The Social Pirates Story No. 10 Unmasking a Rascal

Plot by George Bronson Howard. Novelization by Hugh C. Weir. Copyright Kalem Company. (Continued from Yesterday.)

"Mrs. Fuller, who is several years younger than her husband, began to go out more in society, the kind of society that wasn't very good for her. At last she took to gambling, and so on, and she and Mr. Fuller had many bitter quarrels. But she was very jealous of him in spite of these, and she took it into her head that her husband was beginning to fall in love with another girl, that was absurd. Then one day Mr. Fuller came to me, and told me that if I made over to him the estate which father had left, he could invest it so that it would bring in double as much income for me. I don't know anything at all about business, and I had always trusted him! So I did what he told me to do, and signed a lot of papers—" any way to make a living for myself. I pawned the rings which I had, and got a little room in a boarding house, and answered all sorts of newspaper ads for girls, but there didn't seem any place where I could get a job. He deliberately laughed in my face and ordered the waiter to put me out! The tears started to the girl's eyes, and her shoulders quivered. The proffered help of Mona and Mary was accepted. And they agreed to get her a position. Back in their own apartment the girls fell to discussing a means of dealing with the man who had deceived them. "I have it!" said Mona, suddenly. "You remember that newspaper article which told of the methods employed by the so-called tango cafes to find escorts for women, and vice versa? You remember that the article said that some of those establishments employed professional 'introducers,' whose business was to make strangers acquainted, and so on? Why not have me get just such positions at The Frivolity?"

They Made Her Sign a Lot of Papers.

"Splendid!" agreed Mary. "But—do you think we could?" "We can try, certainly! And there is no reason why he should not try at once!" The plan was at once followed, the manager of the Frivolity agreeing to the plan which Mary and Mona put before him. A week passed. On several afternoons and one evening the banker had drifted into the cafe, but only remained a short time on each visit, and at no time had an opportunity offered for the two girls to make his acquaintance. In the meantime Mona had succeeded in finding for Minnie Meadows a temporary position as model in an exclusive cloak house, during the vacation of one of the regular girls, and had told their young protegee to hold herself in patience until she heard from them again. "I don't think it will be long before we shall have something encouraging to tell you," she promised the girl. "In the meantime, if you need a friend, do not hesitate to call on us at once!" It was the next day that the girls went to the Frivolity, and were the first to see the stocky figure of Fuller as the banker, immaculate in frock coat and pearl gray trousers, entered The Frivolity a little before four in the afternoon. Fuller's glance wandered past Mona, and fell on Mary, who was seated alone at a table across the cafe. She made a demure, innocent picture as she sat there reading a newspaper, and toying with a cup of tea. Mona saw Fuller's eyes light as they appraised the details of her modish costume and natty figure. Then he beckoned to the head waiter. "Who is the girl, Jules?" "I don't know, sir. But, if you like, I will see if it can be arranged for you to meet the young lady."

"You are probably right. But we have recently introduced a new system here, sir. We have a professional introducer, whose business it is to make persons acquainted with one another—I mean in a perfectly proper manner, sir."

(To Be Continued Tomorrow.) LORD'S SUPPER ON SUNDAY Special to the Telegraph Blain, Pa., June 22.—Celebration of the Lord's Supper will be observed on Sunday morning in the Zion's Reformed Church and at the same time there will be the confirmation of a class of new members. Preparatory service will be held on Saturday previous at 7.15 p. m. Services will be in charge of the Rev. John W. Keener, pastor.

PRIZE STRAWBERRIES Blain, Pa., June 22.—R. H. Kell has a fine patch of strawberries in his garden which is producing extra large fruit. Three of the berries taken from the patch were measured, one of them being 7 3/4 inches in circumference and the others 7 inches.

Coal Retailers Take Trip Through Collieries Today More than 700 members of the Pennsylvania Retail Coal Merchants' Association left at 8 o'clock from the Philadelphia and Reading Railway station for a trip through the Brookside collieries in the Lykens Valley region. The train was furnished by the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company. Business sessions of the twelfth annual convention of the retail dealers closed yesterday afternoon after addresses on bituminous work. OPEN NEW PLAYGROUNDS Instead of "Street" Recreation Places Four Temporary Sites Picked No "street" playgrounds will be opened this year by the park department after all, according to a statement issued last evening by J. K. Staples, the playground supervisor. Instead of having sections of streets set aside for the purpose Mr. Staples has arranged for temporary playgrounds and instructors as follows: Seventh and State streets, Miss Elizabeth Workman; Green and Boas streets, Miss Lena Marcus; Fourteenth and Bailey streets, Miss Katherine Brook; and Chestnut near Second, Miss Leah Klevans.

Cal-o-cide Gives Instant Relief It acts through the pores and removes the cause by restoring the tissues to normal; the results are truly remarkable. Get a 25c package from any drugist; he is authorized to refund money to anyone not fully satisfied.

RAINIER NATIONAL PARK Via the Electrified Mountain Route. THIS mountain wonderland—the most beautiful of the government's playgrounds—with its acres of gorgeous Alpine flowers—its giant trees—incomparable glaciers—and monarch of mountains, Rainier—is but one of many delights of a trip to the Pacific North Coast over the "St. Paul." There is electrification—that master wonder of railroading that will make your trip memorable. Silently, smoothly, the all-steel trains—"The Olympian" and "The Columbian"—glide over the mountains, drawn by the world's mightiest electric locomotives. No trailing smoke to mar the vision—no cinders or gas fumes to impair your comfort. CHICAGO Milwaukee & St. Paul RAILWAY Rainer Park invites to endless explorations, but for the tourist whose time is limited there is the one-day trip from Seattle or Tacoma to the Glacier and return—the new 1916 feature. Send for Rainer Park and other travel literature—address J. R. POTT, Dist. Pass. Agt. Rooms 205-6-7 Park Bldg., Pittsburgh, Pa.

COMMUNITY SERVICE HELD Special to the Telegraph Highville, Pa., June 22.—Community service to-day in the United Brethren Church filled the church to overflowing, many being unable to enter. Dr. T. A. Hess, of Philadelphia, preached on "Patrolism and Christianity, or True Preparedness." Veterans of Post 571 attended in a body. A drum used by Dr. Hess in the War of the Rebellion, which he carried when only 12 years of age, was shown the audience. FINE CATTLE KILLED Special to the Telegraph Marietta, Pa., June 22.—Seven head of fine cattle belonging to Clinton Morrison were killed during a heavy storm yesterday. The cattle were in the field and were struck by lightning. PAST MASTERS' NIGHT Marysville, Pa., June 22.—Past masters' night was observed with elaborate ceremonies on Tuesday evening by Ferry Lodge, No. 453, Free and Accepted Masons. The meeting was conducted by past masters of the order. Several new members were initiated. After the business session and the initiation ceremonies luncheon was served to 150 members and guests including some from branches at Camp Hill, Harrisburg, Mechanicsburg and Carlisle.
