BRITISH TAKE THREE GUNS AND SEVERAL HUNDRED PRISONERS IN THEIR ASSAULT

Now in Possession of Small Wooded District; Berlin Claims Recapture of Trones Wood, LaMoisonette Farm and Village of Barleua

Paris, July 10.—A new attack was launched in the Champagne by the French last night. The war office to-day announced the capture of trenches over a front of 500 meters.

On the Somme front the French took a line of German positions in the neighborhood of Barleux. In this section 950 Germans were captured yesterday and last night.

The Germans made attacks at five points simultaneously in the Vosges but all their assaults were checked completely by the fire of French machine guns.

The French attack in the Champagne was made at a point west of Mesnil. The French troops charged three times.

On the Somme front north of the river the night passed quietly In the Verdun sector artillery fire continued at Chattancourt, Fleury and Lafale.

London, July 10, 3.05 P. M.—British troops have made a new advance northwest of Contalmaison, in the field of their offensive north of the Somme, it was officially announced this afternoon. Three additional guns and several hundred prisoners were captured. The British gain has scored by the capture of a small wooded dis-cabinet has reached an agreement, the terms of which Premier Asquith is to explain this afternoon. In anticipation of the premier's statement virtually all the members of the House of Commons with the exception of those serving at the front, are in London Lo-day. They went to the house early to obtain seats. The Irish Nationalists, many of whom remained with their constituencies until the last moment, to feel the pulse of the electors, were the earliest arrivals at the house. The settlement already has been endorsed by the Nationalists and Ulster parties but is opposed by a small section of the Unionists of England and South Ireland.

The terms of the agreement in general are known, but members of parliament were anxious to learn what inducements had been offered to the Marquis of Lansdowne, Lord Robert Cecil and Walter Hune Long, who offered their resignations from the cabinet, to remain with the government. By Associated Press Paris, July 10.—The new Trench drive south of the Somme river yesterday had been prepared by artillery bombardments for more than two days and the complicated system of German defenses in the loop to the northward made by the river, had been disorganized. The task of artillery preparation had been carried through gisorganized. The task of artillery preparation had been carried through rapidly and the infantry attack probably would have been made sooner had it not been for the bad weather. Yesterday morning the rain at last stopped and the signal for the assault was given. The French troops began to move along a two and a half mile front. The left wing rested on the bridge over the Somme, one mile east of Tormont farm, while the right wing lay a little north of Belloy. The left wing and the center crossed the German trenches with a single bound and progressed rapidly in the direction of Biaches. This village was attacked from two sides, the north and east at once. The Germans defending it resisted energetically but finding themselves in danger of being surrounded, retreated up the left bank of the river by the Peronne road. At 2 o'clock the village was entirely in the hands of the French. Meanwhile the right wing threw the Germans into disorder and arrived at the outskirts of Barleux where the German situation now appears to be precarious.

German situation now appears to be precarious.

French military opinion characterizes the capture of Biaches as a brilliant and important operation. Whether the Germans are still holding on to the network of canals or have retreated to the other bank of the last plateau before the Somme and the Somme, the French position on the important point of support afforded by the capture of Biaches give them direct command of the valley immediately above Peronne.

Asquith Will Explain Agreement of Cabinet in Old Irish Problem

French critics believe that the capture of Peronne now is a question almost of hours.

Under the system of interlocking it was the turn of the right wing to push forward, the other echelons on center and left being saved to effect the moves required of them. The troops south of the Somme apparently had made good use of their breathing spell. When the word was given they moved forward with the precision of a well-olled machine. They swept across the Northern end of the two plateaus which face Peronne, clearing out the German positions and establishing themselves solidly in the trenches, which had been turned into quagmires by the combined efforts of bombardment and incessant Prumfire

The Germans offered the best resistance they could but the French artillery has been keeping up a formidable drumfire upon their lines of communication making it almost impossible for them to gather their reinforcement or food in suitable quantities.

To-day's success is important in that it should enable the French heavy artillery to push forward into a position whence it can pour a fire into the flank and rear of the Germans who are resisting at Combles, four miles to the north and at Clery, half a mile north on the other bank of the London, July 10 -At a moment London, July 10—A* a moment when public interest is centered on the battles proceeding on the astern and western front, parliament is again taking up the century-old Irish problem. After weeks of negotiations which led to the resignation of the Earl of Selbourne as president of the Board of Agriculture, and the partial reconstruction of the ministry, the fishk and rear of the Germans who are resisting at Combles, four miles to the north and at Clery, half a mile north on the other bank of the Somme.

To-day's movement of the French paved the way for the next move of a central echelon for which preparation continued steadily all day, virtually without interference from the Germans.
