he makes 15 runs of 50 straight during the season, the watch is the prize. Harry B. Shoop, another local shooter, has in his possession several gold watches won by straight scoring.

Harrisburg athletes at Penn State received their letters yesterday. Harold A. Clark was given honors for football work and W. Weber for baseball.

Darkness stopped a great game at Tower City yesterday. The Williams-town and Tower City teams of the Dauphin-Schuylkill League went ten innings in a pitchers' battle. Williams-town had but three hits and played a loose fielding game at intervals.

Teams in the Blue Ridge League are after Chambersburg. King Lear got his bumps yesterday. Martinsburg is leading, with Chambersburg second and Hanover third. Rollinsky was prominent in fielding and hitting yesterday.

In the Allison Hill League series last evening the Galahads stopped the winning streak of the Stanleys by a score of 1 to 0. Both teams played a brilliant game in the field. Challenger and Boers were star pitchers for the victors.

Tech Freshmen yesterday downed the Sophomores in an interesting baseball contest; score, 8 to 6. Lotz pitched good ball for the Freshmen.

Buck Ramsey and Merrigan, of the defunct Harrisburg State League team, have joined the Hank Ramsey forces at Reading. They expect to play yesterday and expected to be in the game to-day.

"Bob" Gillett, the matchmaker for the Empire A. C. Harrisburg's new athletic body, is pulling wires for a big program for July 4. He is lining up the fastest boys possible and in his final program, he expects to hand local enthusiasts a big surprise.

Joe Tinker After Evers Willing to Pay Any Price

Special to the Telegraph
Philadelphia, June 7.—Joe Tinker, manager of the Chicago Cubs, admitted yesterday that he was in the market to bid for Johnny Evers, now with the Braves, if Stallings would listen to an offer. There was a report reached here from Boston that Tinker was dickering for Evers, but the Cubs manager declared that the Boston club had no idea of letting Evers get away. Tinker has been looking around for some talent to bolster up his infield, which is the weak spot in his team, but so far has been unable to land anyone who would improve the Cubs. Evers would fit in nicely with the Chicago club and would make a good running mate for his old side partner, Tinker, in handling the team, but it is not likely that Boston will part with Johnny. If the Boston owners are willing to sell, Tinker is ready to bid pretty high for the star second-sacker.
