

MEDICAL AID FOR INJURED EMPLOYEE

What Constitutes 'Reasonable' Attention Is Defined by State Officials

What constitutes 'reasonable' medical or surgical attention for an injured employee is a question which the Workmen's Compensation Board is now considering.

During the first fourteen days after disability begins the employer shall furnish reasonable surgical, medical and hospital services, medicines and supplies, as and when needed, unless the employee refuses to allow them to be furnished by the employer.

The Bureau of Medical Education and Licensure working in co-operation with the Division of Hygiene and Engineering, of the Department of Labor and Industry, has submitted to the Compensation Board a statement as to the services it regards as reasonable for the employer to furnish an injured employee.

Copies of this statement are being sent by the Compensation Board to employers, insurance companies, labor unions, newspaper editors, consuls of foreign countries and attorneys, with the request that criticisms or suggestions be made.

The Compensation Board will probably take action on the matter at its meeting in Harrisburg Thursday afternoon, July 6.

Baker from Los Angeles to New York in seven days, eleven hours and fifty-two minutes will be here on exhibition Monday and Tuesday, July third and fourth. Three thousand, three hundred and seventy-one miles of gruelling punishment, contending with all vicissitudes of the roadway over mountain ranges, along precipitous passes, through desert wastes, counting the bigged streams and through roads almost impassable at their best but made worse by courteous Spring rains, this Cadillac hurtled on and finished in record time and demonstrated the mechanical efficiency and endurance of the car.

Maxwell THE SAME CAR FOR LESS MONEY

BEAR in mind that the Maxwell car has not been changed. Nothing like it has ever been offered for the money.

It is standardized. It will not be changed except in minor respects—where we see opportunities from time to time to make refinements and additional improvements.

The new price of $595 is only made possible by our greatly increased production and the fact that we specialize in only one automobile.

Every Maxwell car is identically the same as every other Maxwell car. Last year the Maxwell car represented a big value. Many thousands of satisfied Maxwell owners are the evidence of that.

But this year—at the reduced price of $595—the Maxwell stands out as the one big automobile value of all time.

This announcement will be read by hundreds of automobile dealers as well as prospective retail buyers. To those dealers who wish to know if there is any open territory, we will say that Maxwell sales contracts for 1916-17 are being signed now by our traveling salesmen.

There will be some changes—particularly in the allotment of territory. Therefore, interested dealers, wherever located, should write us now.
