TRAVEL IS HEAVY ON PENN HIGHWAY
than at any time this summer, and greater this summer than since the automobile came into general use. East-west travel over the William Penn Highway is growing heavier daily, and is expected to reach 1916's high water mark in October, admittedly the greatest touring month of them all.

Local William Penn Highway headquarters have been besieged for touring information for some time. Not until this association began publicizing the Central Pennsylvania Highway was it generally known that the road between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia was in excellent condition throughout.

Route books and maps, no matter by whom issued, have given the central route scant consideration. While some of the guides contain the highway routing from Central Pennsylvania localities to Philadelphia, not one of them contains the information that travel on the "old northern pike" is enjoyable all the way from the Ohio line to Philadelphia.

The William Penn Highway will not only be a map containing running directions for motorists and marketing information for farmers. This will show the Penn way with laterals in every county, and roads leading to every section of this and bordering States.

Donahy to Come Here
J. W. Donahy of Pittsburgh, Allegheny county governor for the William Penn Highway, is expected in Harrisburg Friday or Saturday on his way home from Atlantic City where he has spent the last week.

Mr. Donahy is touring what is known as "The Keystone Tour," which will begin and end at either Philadelphia or Pittsburgh, and will take tourists through the State's prettiest scenery. The William Penn Highway will be part of this tour, and a two or three-day schedule will be prepared. It is possible of course, to make this William Penn journey in a single day, but real pleasure seekers will take two or three days. Harrisburg will be a night control, no matter whether two or three days are given the William Penn. The entire tour will consume four or five days, and Mr. Donahy said the other day that with a day at Gettysburg and a day in Philadelphia, an entire week may be given over to the trip.

That William Penn travel is growing heavier as time passes is evidenced by the fact that on Sunday four weeks ago in Ebersburg, Cambria county, 178 cars passed through the town in 180 minutes, while last Sunday 207 cars were counted on the highway in 180 minutes.

Local offices of the William Penn Highway will after this week be able to give positive information regarding the road in any locality, inasmuch as officials in each county will report each Monday the progress made in new work, the stretches demanding attention, the weather conditions and other things of this sort.

Mrs. William Reed and Miss Ella Walmer Reed of Hummelstown are home after visiting at the summer place of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Reed of Philadelphia at Island Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Fuller and daughters of Whitehall street are home after a delightful automobile trip to New York and New England.

Miss Lottie Zeigler and Miss Olive Zeigler are spending the week-end in Atlantic City.

Mrs. Stanton Wilson of Calder street is home after a little trip to Lancaster.

Mrs. James C. Taylor and son, Robert Bruce Taylor of Johnstown, are guests at the home of the former's uncle, Dr. C. M. Ewing, 1500 North Sixth street.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Sharon and Master Bernard L. Sharon will return Sunday after a week's stay in Atlantic City.

Miss Jessie Cummings of North Front street is visiting at her home in Mt. Union for several weeks.
