PENNSYLVANIA IS STATE OF MANY VALLEY TOURINGS

Grand Circuit of Counties Is Rich with Picturesque Stretches.

HISTORY ENHANCES TRIP Routes Through the Eastern and Western Sections Great Rivals.

With mountain scenery of the most with mountain scenery of the most varied type, possessing spots interwoven with Revolutionary and Civil War history, Pennsylvania offers to her motorists a wealth of automobile tours unsurpassed by any state. Four mighty rivers belong to Pennsylvania, and where there is a great river there is a ribbon of scenic beauty. Moreover, our ribbon of scenic beauty. Moreover, our state is rich in sequestered valleys, many of them are isolated from the world and inaccessible to any but motorists. Amongst these are the quant communities of the Dutch and Shaker world and inaccessible to any but motorists. Amongst these are the quaint communities of the Dutch and Shaker settlements.

Pennsylvania is indeed the state of beautiful valleys. Let the automobilist, standing at the threshold of his vacation, set forth in his car and discover his home land state. It makes little difference where he starts, or in what direction he goes, his course will traverse a natural park land.

A grand tour, however, that will circumscribe most sections of the state, and disclose every phase of the state's activity and development, and one that will link many historical spots, takes Pittsburgh and Philadelphia as its natural basic points. The motorist of Pennsylvania may connect with this grand tour at his nearest point and travel it in any direction he desires. Setting forth, let us say from Pittsburgh the tourist travels south through the so-called "coke" district, but which was as famous a region for travelers in the old stage-coach days. He passes through Washington, Waynesburg and, reaching Uniontown, turns north to Greensburg. From Greensburg he strikes east for Ligonier, a territory rich in historical interest, the site of an old fort and the scene of the early Indian fights. Two miles out of Ligonier is the home of General St. Claire, friend of the early solonists.

From Ligonier the highway gradu-

From Ligonier the highway gradually ascends and the tourist passes through in the Westmoreland County State Game Preserve. Further on he visits Bedford, an historical old town. At the foot of the valley lies McConnellsburg, the seat of Fulton County, the only county in the State of Pennsylvania that cannot boast of a mile of railroad.

Battlefield of Gettysburg

The next objective point is Chambersburg, where the Confederate Army invaded the North. To the east lies the town of Gettysburg and its famous battlefield.

From Gettysburg the route goes east through the heart of the famous Pennsylvania Dutch" country, a land of snug, comfortable homes and large stables. Many structures here date back to the Revolutionary War.

After a visit at Philadelphia, the of snug, comfortable homes and large stables. Many structures here date between the productionary War. After the Revolutionary War. After the Revolution and the War.
