

THIEVES RAIDING N. 2ND ST. HOUSES

Inadequate Police Protection Responsible; Five Vacancies on Force

Thieves during the last few nights have been making a systematic raid of a number of houses in North Second street, and it is believed are taking advantage of inadequate police protection in that vicinity.

So far the following houses have been entered and numerous articles taken: Samuel Miller, 1909 North Second street, small mesh bag taken.

William C. Morton, 2214 North Second street, small sum of money and mileage book stolen.

W. C. Metzger, 2232 North Second street, victrola and records, small sum of money.

C. S. Gould, 2234 North Second street, entry forced to pantry but nothing taken.

John C. Herman, 2243 North Second street, entry forced but nothing removed.

E. S. Herman, 2025 North Front street. This residence was entered about 9 o'clock in the morning, but Mrs. Herman frightened the burglars and so far nothing has been reported missing.

At the Miller home the robbers entered the pantry, filling a basket with food, but were frightened away and abandoned the produce. At the Morton residence the burglars also remained on the first floor taking small change and a mileage book. A few doors farther north in the street, the Metzger home was entered and a valuable victrola and records stolen.

Next door the burglars were unable to force one of the doors and at the Herman residence were frightened away before they had an opportunity to remove anything.

It is believed that other houses in the vicinity were visited but no other robberies were reported. The work is that of amateurs as no tools are used, and the burglars remained on the first floor to work. Some of the robberies have been reported to the police.

Police officials said to-day that there is inadequate police protection in this section of the city between 4:30 o'clock and 8 o'clock in the morning.

Five vacancies exist in the city police force at present—one is dead, one has resigned and three are out on the National Guard at Mt. Gretna.

Only one officer is on duty for three hours and a half in this section of the city, and at least thirty more men are needed according to police officials.

International Textbook Affairs in Better Shape

Scranton, Pa., June 27.—Reports were presented at the annual meeting of the International Textbook Company here showing how the new management that assumed control of the affairs of the schools last summer, when the banks of the city loaned the institution $500,000, have whipped matters into a better shape than it was able to report a slight profit for the year.

According to the report the operating loss the first year of the year, 1915, while the operating profit for the second quarter was $31,045, third quarter $35,325 and fourth quarter $30,011, leaving a net operating profit for the year of $11,507. During the year 78,838 students were enrolled.

A feature of the report which was presented by Vice-President Ralph E. Weeks was the statement that one year ago the old management reported a surplus of $2,668,840, and that during the 10 months he and his associates had been in charge of affairs $3,948,126 of assets consisting mainly of excessive valuations on stocks held, had been charged off. This means a deficit of $3,279,295 on the face of it, bringing the $10,000,000 worth of capital stock down to a valuation of $6,720,704, or about 67 cents on the dollar.

Censorship of Motion Pictures Bitterly Scored

Pittsburgh, June 27.—That mortality in motion pictures is essential to success and that political censorship has meant worse pictures than before the censorship was the keynote of speeches at the opening of the fifth annual convention of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of Pennsylvania.

Fred. J. Herrington, of Pittsburgh, attacked the censorship. He said: "The motion picture industry did not know what immoral pictures were until political censorship was established. There are more immoral pictures since censorship was established than ever before. Under the censorship in Pennsylvania a picture was shown in Philadelphia, but when that picture was sent to New York the motion picture exhibitors prohibited it being shown, and yet in New York they have no censorship."

SPINE MAY BE FRACTURED Augustus Banks, a driver of the Wallis Liver, leaped from his wagon at Cameron and Market streets to-day when his horses ran away, sustaining a probable fracture of the spine. He was hurried to the Harrisburg hospital in a serious condition.

AD SPECIALTIES ARE DISCUSSED

Experts Speak on Varying Topics at Associated Advertising Clubs' Convention

Philadelphia, June 27.—The members of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World which is holding its 12th annual convention in this city had a program to-day to keep each of the thousands of delegates busy. While all Philadelphia was still discussing the wonders of last night's steets pageant and the midnight cabaret of the Chicago and Western Members had barely ended, the general sessions of the convention opened at 9 o'clock with an invocation by Bishop Thomas J. Garland. Addresses were made by Frank Stockdale and L. E. Pratt and the different departmental sessions and conferences were held in various buildings of the university of Pennsylvania during the day.

Scores of Conferences The conferences included the advertising agents, advertising specialty, manufacturers, agricultural publishers, business press, direct mail advertisers, directory publishers, employing lithographers, financial advertisers, graphic arts, magazine publishers, newspaper publishers, poster advertising, religious press, retail advertisers, club secretaries, church advertising, community advertising, export advertising, house organ editors and teachers of advertising. Experts in these varying lines discussed their specialties at these conferences in both morning and afternoon sessions. Women's advertising clubs also held a session in the afternoon while John Hart, of London, delivered an illustrated lecture on "Advertising in the British Isles."

Spectacular Pageant A swimming competition in the University pool; a series of naval maneuvers at the Philadelphia navy yard and in the evening a military and naval tournament at Franklin Field were included in the day's entertainment program which closed with a cabaret under the auspices of the New York club.

The most spectacular last night was one of the most spectacular ever witnessed in this city. The history of advertising, printing and lithographing was shown by some of the 110 floats in the parade which depicted the developments of various industries and portrayed historical incidents of the city, state and union. More than 7,000 delegates from all sections of this country, Canada, Mexico and Europe marched in the parade.

Woman Killed, Many Hurt in Ad Men's Parade Crush

Philadelphia, June 27.—One woman died as the result of being crushed in the crowds which watched the Ad Men's parade last night and sixteen others were either injured or overcome at various points along the route. Two are still in the hospitals, but the rest were able to go to their homes.

Mrs. Margaret Whitley, 51 years old, of Chester, was overcome in the crowd and was removed to a hotel where she died. James Kern had his right leg broken when the crowds broke through ropes.

HUGHES ENDORSED BY PROGRESSIVES

mittee by a vote of 31 to 15 went on record as being opposed to putting a third ticket in the field. The committee voted down a motion to substitute the name of Victor Murdock, of Kansas to fill the vacancy caused by the declination of Theodore Roosevelt to head the Progressive ticket.

This action by the committee followed the receipt and reading earlier in the day of a letter from Theodore Roosevelt in which the former President finally declined to accept the Presidential nomination of the party and strongly urged the organization to support Mr. Hughes. The Colonel's letter was read by Oscar King Davis, secretary of the committee.

Attacks President Wilson Mr. Roosevelt in urging the committee and the Progressive Party to support Mr. Hughes, said that the nomination of a third ticket would be merely a matter of interest of the party, and that the party should not be attacked in his letter, particularly blaming him for the German-American agitation that has developed since the beginning of the war.

Asserting that the people are not ready to accept the leadership of a new party, Mr. Roosevelt urged his followers to face the situation and "get out of it the best that it can be made to yield from the standpoint of the interest of the Nation as a whole."

Mr. Roosevelt paid a strong tribute to the Republican candidate, whose public record, he said, is a guarantee that he will put through a program of clean-cut, straight-out Americanism.

Film Makes Motion The reading of the Roosevelt letter was greeted with applause and at its conclusion William Flinn, of Pennsylvania, moved that Colonel Roosevelt's declination be accepted. The motion was carried by acclamation without an opposing vote.

The meeting of the National Committee of the party was called to order by Matthew Hale, of Massachusetts, vice-chairman, in the absence of Victor Murdock, of Kansas, chairman of the committee.

The message from Colonel Roosevelt was given close attention by the committee.

Among those who favored the endorsement of Hughes were George W. Perkins, of New York; Chester H. Rowell, of California, and Flinn. Opposed to such endorsement were John M. Parker, of Louisiana, Vice-Presidential candidate of the Progressive Party; Matthew Hale, of Massachusetts, and others.

Mr. Parker read to the committee a telegram he received from Colonel Roosevelt June 16 and his reply thereto. The telegram asked a conference with Mr. Parker. In his reply the Vice-Presidential candidate declared he would not support Mr. Hughes, said it was impossible for him (Parker) to visit Mr. Roosevelt and expressed regret at the latter's retirement from politics.

Virgil C. Hinshaw, chairman of the National Committee of the Prohibition Party, renewed his offer for the Progressive Party to amalgamate with the Prohibition Party. Governor Eugene N. Foss, of Massachusetts, a candidate for President on the Prohibition ticket and Daniel A. Polling, of Boston, temporary chairman of the Prohibition National Convention, were with Mr. Hinshaw.

No action was taken regarding the Vice-Presidential nominee. The candidacy of Fairbanks was not endorsed. As matters stood when the committee adjourned, the Progressives still have a regularly nominated candidate for Vice-President.

Progressive Support Is Welcomed by Hughes

Special to the Telegraph New York, June 27.—Charles E. Hughes, Republican nominee for President, sent a telegram to O. K. Davis, secretary of the Progressive National Committee, last night, welcoming the support of the Progressive Party and arraigning the present administration for its "weakness and incertitude."

In making public the contents of the telegram, Mr. Hughes also gave out a letter he had written to Colonel Roosevelt in which he declared that the Nation was indebted to the Colonel for the quickening of the national spirit and for the demand for an out-and-out 100 per cent. Americanism.

Hughes Tells Colonel of Nation's Debt to Him

Charles E. Hughes sent the following letter to Theodore Roosevelt: "Hotel Astor, 'New York City, June 26, 1916. 'My Dear Colonel Roosevelt: I warmly appreciate the cordial letter of endorsement which you have sent to the Progressive committee. No one is more sensible than I of the lasting indebtedness of the nation to you for the quickening of the national spirit, for the demand for an out and out one hundred per cent. Americanism and for the insistence upon the immediate necessity of a thoroughgoing preparedness, spiritual, military and economic. 'I am in this campaign because of my conviction that we must not only frame, but execute, a broad constructive program, and that for this purpose we must have a united party—a party inspired by its great traditions and consecrated to its loftiest ideals. I know that you have been guided in this emergency by the sole desire to be of the largest service to the United States. You have sounded forth the trumpet that shall never call retreat. And I want you to feel that I wish to have the aid that you are able and willing to give. I want the most effective co-operation with all those who have been fighting by your side. Let us work together for our national security and for the peace of righteousness and justice. 'I enclose a copy of my telegram to the committee, in which I have set forth my attitude. I shall later undertake a full discussion of the issues of the campaign. 'Hoping that I may have the pleasure of seeing you at an early day, I am, dear Colonel Roosevelt, with cordial regards, faithfully yours, 'CHARLES E. HUGHES."
