

STUDY INDIAN LORE BY CANOE

Scientists, Exploring Susquehanna For History of Red Men, Visit City

Scientists who are making a trip down the Susquehanna river in search of historical data concerning the Indians will meet to-morrow with the Pennsylvania Historical Commission at the State Library.

Dr. William K. Moorehead, of Andover, Mass., who is the head of the expedition, which started early in May in New York State, with S. R. Moorehead, also of Andover, were in Harrisburg last night. They held a brief conference with George P. Donehoe, of Coudersport, Pa., secretary of the Pennsylvania Historical Commission and State Librarian, Thomas Lynch Montgomery.

Dr. Moorehead left this morning for Aqueduct where he met the other members of his party, and spent the day exploring Haldeman's island and historical points along the Juniata. The party reached Sunbury two days ago and have been exploring the Susquehanna river in that vicinity.

The expedition party numbers nine persons and includes engineers, three Indian guides, Dr. Moorehead and S. R. Moorehead. They have traveled 270 miles in large canoes, built especially for the trip. These canoes will probably be brought to Harrisburg next week. Until Sunbury was reached the explorers camped out on islands, and along the river shore. Plans for continuing the expedition from Harrisburg to Chesapeake Bay will be announced to-morrow. Dr. Moorehead may remain in Harrisburg for some time, and direct his party from this city.

During his stay in Harrisburg last night he denied the stories published in the newspapers that skeletons of burned Indians had been found near Athens, Pa. He said:

"We found 57 skeletons in a prehistoric cemetery there. They may have been 300, 700 or even 1000 years old. I don't know the exact age of them, but they were six feet or more in length—unusually large ones. About one skeleton a number of deer, or possibly elk, antlers had been heaped, and this gave rise to the story that a horned skeleton of a prehistoric Indian had been found. The horns may have been placed there because of some ritualistic rite, but they did not grow on the human skeletons."

Food Riots in France and Belgium Suppressed by German Military

By Associated Press

Rotterdam, July 21 (Via London)—Food riots which broke out in Belgium and Northern France have been suppressed by the German military authorities according to reports received here from reliable sources. The rioting was especially severe at Lieke, Verviers, Roubaix, Renaix, St. Nicholas, Lokorn and Termonde.

The shortage of food which resulted in the riots, according to the relief agencies, was due to the shortage of tonnage which is not likely to be corrected as the German government definitely has refused to consent to the plan to use interned ships to bring relief food and because of the embargo which the German authorities have placed on the import into Belgium and Northern France of native Dutch food supplies which, especially meats and fats, have done much to supplement the supplies sent into the occupied regions by the commission for relief in Belgium.

The quelling of the riots in the populous centers has been followed by the compulsory evacuation from the cities by the German authorities of large sections of the industrial populations. These have been scattered homeless throughout the agricultural regions, the reports say, as punishment and to minimize the risk of a recurrence of the trouble.

The greatest forced migration took place from the city of Lille, from which 25,000 people including women and children, were expelled. These people are not welcome in the rural areas where the problem of relief, while not as acute as in the industrial centers, do not make the people desire any further drain on their limited resources.

Parents Ask Police to "Scare" 6-Foot Youth

Peublo, Col., July 21.—The police have been asked to locate James Andrew Darnier, 16, of Blanca, Col. The boy, who is 6 feet 2 inches tall, ran away from home to this city, where he stayed a few days, then wrote that he was going into the country to work during the summer. His parents want the police to locate him and send him home. The letter states that it was not the desire of the parents to have their son injured, but the police were asked to "scare" him.

"Swell chance of any of our policemen scaring a guy that big," was the only comment the desk sergeant had to make.

PLAGUE DEATHS INCREASE

New York, July 21.—A further decrease in the number of new cases and a slight increase in the number of deaths was shown to-day in the Health Department's bulletin on the epidemic of infantile paralysis. During the last twenty-four hours thirty-two children died of the disease in the greater city and eighty new cases were reported. This compares favorably with yesterday's report which showed thirty-one and new cases 119. Since the beginning of the plague, on June 26, there have been 2,526 cases and 519 deaths.

GENERAL LOGAN A HEAT VICTIM

El Paso, Tex., July 21.—General Albert J. Logan, of the Second Brigade, Pennsylvania National Guard, was removed yesterday from the field hospital here to the base hospital at Fort Bliss. General Logan was prostrated by the heat and his condition was serious. His removal to the base hospital was ordered after an examination by army surgeons. General Logan left Pittsburgh several weeks ago, going to the mobilization camp at Mount Gretna in advance of the Pittsburgh units of the National Guard of Pennsylvania.

GOLD SHIPMENT HOLDING U-BOAT

Arrangements Being Made to Send Back Consignment to Germany

Baltimore, July 21.—Negotiations now said to be pending between the Eastern Forwarding Company and "one of the largest American banking institutions for a big consignment of gold to be sent back to Germany on the submarine merchantman Deutschland, were given as the cause of the delay in the undersea liner's departure from Baltimore, according to an official of the submarine's American agents to-day.

Paul Hilken, the junior member of the Eastern Forwarding Company has been absent from his office here for more than 48 hours and it was said that he is representing his company in the negotiations for the gold. The amount could not be learned.

Believed Allies Will Make Additional Representations

Washington, July 21.—Further protests by the British and French embassies against American recognition of the German submarine Deutschland as a merchantman were considered a possibility by State Department officials. Clearance of the vessel, it was thought, might draw from the allies a more definite objection than the informal complaint lodged at the department on the submarine's arrival.

So far the embassies have suggested that some of the potential warships. Additional representations, it is believed would suggest that the vessel lacks many characteristics essential to a merchantship and might be an attempt to hold the United States liable for damage the submarine might do to allied shipping after she leaves American waters.

Luzerne Progressives and Regulars Form For Hughes

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 21.—Progressives and regulars in the Republican ranks met here yesterday and formed the Hughes Alliance of Luzerne county. The meeting was attended by most of the influential politicians of the county and these officers were elected: Asher Miner, president; George H. Hartman, secretary; Benjamin B. Williams, treasurer.

An executive committee is made up of publishers, businessmen and leading manufacturers. It was decided that the alliance will be a part of the national organization which will work solely in the interest of Hughes and will take part in no other political contest.

LEAMAN HAS NOT BEEN APPOINTED

Selection of a Disbursing Officer For the National Guard Not Announced

Adjutant General Stewart said to-day that Major Jere M. Leaman, of the quartermaster corps at Mt. Gretna had not been appointed to the important place of disbursing officer for the National Guard. It was reported last night that Leaman had been appointed and this caused a belief that the long delayed payment of the National Guardsmen, especially those who went to the camp and were rejected, would be expedited.

"Major Leaman has not been appointed. The only person authorized to act as disbursing officer is myself. The possibility of appointment of Major Leaman has been discussed, but the government has not acted," said he.

General Stewart also said that he had not authorized any appointment of officers in the quartermaster's corps at Mt. Gretna other than those announced some time ago.

The whole recruiting plan for the National Guard remains in the same confusion as early in the week. Appointments of recruiting officers are being announced and they are reporting at Mt. Gretna, but no assignments to stations are being made and while numerous inquiries are put to the recruiting officers they are unable to do anything except to tell those who want to enlist that the way to do it is to go to Mt. Gretna at their own expense.

The State has drawn $20,000 from the military emergency fund in addition to the $45,000 spent on the Allegheny strike and the cost of repairs to the Scranton armory and families and friends of Guardsmen are wondering when they are going to be paid. The emergency appropriation was half a million and from it should have been taken money to put the camp site at Mt. Gretna in better shape than it was when the Guardsmen arrived there. At a time when every effort should be made to attract men to the service there is so much red tape and adherence to archaic methods that people eager to do what they can for the military service are becoming disgusted.

Blacklisted Firms to Consider Formal Protest

New York, July 21.—All of the eighty-two firms blacklisted by Great Britain under the trading-with-the-enemy-act were invited to send representatives to a meeting here to-day for the purpose of considering a formal protest. There was talk in shipping circles of making an attempt to test the validity of Great Britain's position by sending an American ship laden with goods from the blacklisted firms to a neutral port consigned to a neutral, or to an agent of the American owners. Some merchants, however, believed that the meeting should go further than appointing a committee made up of persons whose Americanism cannot be questioned to take up the matter with the State Department at Washington.

OLIVER AND REED AGAIN LOCKED UP

Clash Over Armor Plant Bill; Naval Measure in Final Stage

Washington, D. C., July 21.—The naval bill reached its last stage toward passage in the Senate to-day with opponents of the large building program ready with a fire of amendments for reduction. Democratic Senators, however, are confident the administration program would prevail.

The vote was delayed by a renewal of the controversy between Senator Reed, of Missouri, and Senator Oliver, of Pennsylvania. Senator Penrose, during Mr. Reed's absence, it is denominated the action as a "shameless proposition and an outrage," and declared the company's statements were false and misleading. Senator Oliver challenged Mr. Reed to show the statements he referred to.

"The Senator from Pennsylvania," Senator Reed replied, "had the cool assurance, after admitting that he owned steel stock, to stand up here and attempt to vote money into his own pocket by supporting a bill which would help the Bethlehem Steel Company. If the Senator were a judge he would not be permitted to vote on this issue."

Senator Oliver denounced the statement, asserting that Senator Reed was attempting to avoid his challenge. "I say," continued Senator Reed, "that the Senator from Pennsylvania on this floor admitted he owned a large amount of steel stock and that this stock would be sold to the parent company of a concern engaged in the manufacture of armor plate. The Senator knows that the profits from the defeat of the construction of a Government armor plate plant will increase the price of profits for private armor plants, that the profits will be distributed among its stockholders and that some of those profits will be a musical jingle in the pockets of the distinguished Senator from Pennsylvania."

Senator Gallinger, standing at Senator Reed was overstepping the Senate rule and Vice-President Marshall also intervened. Senator Reed read from the record another passage between himself and Senator Oliver on the same subject. He recalled that the Senate he owned United States Steel stocks valued at $117,000.

Senators Reed, Martine and Vandaman vainly sought to find some means by which the unanimous consent to print the Bethlehem Steel documents could be recorded. Then Senator Reed asked for an order that only 100 of the Bethlehem Steel documents be printed, but Senator Penrose objected.

"Now that Bethlehem Steel Company has been given the franking privilege," said Senator Reed, as the incident ended, "I presume it will be extended to any other corporation big enough to have representatives in the United States Senate."

Snake's Attack on Mother Is Fatal to Unborn Babe

St. Louis, Mo., July 21.—Attacked by a snake in the street in front of her home in the heart of the city, Mrs. Faye G. Prather, 21-year-old bride of a year, is in a serious condition at the Missouri Baptist Hospital here.

An infant to which the young woman gave birth at the hospital is dead, and doctors attribute its death to the shock its prospective mother received. The snake, about 4 1/2 feet long, attacked Mrs. Prather and her mother, Mrs. Alexander Pow, as they were leaving their home two days ago. It ran from the grass near the sidewalk and wrapped itself about Mrs. Prather's ankle. While the daughter screamed, Mrs. Pow attempted to beat the snake off with an umbrella. It turned on her, but an iceman who was passing came to their rescue and killed the reptile with his tongs.

Regardless of a slight wound, Mrs. Prather continued her shopping trip with her mother. No report of the snake's attack was made to the police until to-day. On her return home, however, Mrs. Prather became seriously ill and had to be removed to the hospital. Mrs. Prather is the wife of Faye G. Prather, a bank clerk for the Mortgage Trust Company. They were married secretly about a year ago. The young woman is widely known as a singer.

More Stores Join in Early Saturday Closing

The early Saturday closing movement during August, in which a number of merchants have joined, as announced yesterday, is gaining in popularity. A number of business firms have been in touch with the Chamber of Commerce to-day, asking for assistance, and now have the matter under advisement for final decision. Seven stores have added their names to the long list already published. They are the hardware firms of Martz Brothers and Bretz Brothers; P. G. Deiner, Jeweler; Ladies' Bazaar, women's apparel; G. W. Hines, stoves and tinware; Sol Kuhn & Co., purveyors; Harrisburg Harness and Supply Company, leather goods.

From the interest manifested it is expected that a number of other stores will signify their willingness to join in the movement before the publication of the first advertisement of the Chamber of Commerce on Monday, in which the names of all co-operating merchants will be printed.

The first Saturday on which stores will close at 1 o'clock noon will be Saturday, August 5. These same stores remaining open on the Friday evening preceding, August 4, until 9 o'clock.

Pneumonia Fatal to "Fat" Waugh, Crack A. P. Sender

New York, July 21.—W. L. Waugh, known to telegraph operators throughout the country as "Fat" Waugh died from pneumonia here last night. Mr. Waugh was born in Fulton, N. Y., in 1860, and began his telegraph career as a messenger boy at the age of twelve. He was graduated as an operator for the Western Union at the age of 14, and after a few years of varied employment, entered the service of the Associated Press. Owing to ill health he was placed on the retired list of the Associated Press a few weeks ago.

Waugh's beautiful "Morse" is a tradition not only in the Associated Press service but among telegraphers everywhere. For many years he was the sending operator in New York on the first main trunk circuit between New York and Chicago, and on an special occasions, such as national conventions, he was the sender on what is known as the "bulletin wire." Ill health prevented his detail to the last national conventions and for the first time in twenty years the Associated Press was without the services of one who, in the past, had flashed to the world the nominations of half a dozen presidents and vice-presidents and the candidates who had opposed them.
