

OF INTEREST TO THE WOMEN

ROADS TO SOMEWHERE

A New and Interesting Series By GRACE DARLING

(Copyright, 1916, International News Service.)

Millions of girls are looking for the road that leads to the glittering Palace of Success. They don't find it and they wonder why. I can tell them. It is because they don't look in the right place. They are not willing to begin their search for the path that leads to success begins.

The Truth of It Not a bit of it. The successful woman invariably starts at the bottom, and who did not count any work too hard to do it if it taught her a little bit more about her trade and set her one inch farther on the road toward the realization of her ambition.

GIRLS WHO ARE DANGEROUS

By DOROTHY DIX

To each man his own fear of some particular type of girl, for in order that there might be bachelors in the world to fill in at dinner parties act as godfathers to other people's "kids," and all Wise Providence has ordained that the woman who is as fatal as angina pectoris to one man doesn't even raise a flutter of the pulse in another.

But there is something about you that makes me doubt you. Why, oh why must it be? You dare me, you scare me. And still I like you more each day. But you are the kind that will charm, and then do harm.

Here she comes, brother. It's 11 o'clock at night in a make-believe grape arbor atop of a hotel where everything is as artificial as the grape vines to the winds that flutter the table cloths. Enter the Siren, Gold in hair, painted snow on her brow, painted roses on her cheeks and mouth. Look of the huntress in her eyes. Laughter that is like the crackling of thorns on her lips. The foolish girl branded her as a Dangerous Girl but she's dangerous only to men who are in their first or second childhood.

Among the problems that confront poultrymen at this season is "segregating the cockerels and marketing the surplus breeders." This operation is a problem over which many poultrymen have stumbled, and where mistakes are not discovered until it is too late. It is wrong to think that all yearling hens should be discarded, regardless of their previous performances.
