GLYNN GIVES KEYNOTE

Defends President's Foreign Policy; Decries "Blood and Iron"

Coliseum, St. Louis, Mo., June 14.— With the keynote of "Americanism and Peace, Preparedness and Pros-perity," the Democratic national convention began its first session shortly after noon to-day with not a single element in sight to disturb the harmonious renomination of President Wilson and Vice-President Marshall.

Wilson and Vice-President Marshall.

When National Chairman McCombs called the convention to order 12,000 delegates, alternates and spectators packed the big Colseum to the roof. Members of the national committee, members of President Wilson's Cabinet and party leaders from all over the country had places on the platform. Plaster medallions of Washington, Jackson, Jefferson and Cleveland looked down upon the delegates from the decorations, which consisted uniformly of nothing but the American flag. The only picture of President Wilson in the hall hung in front of the speakers' desk, inscribed "America First."

Vice-presidential booms wilted by President Wilson's direct word that he desired the renomination of Vice-President Marshall were brought to the convention hall, but only as favorite son compliments.

When National Chairman McCombs had called the convention to order the next business was the reading of the call by Secretary J. Bruce Kremer.

Ex-Governor Flynn of New York, was next with the keynote speech.

Down under the speakers' stand direct telephone and telegraph wires to the White House carried momentary reports of the proceedings in the hall. All prospect of a fight in the convention had gone glimmering overnight with William J. Bryan's announcement that he did not propose to press certain planks before the resolutions committee and that he would make campaign speeches for the Democratic nominee.

"We have entered this hall as Democratic site tus deliberate as Americans," declared Mr. Glynn in sounding the keynote.

"It is the business of this convennourcement that he did not propose to press certain planks before the resolutions committee and that he would make campaign speeches for the Democratic nominee.

"We have entered this hall as Democratis let us deliberate as Americans," declared Mr. Glynn in sounding the keynote.

"It is the business of this convention, representing every section of the United States, speaking for every racial strain in America, to send forth a message to all the world that will leave no room for doubt."

Reviewing President Wilson's conduct of foreign affairs, he declared the President bad stood with Washingtton. Adams and Grant, who had preserved peace with honor.

"For vainglory or for selfish purpose," he declared, "others may cry for a policy of blood and iron, but the President has acted on the belief that he leader of a nation who plunges his people into an unnecessary war, like Pontius Pilate, vainly washes his hands of innocent blood while the earth quakes and the heavens are darkened and thousands give up the ghost.

DROP IN GASOLINE!

Washington, D. C., June 14. — In the gasoline hearing before the Federal Trade Commission yesterday it was predicted that the the price of gasoline is destined to drop soon because of the ecent discovery of oil fields, which, it was contended, will produce an overproduction. It was brought out that the price at the Kansas refineries had already, within the last few weeks, fallen from twenty-one cents to 1714.
