

PUBLIC DEMAND FOR STRIKE SETTLEMENT IS WITHOUT RESULT

Railways Company Still Insists It Will Not Recognize Union and Men Will Not Meet Officials Except as Organization; Adjustment of Other Differences Hinges on Recognition; Thorpe Warns of "Forward Labor" Movement Here

MUSSER MEETS COMMITTEE OF LOYAL EMPLOYEES TODAY TO MAKE ADJUSTMENTS

Police Chief Zeil Declares Jitneys Must Get Off Streets When Normal Car Schedules Are Resumed; Dynamite on Tracks at Rutherford; Railways President Denies Rumor He Will Resign and Explains Position of Directorate on Strike

Public demand for a settlement of the street car strike has as yet had no effect.

The Railways Company still insists that it will not recognize the union, but will treat with the men as individuals.

The strikers continue to assert that they will not meet with the company except as a union, but that they are willing and anxious to arbitrate if the union is recognized.

The recognition of the union is the bone of contention. That once settled an adjustment of other differences would be easy.

A meeting of the employees of the Harrisburg Railways Company who did not go out on strike with the union men, was held this morning at the offices of the company. President Frank B. Musser, spoke a few minutes to the men, and explained that he was willing to meet a committee of the employees to discuss wage and working conditions and make adjustments.

A committee representing the nonunion men met with President Musser at 2 o'clock this afternoon to review the working conditions and start plans for readjustment.

Union leaders stated this morning that not one striker attended the meeting of the nonunion employees, and that the men are in the fight to win.

Mayor Meals Gives His Views on Trolley Strike Settlement Possibilities

Mayor Ezra S. Meals who has been suggested as an arbitrator in the strike this morning said: "The demands of the strikers could be arbitrated without recognition of the union by the company I believe. The jitneys operating without a license will be ordered off the streets when there is regular car service, as the Chief of Police explained this morning.

"The strike should be settled. It's costing the city and county money; the strikers and the company are not gaining anything; businessmen are complaining about a decrease in sales, and so far nothing has been done. Jitneys are operating and in some instances machines are being used and overcrowded, so that the safety of the public is at stake.

"The strikers are willing to arbitrate. Let them go to work, get the cars running on schedule, and adjust the trouble. The union can still exist, so can the local division. The convenience of the public should not be taken on recognition, or nonrecognition of the union.

"The authorities are trying to be fair to the strikers and to the company, but the public must be considered. There are a number of competent people in the city who could settle this strike to the satisfaction of both company and strikers."

GERMANS SQUEEZED BY ALLIES ON ALL FRONTS THEY ADMIT

British Capture Important Fortified Town of Pozières Commanding Roads Along Somme; Erzerum Falls Before Russians and Turks Driven From Country; Italians Hold Monte Cimone

GERMAN COUNTER ATTACKS FAIL ALL ALONG LINE; AUSTRIANS FALL BACK

Russians Advance in Slonevka Region, Capture Many Guns and Ammunition; in Riga Section Teutons Make Attacks, but Gain No Ground; Loose Many Prisoners

Successes for the allies on the Franco-Belgian, Russian and Caucasus front are officially announced to-day.

In Turkish Armenia, the Russian Caucasus armies have taken Erzerum the strong Turkish fortress nearly 100 miles west of Erzerum line, its occupation virtually completing the process of clearing the Turks from Armenia.

In Northern France, the British have captured the entire village of Pozières, partial possession of which by the Germans had barred the British path toward Bapaume. Berlin admits British occupation of this village.

In Southern Volhynia, the breach in the Teutonic lines has been widened, according to Petrograd, the Austro-German forces falling back before the Russian advance in the Sloneka region. The Russians are crossing that river, tributary of the Styr, and pressing forward. They announce the capture of five guns, six machine guns, quantities of material and many prisoners, some 500 of whom have been brought in.

Sharp fighting has taken place on the Russian front in the Riga region and that of Baranovich, north of Pinsk. The Germans were the assailants in these sectors, but failed to gain ground.

In the Trentino, the Italians have held the summit of Monte Cimone, just captured from the Austrians, against violent counter attacks.
