GEN. GREGG OF WAR FAME DIES

Was Last Union General Fighting at Gettysburg; Served as Auditor General

GENERAL DAVID McM. GREGG

Reading, Pa., Aug. 8.—General David McMurtree Gregg, former Auditor General of Pennsylvania and the last of the Union officers ranking as general, who fought at Gettysburg, died here last night. He was a native of Huntingdon, this State, and was 82 years old. He was educated at West Point and saw service on the frontier before the Civil War. At Gettysburg he wrote his name high on the scroll of fame. After the war he resided in August of the same year and took up his residence in Reading. For eighteen years he was Pennsylvania Department Commander, Military Order of the Loyal Legion, and later served as commander-in-chief.

In 1891 he was named for Auditor General of Pennsylvania by the Republicans and elected by a large majority. He leaves two sons, George S. and David McM. Gregg, both of this city.

He declined to become a candidate for Governor.

General Gregg was born in Huntingdon, April 10, 1833. His parents were Matthew Duncan Gregg and Ellen McMurtree, who is his grand-aunt.

Andrew Gregg, Representative in Congress from Pennsylvania from 1791 to 1807, was his great-grandfather from 1807 to 1813. His great-grandfather was General Potter, of Revolutionary War fame, his direct ancestor.

David Gregg, was a captain in Oliver Cromwell's army during the English Revolution.

General Gregg was engaged in more than forty battles during the Civil War. He was promoted gradually until he was a brigadier general and breveted a major general. He resigned from the army in 1865, but was appointed and retired a captain in 1902 by Congress under a bill presented by Senator Penrose.

The general's death occurred after an illness of a month due to general debility. In his last few days his condition became aggravated by the intense heat. His wife died a year ago.

News of the death of ex-Auditor General D. McM. Gregg was received at the Capital with great regret to-day as the general had been a conspicuous figure on Capitol Hill for years. In the early seventies he had been a frequent visitor here on business and the high regard in which he was held by the people of Pennsylvania was shown when he was elected Auditor General by a big majority.

General Gregg was a member of changes in business methods at the department of which he was the head and established the 8 o'clock hour of work. He was very well liked by everyone with whom he came into contact.

During his term of office General Gregg sided for this city and his family were prominent in Harrisburg social life. One of his sons, David Gregg was during the Spanish-American war.

The general made a number of addresses at various meetings in this city and was always given the heartiest greetings by the veterans.

General Gregg ran for Auditor General when Captain John W. Morrison, deputy commissioner of banking, ran for State Treasurer.

Prominent Williamsport Corporation Lawyer Dies

Williamsport, Pa., Aug. 8.—Seth T. McCormick, prominent corporation lawyer, died at his home here of oedema of the lungs. He was a native of Lycoming county and was 55 years old. The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Mr. McCormick was a son of Seth T. McCormick, the first of the well-known lawyers of the McCormick name in this county. He studied in the offices of his father and his brother, the late Henry Clay McCormick, former Attorney General of Pennsylvania, and was admitted to the bar four days after his twenty-first birthday.

He was a director of the Northern Central Trust Company and interested in a number of business enterprises. His wife died a few months ago.

A son, William C. McCormick, is a corporal in Battery D, now on the border. Although he has not been in good health for some time, Mr. McCormick's death was unexpected. He had returned Saturday evening from Cape Vincent, where he spent a week, and appeared much improved in health.

HOW HE QUIT TOBACCO

This veteran, S. B. Lamphere, was addicted to the excessive use of tobacco for many years. He wanted to quit but needed something to help him.

He learned of a free book that tells about tobacco habit and how to conquer it quickly, easily and safely. In a recent letter he writes: "I have no desire for tobacco any more. I feel like a new man."

Any one desiring a copy of this book on tobacco habit should write to J. B. Montgomery, 600—Either Phone, Third and Chestnut Streets, Harrisburg, Pa.

Keeping Yourself Well BUILDING UP STRENGTH

After a severe illness, or sometimes without that misfortune, many people do not gain strength as they should. Often this is because the food taken is not relished and does not go to the making of rich blood.

Nature should then be aided. It will usually be the case that in the mucous membranes that line most of the body there will be areas of stagnation, with the blood engorged instead of circulating. When these are in the stomach or bowels the food ferments when it might be making strength.

Peruna dispels stagnation in these membranes, invigorates the digestion, tones up the bodily functions, overcomes all catarrhal conditions and starts the organs to working properly. After illness it is a good tonic, used by all with safety.

Liquid or tablet form—each with the same principles—whichever is more convenient, or may be used together.

Maaloxin is the ideal laxative. It cleans the waste from the system, tones up the liver and helps you to overcome the constipation habit.
