PATTON GAVE DR. SURFACE NOTICE

Secretary Says That Talk About Force, Etc., Will Be Taken Up Later On

Secretary of Agriculture Charles E. Patton to-day declared that all legal requirements in connection with the dismissal of Dr. H. A. Surface, the State zoologist, had been complied with and that the claim of the scientist that he had not been formally notified that his term would end on August 15 was unfounded.

When asked if formal notice had been given to Dr. Surface, the secretary said that he had given it himself. Mr. Patton also secured the consent of Governor Brumbaugh to the change in the office and the approval of the executive to the invitation to Professor J. G. Sanders, of Wisconsin, to take the place.

The only comment the secretary would make on Dr. Surface's assertion that unless the Governor approves of the action of the Commission of Agriculture in dismissing him, "physical force" would be the only thing to separate him from his office, was "That is a matter to be met later."

ENORMOUS FRUIT CROP PREDICTED

orchards, covering about 5,000 acres, yesterday. The entire fruit belt of the county covers approximately 10,000 acres, of which 4,000 are bearing fruit at present. Sixteen automobiles were furnished by members, who acted as pilots and guides, and more than sixty trees were taken through the many peach and apple orchards.

Leaving Goodyear at 8:30 o'clock in the morning, the autos wound around the floor of the new Hershey building, Front and Market streets. The rooms are being fitted up expressly for the school and when completed and furnished will be one of the most up-to-date institutions of its kind in the state, it is said.

The principal professor, James H. DePue, is a Princeton University man of wide experience in educational work and has an unqualified endorsement from the largest corporation in the country.

Mr. DePue, it is said, is president of the Interstate Educational Bureau of Washington, D. C., and has until recently been director in several large business corporations, retiring to give his entire time and attention to the institution about to open in Harrisburg.

There are several unique and distinguishing features about the school. In the first place it will be strictly a school for young men—a feature that should appeal to many parents as well as young men themselves. The enrollment of the school will be limited and only those who can be recommended and who possess necessary qualifications will be admitted.

Another feature is the fact that each

Season Now Under Way
Among the big plants visited were the Musselman canning factory at Gardners, the Adams County Fruit Packing and Distributing Company plant, where the first shipments of apples and peaches were being ascertained and graded, and the Biglersville storage plant, where 32,000 barrels of fruit are stored each year.

Luncheon was served on the lawn at the home of the Tyson brothers, after which the party again toured throughout many miles of orchards. All of the processes used in handling the two fruits were explained on the trip.

That the fruit industry in the county is flourishing is shown by the organization of five national banks within the last ten years, each with a capitalization of $25,000 at Fairfield, York Springs, Bendersville, Biglerville and Arendtsville.

The association of the fruit growers was organized at Little school house near the Tyson brothers orchards at the time when the San Jose scale was causing big losses to crops.

Have Legislative Committee
The members particularly interested in legislation and have appointed a committee to handle this branch of work. The committee includes F. B. Priest, chief of R. M. Eldon and C. J. Tyson. An apple grading and packing law may be advocated in the next session of the Legislature in order to improve the quality of fruit by compelling packers to put their names and addresses on all boxes and barrels.

ceived and automobile traffic took a big drop.

No arrests were made this morning and Chief of Police Zell said that he does not believe that any drivers will attempt to operate without licenses as long as they are so far and known. The streets early this morning, when the ban went into effect.

With only the licensed jitneys on the job, the number of passengers on trolley cars increased to-day according to Railway officials. Strikers and union leaders claim that public sympathy is still with them and that the majority of people who work on the city lines according to trolley officials.

Last night two cars crashed together at Second and Walnut streets, and several persons were badly shaken. According to witnesses the first car stopped suddenly and the second one bumped into it.

At Second and Walnut streets, this morning one of the trucks of a Riverside car passed over a set switch, crashing into a Harrisburg Transfer Company wagon, driven by William Schell, 1908 Greenwood street. One was injured.

To-night a mass meeting will be held in Highspire and arrangements are being made by the strikers to hold another one to-morrow evening at Thirteenth and Market streets, with labor organizers as speakers. On Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock a meeting of journeymen tailors will be held in the Federation of Labor headquarters to complete permanent organization.

A meeting of boot and shoe workers will be held next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock under the direction of Organizer George Disney.

Thirty other automobile drivers met this afternoon, at 24 North Third street, to complete arrangements for organizing a Chauffeur's Union. Organizers Thorpe and Roach had charge, and application will be made, it is understood, to the National Association for a charter.

New Business School For Young Men Opens Soon

The Young Men's Business Institute which will open in Harrisburg the first Monday in September and which will be principally a secretarial school, reports having already enrolled quite a number of young men.

The management of this school has leased for a number of years the second floor of the new Hershey building, Front and Market streets. The rooms are being fitted up expressly for the school and when completed and furnished will be one of the most up-to-date institutions of its kind in the state, it is said.

The principal professor, James H. DePue, is a Princeton University man of wide experience in educational work and has an unqualified endorsement from the largest corporation in the country.

Mr. DePue, it is said, is president of the Interstate Educational Bureau of Washington, D. C., and has until recently been director in several large business corporations, retiring to give his entire time and attention to the institution about to open in Harrisburg.

There are several unique and distinguishing features about the school. In the first place it will be strictly a school for young men—a feature that should appeal to many parents as well as young men themselves. The enrollment of the school will be limited and only those who can be recommended and who possess necessary qualifications will be admitted.

Another feature is the fact that each student is furnished with his own individual typewriter of any standard make he may choose. This machine, which is used exclusively by the student while attending the school, becomes his property on completing his course.

Still another departure will be a board of examiners composed of disinterested local accountants, bankers and businessmen who will attend the final examinations, inspect the work and thoroughly test the applicants for diplomas in every way possible, that there may be no mistake as to the efficiency of the graduate. These representative men composing the board of examiners sign the diplomas when thoroughly satisfied as to the fitness of the student, thus giving the graduates of this school the personal endorsement of at least eight prominent local men.

THIEVES UNSUCCESSFUL

Thieves made an unsuccessful attempt to enter the Colonial apartments in Market street, opposite the police station, last night. It is also the belief that an attempt was made to enter the Keystone Auto Company's salesrooms, as a door to the latter was found open. Lieutenant Ed. Wetzell, Superintendent of Detectives William L. Windsor and Detective George Shuler who heard noises in the vicinity of the Colonial apartments, made an investigation, climbing the fire escape to the roof, but found no robbers.

PEN MAR COTTAGER WEARS RATTLESNAKE SKIN CLOTHING

Special to the Telegraph
Waynesboro, Pa., Aug. 11.—F. J. Lubbenhus, of West Fayette street, Baltimore, who is spending the summer at Arbutus cottage, Pen Mar, wore a much more imposing style of paraphernalia than even the Patriarchs militant at the park yesterday. Mr. Lubbenhus sallied forth in genuine Blue Ridge mountain rattlesnake attire. The outfit consists of a vest, belt and tie of real rattlesnake skin and was the star sensation of the day. Mr. Lubbenhus had the garments made by a Baltimore clothier from skins secured from rattlesnake hunters in the Blue Ridge Mountains. The ends of the tie are tassled out with strings of rattles taken from the dead reptiles.
