PROMINENT INDIAN EDUCATORS TO WED MONDAY

REV. DR. HENRY ROE CLOUD, WINNEBAGO

MISS ELIZABETH G. BENDER, CHIPPEWA

Carlisle, Pa., June 10.—A unique romance in which two of the leading Indian families of the country are involved will reach its culmination in Philadelphia on Monday, June 12, when Miss Elizabeth G. Bender, a teacher at the Carlisle Indian School and a sister of Charles Albert Bender, the noted pitcher and sportsman, will be married at the home of her brother to the Rev. Dr. Henry Roe Cloud, an Indian worker, ordained Presbyterian minister and one of the most celebrated of living American Indians.

Although only 21 years of age, Dr. Cloud's life has been one of unique achievement. He is a member of the Winnebago tribe and was brought up in the primitive ways of the savage until he entered school at Genoa, Neb. Continuing his education, he went to the Santee Mission School and later with only $100 as his entire capital entered the Mount Hermon School in Massachusetts, working his way and learning Greek while plowing.

He entered Yale in 1908, where he met Mrs. Walter C. Roe, wife of Dr. Roe, a noted worker among the Indians. They became interested in the earnest young man and later adopted him, making him legally a member of one of the most prominent families of Boston and giving him their name.

Dr. Cloud is now head of the Roe Institute, at Wichita, founded as a memorial to his foster-parents and dedicated to the advancement of the American Indian. Miss Bender is a graduate of Hampton Institute and the mutual interest of the two in Indian work first brought them together.

The bride-to-be is a Chippewa and younger sister of "Chief" Charles Albert Bender, formerly with the Philadelphia Athletics, now with the Phillies. She was reared among the students here and a series of entertainments just closed were held in her honor. The couple expect to continue their work for the uplift of the Indian race after their marriage.

Enough Power to Lift Cadillac Fifty Miles

A technical mind trained to figures simply can't help translating anything into statistical terms; and the recent record-breaking transcontinental trip of the Cadillac Eight furnished the opportunity of a lifetime to the technical men in the Cadillac plant. The result is a mass of intensely interesting data based on the distance covered by the car, 3,718 miles.

For example, it is found that if the power generated by the engine in its long drive could be concentrated in one tremendous impulse, it would amount to 307,500 horsepower. This, if concentrated and used in the space of one minute, would be sufficient to lift the car and its two passengers fifty miles into the air—which speed would be at the rate of 3,000 miles an hour.

It is found further, that the crankshaft made more than 8,415,000 revolutions—yet there was no visible wear on its bearings and no adjustment of the bearings could be made. For the second hand of a watch to make an equal number of revolutions would require eighteen years of continuous running, and the watch would have to be wound 6,560 times.

While the crankshaft was doing its prodigious task, the camshaft was engaged in making 4,225,000 revolutions, turning at half the speed of the crankshaft. That means that each valve was opened and closed the same number of times; and that each valve, in performing its function, traveled a distance equal to 23.3 miles.

During the 7 1/2 days of the run, each of the 8 pistons traveled, within its cylinder, 535 miles in moving up and down its 7 1/2 inch stroke; and the total distance traveled by the eight pistons was 12,200 miles, or about half way around the earth.

"YOU Can't Fool All the People All the Time"

THE remedy for "substitution" is in the hands of the people—the consumers—who, by their verdict, may drive the substituter out of the business world.

IT IS for consumers to decide how long they will endure the injury done them and the insult heaped upon them by dealers who attempt to sell them something "Just as Good" against their better judgment.

WOE to the dealer who fosters the sale of "Just as Goods"

"Get What You Ask For" NATIONAL ANTI-SUBSTITUTION LEAGUE, Philadelphia

once the people are thoroughly aroused and convinced that they are being fooled — that imitations are being foisted on them as "Just as Goods."

YOU are the court of last resort. It is your money you are spending, and it is for you to decide whether or not you will insist on getting that for which you ask and refuse the "Just as Good."

DOESN'T common sense dictate that the dealer who does not sell "Just as Goods" is the dealer for you to patronize?
