at which the athletes of the three schools will compete.

The "war" canoe race, however, will be only one of a dozen or more events that will make the 1916 Labor Day regatta memorable in the city's history. At a meeting last evening of the "navy" executive board a whole lot of preliminaries for "the Day" were arranged. Here is the tentative program, subject of course, to addition or subtraction:

Two-mile motorboat race.

100-yard swim for boys under 16.
Tilting match.

100-yard swim for boys under 16. Tilting match.
100-yard swim, for entrants over 16. Umbrella race.
100-yard swim for girls.
Obstacle cance races, doubles for leaf-fully cance races, doubles for len, girls and "mixed" crews.
Quarter-mile swim.
Tub race.

The events will all be run off in the afternoon and an arrangement of floats will be followed whereby sufficient space will be provided for starting all of the entrants in each event at one time. This will prevent the long drawn out program due to "heats." The importance of the dam will be apparent by Labor Day, too, incidentally, because there will be ample water, in the opinion of the rivermen, to make possible the laying out of courses closer to shore. Policing arrangements were practically decided upon last evening, too. The western side of the course will be marked by a string of flats placed at 200 to 300 foot intervals from Market street to a point well above South street to a point well above South street to a point well above South street. Between these flats ropes will be stretched. The eastern side of the course will be the river front wall—so that the "front steps of Harrisburg" may serve as a grandstand. Motor police boats will keep this big stretch of the basis clear throughout the regard at a shand dechols, special issues as Mexican Petro-leum, Marine, Pfd. will be anchored the proper distance above the finish line. Thus all the events will be concentrated.

The decorated boat parade in the evening will likely begin at a point above Kelker street and move down stream. When the flagship reaches the lower basin, the entire stretch of river, it is expected, will be flooded with big search lights. Bands on floats and in the parks will add to the gaiety of things—and then will come the fireworks.

rushing express trains were of such things as dream are made.

The hotel properties include Nos. 1019-21-23 North Seenth street and the sale is considered of unusual significance in realty circles. For the last year or so values in that section have felt the gradual clearing out of the Capitol Park extension zone and realty men have watched with considerable interest the many transfers. The sale of the Gramm hotel property, hower, is the largest.

The new owners, it is understood, will remodel the hotel and otherwise put it into shape for a modern hostelry.

PENNSYLVANIA TO EMPLOYES OF GLOBE CLOTHING STORE HOLD ANNUAL OUTING AT HERSHEY PARK

About 100 employes, wives and friends of the Globe Clothing House, dressed in white hats and white suits, left the store about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, for their second annual picnic and outing at Hershey Park. The party was taken to the grounds in three large auto trucks, decorated with flags and bunting. The commissary department was under the direction of Thomas Thornely, who had the tables spread for luncheon when the picnickers arrived.

arrived.

The guest of honor was George R. Bookman, of Philadelphia, originator of the Right Posture Health Suits for boys. After luncheon, a baseball game was played between the Blues and the Grays, two teams of the Globe Right Posture League, the Grays winning by the score of 5 to 4. After supper, a number of short speeches were made by prominent men present. Mr. Strouse announced the appointment of H. A. Plank, as assistant general manager of the store and the promotion of R. B. Robinson to manager of the men's clothing department. After the speeches, prizes for the events were awarded to the winners of the events, as follows:

Appearances of Motor Car
Like New With Little Care

"Keep your car looking well," says
E. C. Ensminger, distributor of the Dort motorcars. He makes some interesting comparisons reminiscent of the "old days," when the horse-drawn buggy occupied the place now so much more efficiently filled by the motor car.

"I can remember," says Mr. Ensminger, "driving out in the country with my father, time and again, after rainstorms, and how careful he was to avoid each mud puddle, and how he would turn out for them, especially if our buggy had just been washed.
In those days people were proud of the appearance of their buggies and they were ashamed to be seen driving an unwashed or shabyb buggy.

Contrast this with the attitude of the average motorist to-day. Does he take the same care of the appearance of this car? Emphatically, he does not.
The result is the very great number of dilapidated, and mud-scarred cars, that one sees on the streets to-day. It is also the cause of considerable dissatisfaction on the part of the owners, who do not realize, until it is too late,
that their own lack of care is alone to blame for the looks of their cars, and the finish is too far gone to be renewed without painting.

If you take care of your own car, do this work yourself, but if you keep it

Secret of Goodrich Compounding Explained

'Few people realize the tremendous importance of the chemist in the rub-ber business," says W. F. Mower, of the B. F. Goodrich company. "Pure rubber, merely volcanized, would never do—it would be too soft, too yielding, too easily worn out. So the chemist compounds. He mixes certain chemi-cals to either toughen or stiffen or make more pliable the rubber-ac cording to the product.

You could not, for example, use the same compound in a water bottle that you would in a tire—they are intended for different purposes.

"Why is it one brand of tires will give wonderful satisfaction while another, under the same conditions, will fall down completely? You cut then open—to all appearances they are made about the same. The secret is in the compounding of the materials. That's why Goodrich quality has a wonderful, real understandable meaning. We have in our development department some of the keenest minds the rubber world affords and they are backed up by 47 years of cumulative Goodrich rubber knowledge. And they are leaders—not imitators. Take automobile tires—it is a fact they are leaders—not imitators. Take automobile tires—it is a fact they are leaders—tories of the B. F. Goodrich Company. These laboratories are wonderfully equipped—they are really a miniature factory. And the products they turn out have been tested to a degree that would astonish the layman. We always produce to test—not to theory. Any new product that comes from Goodrich is new only to you. Goodrich knows it—has, proven it—and stakes their reputation that it is right."
