

BRITISH CRUSHING LINES OF GERMANS TO LEVEL OF FRENCH

Capture Contalmaison, Marking Notable Progress in Work of Smashing Teutonic Salient Extending From Thiepval and Montauban, North of Somme

BRITISH TAKE 500 MORE PRISONERS

French Within Mile of Peronne; Take 1,300 Captives in Last Two Days; Crown Prince's Forces Occupy First Line Verdun Trenches, but Are Ejected

The British lines north of the Somme are gradually being brought up to a level with those of the French further south.

London today announced the capture of Contalmaison, marking notable progress in the work of crushing the German salient extending from Thiepval on the north and Montauban on the south.

This process has been further accelerated by the taking of several lines of German trenches in Mametz wood southwest of Montauban, while the struggle of the British to regain possession of Trones wood in the Montauban sector, is continuing.

British Hold Montauban The entire village of Montauban is now in possession of the British while the greater portion of the Mametz wood is in their hands, the official statement asserts.

500 More Prisoners Nearly 500 additional prisoners and four pieces of artillery, including a heavy howitzer, have been taken by the British troops.

German attacks at Verdun continue. Paris reports the temporary success of one of the German charges in the vicinity of Fumin Wood but declares the Germans were immediately ejected from the advanced trenches they had captured.

The Austro-Hungarian admiralty announces the sinking by the scout cruiser Novara of a fleet of four or five armored British patrolboats at the lower end of the Adriatic.
