

OF INTEREST TO THE WOMEN

THE STRUGGLES OF A WIFE

By Virginia Terhune Van de Water

CHAPTER XLII. Copyright, 1916, by Star Co. To betray any excess of feeling was so unusual to Grace that she submitted to her mother's embrace only for a moment. Yet in that moment the mother wondered if at last she and her child were to be as close as she had always wished they might be. But she did not have time to ponder this matter for more than an instant, for Grace pulled herself free with a laugh at her own weakness. "I declare I must be getting very silly!" she exclaimed. "Being here so much with you seems to have made me childish and dependent. Forgive me, mother."

ing up and down the walk in the front of the hotel, Dayton, crossing the lawn, stopped in front of them and greeted them with the peculiarly winning smile that was one of his many physical attractions. Myra glanced at her daughter, but saw no sign of a blush on Grace's face. If her heart beat any faster at sight of this man, she did not betray the fact. "Yes, he was very good-looking, Myra decided, with the sun brightening his blond hair, and there was an honesty and frankness about him that appealed to her. "What are you ladies going to do this afternoon?" he asked. "For, as neither of them replied immediately, "it's too fine a day to waste staying around the hotel—now isn't it?" Myra's wits worked rapidly. "To you young people the day may be very fine," she said, "but for me the sun is almost too warm. I am just about to go to my room and don a cool wrapper."

The Social Pirates

Story No. 8 Sauce for the Gander Plot by George Bronson Howard. Novelization by Hugh C. Weir. Copyright Kalem Company.

(Continued from Yesterday.) "I—I have come on a rather embarrassing interview, Mr. Laidlaw," began Mary, timidly. She flashed a bewitching glance at him from her downcast eyes, and smiled again as she saw the other's thin lips part in a deprecatory grimace. "Surely you can have no embarrassment in speaking to me, Miss—" Peter Laidlaw glanced at the card in his hand, and finished with a little bow, "Miss Davenport, I assure you that you can speak with the utmost frankness and confidence to me on any subject."

your son for his money. It is hard—hard, Mr. Laidlaw, to have to say such things about one's own sister, but I could never rest easily if I felt that I had allowed an innocent young man to be trapped by her. And she is beautiful—much more so than I am. I am the plain one of the family."

"I don't believe it," said the elder Mr. Laidlaw emphatically. "If your sister is superior to you in looks, my dear young friend, she, she—"

Peter Laidlaw rose from his chair just in time to catch the girl's hysterical shriek. As she gave herself up to a flood of rocking tears, he soothed her with petting and promised to call on the next day, bestowing an admiring glance on her as he left.

Sought as Assassin and White Slaver; Found Killed

Easton, Pa., June 10.—With the legs tightly bound by wire and the body weighted with heavy iron plates, the body of Vincenzo Nunsera, alias "Jimmy" Rossi, was recovered yesterday from the hole of the abandoned Northampton slate quarry near Pen Arky. Nunsera is the man the Easton police have been trying to find since November 4, 1915, when, they say, he murdered Pietro Giammo, a track man, while the latter was working on the Northampton traction line at Seventh and Spring Garden streets, by slashing his throat with a razor.

MOORE CRITICIZES NAVY PAY

Washington, D. C., June 10.—Criticism of the pay of enlisted men in the navy was made in the House today by Representative J. Hampton Moore, of Philadelphia. He read a letter from Secretary of the Navy Daniels showing that between January 1 and May 31, 8,232 men enlisted, while 6,590 left the service. Mr. Moore declared that $20 a month should be the minimum pay for the navy.

PRINCIPAL DIES IN SCHOOLROOM

Reading, Pa., June 10.—Collapsing in her schoolroom yesterday, Miss Lina M. Roland, a principal and for forty-nine years a teacher, died before a doctor could be summoned. She was the daughter of A. Roland, a pioneer ironmaster of Berks county, and was 67 years old.

Well-known Elizabethtown Man Dies Suddenly

JOHN A. ROMBERGER

Special to the Telegraph. Elizabethtown, Pa., June 10.—This community was shocked yesterday afternoon when the news was received that John A. Romberger, a prominent business man of Elizabethtown, had died suddenly at Harrisburg while on a business trip to that place. Mr. Romberger was one of the best-known business men of Upper Dauphin county, having amassed considerable wealth in the grain and feed business. He was one of the founders of, and president of the First National Bank, of Elizabethtown, and the success of that institution was largely due to his work. Of late years he retired on account of ill-health and lived in Main street. He was a member of the Evangelical Church, and for thirty years was the superintendent of the Sunday school. He was a member of Ashlar Lodge, F. & A. M., of Lykens, Pa., and of the Harrisburg Consistory, who will, no doubt, have charge at his burial.

NEW POSTAL REGULATION

Postmaster Frank C. Sites was advised by the Post Office Department today that the regulation affecting the mailing of third and fourth class matter without stamps had been amended so as to permit mailings of the different class of mail matter in the following quantities: Not less than 300 identical pieces of third class, and not less than 250 pieces of fourth class. The minimum number of pieces heretofore accepted was 2,000. The extension of this privilege has been advocated largely by businessmen.

TOLL FOR WOMAN

The bell on the Paxton firehouse, at Second and Vine streets, was tolled while the funeral procession of Mrs. Sarah First, aged 65 years, 127 Dock street, passed yesterday afternoon. Mrs. First was widely known among the residents of the lower end of the city, and she took an active interest in the Paxton Company's welfare.

Wells-Fargo Express Plan Special Pension System

An extended pension plan announced by the Wells-Fargo Express Company, which will affect 25 employees in Philadelphia, not only cares for aged employees, but provides for sick, accident and death benefits for the expressmen. A disability clause, which provides compensation for workers who become ill while at work or off duty after six months' employment, is one of the features of the new plan. An employee will receive full pay for six months after the accident or illness, and half pay for another six months, and if the illness continues, this half pay will be continued for two years longer. If the injury occurs while the man is on duty the compensation is greater. A man who has worked fifteen years for the company can go on pension when permanently disabled, the amount of pension being based on the number of years of service. In case of the death of an employee, the wages are continued for one month, when half pay is given the widow for additional months, depending on the length of service. The minimum pension allowance for employees under the new plan is $3 a month. The Wells-Fargo Express operates the United Express service on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. SAMUEL GREEN Funeral services for Samuel Green, aged 52 years, who died yesterday afternoon at his home, 653 Calder street, will be held from the St. Paul's Baptist Church, Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. The Rev. E. L. Cunningham will officiate. Burial will be made in the Lincoln Cemetery.

RED BLOTCHES AND PIMPLES ON BACK

And Arms. Skin Was Sore. Would Itch All the Time. Scratched and Made Worse. Completely

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I noticed small red blotches and pimples breaking out on my back and arms. The skin was sore and red, and the pimples festered and came to a head. They would itch all the time and every time I scratched them it made them worse and I could not stop as my clothing would rub against the sore places. I noticed a Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement and I wrote for a free sample. The sample seemed to give me relief so I purchased more and it took only a half a box of Cuticura Ointment and two cakes of Soap to heal me completely." (Signed) M. Schweitzer, 1401 East St., N. S. Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 10, 1915.

Sample Each Free by Mail With 32-p. Skin Book on request. Address post-card "Cuticures, Dept. T, Boston." Sold throughout the world.

VELVET EDGINGS TO THE FLOUNCES

Dressy Little Frock Has Guimpe of Embroidered Net and Lace

By MAY MANTON

9069 (With Basting Line and Added Seam Allowance) Girl's Dress, 10 to 14 years.

All the guimpe frocks are fashionable this season. This one can be given two entirely different effects, for the skirt can be treated as it is on the figure or entirely covered with ruffles. The plainer dress made, as it is here, of the dotted challis with velvet ribbon for the trimming and worn over a guimpe of fine muslin makes a very attractive little afternoon dress. The frock shown in the back view made of net over a taffeta skirt and with a taffeta over-body, is adapted to dances and occasions of such sort. The skirt is circular and can be sewed to the guimpe or the guimpe and skirt may each be finished with a belt and attached with snap fasteners. The ruffle that forms the peplum is sewed to the over-body. If a more dressy effect is wanted, sash-like draperies of silk or of ribbon can be arranged over the shoulders and passed through slashes.

For the 12 year size will be needed 7 3/4 yards of material 27 inches wide, 4 1/4 yards 36 or 4 1/2 yards 44, with 1 3/8 yards 36 inches wide for the guimpe; to make as shown on the figure; 3 3/4 yards 27, 2 1/2 yards 36 or 2 yards 44, for the over-body and skirt and 4 1/4 yards 44 inches wide for the ruffles and guimpe, to make as shown in the back view.

The pattern No. 9069 is cut in sizes for girls from 10 to 14 years of age. It will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of ten cents.
