ALLIANCE FORMS ROTARIANS HEAR TO BOOST HUGHES OF BOY SCOUTS

Important Organization of In- Lewis Buddy, Field Commisfluential Republicans Withsioner, Addresses Noonday in Pennsylvania Luncheon

"The city's greatest asset is the boy; the boy is worth protecting more than anything else in the world, be-cause in this way you get at the whole social system," was one of the statements made at the Rotary luncheon at the Columbus Hotel at noon to-day by Lewis Buddy, field commissioner of the Boy Scouts of America. Mr. Buddy is here for the purpose of stimulating interest in the Scout movement with the ultimate purpose of stimulating interest in the Scout movement with the ultimate purpose of organing Harrisburg to the maximum Scout capacity and of acout executive. The maximum Scout capacity and of acout executive. The scout executive of both or-sanizations. Mr. Buddy continued along the same lines with the remark that he "would rather be a Rotarian and a Scout tast the sense that the scout is the watchword of both or-sanizations. Mr. Buddy continued along the same lines with the remark that he "would rather be a Rotarian and a Scout tast the city is no greater than the standard of its citizenship, and a citizen is no greater than the amount of personal service that he gives the city." he added, "and the Eoy Scouts are being trained in the adolescent period in a way that will develop them into the best sort of citizens when they show he termed "regular Fellow" The speaker told some entertaining heit doit" spirit is embpasized in the dealings of the scoutmasters with the boys. And one of the fatures of the organization is its nonsectarian na-ture, which, Mr. Buddy asys, is one of the greatest things about it. It is, moreover, absolutely nonmilitary, for he reason that the leaders do not think it wise to instill militaristic ideas and the scout gets the same discipline as the soldier, with the difference that the scout drills without arms. The study and history of the flag is one of the important parts of the boy's work. Each scout must take the oant to 'do a good turn" every day, and a 'do a turn is more than an ordinary courtesy. It implies a sacrifice that is real. Many scouts have adopted the method of "The city's greatest asset is the boy; the boy is worth protecting more Organization of the Hughes Allince in the State of Pennsylvania as a State unit in the National Hughes Alliance, which is to enlist nationwide support for the Republican ticket this Fall by organizing the voters of all parties who are opposed to the continuation of the Wilson ad-ministration, has been set up in Pennsylvania on a comprehensive scale.

Leading Progressives, Democrats, E Independents and regular Republi-cans are rallying to the support of a the Hughes Alliance in the State of Pennsylvania in a way that augurs a the development of one of the most thorough independent organizations in behalf of a presidential candidate that a sponse to a recent letter from W. t General of the Philippines, and now president of the National Hughes Al-liance, authorizing the organization of the Pennsylvania Alliance, as well as a letter from Republican National Chairman Willcox conveying the sanc-tion of Governor Hughes and the na-tional committee for the work now being done in Pennsylvania, the or-ganization of a General State Com-mittee to supervise the campaign for Justice Hughes in this State in con-Justice Hughes in this State in con-Justice Hughes in this State in con-function with the National Hughes Alliance has been undertaken and is now being successfully accomplished. Ninety messages of acceptance al-ready have been received at the head-quarters of the Pennsylvania Alli-canc, which have been established at 1524 Chestnut street, Philadelphia. These acceptances are from men who in the past have been prominently identified with the affairs of the Washington party, and with the Dem-ocratic party, and from Republicans who have participated in strong in-dependent political movements, and regular Republicans as well. Notable among Progressives who have aligned themselves with the Hughes' movement are William Dra-per Lewis, former Progressive can-didate for Governor; H. D. W. Eng-lish of Pittsburgh, who in 1912 was a Progressive elector; Lewis Emery, Jr., of Bradford, former Independent candidate for Governor; Edward B. Smith, the Philadelphia banker; Thomas Robins, close associate of Colonel Roosevel; Colonel Sheldon Potter and others. Notable among Republicans who have entoiled as members of the com-mittee are J. Benjamin Dimmick of Scranton, who was a candidate for Yoters of Reading; Alba E. Johnson, president Baldwin Locomotive Works; Alexa

Their orders were not to attempt to retain Florina if they were attacked. The Serbian War Offce says the Bulgar-lans were thrown back on their old positions, but that later the Serbians, following instructions, evacuated Flor-ina. which the Bulgarians then occupied. The Serbians retired slowly and later delivered a heavy counter attack against a large Bulgarian force de-bouching from Florina toward Ban-ciat. Fighting continues in this region. British Make Gains In the center, British and French forces near Lake Doiran followed an immense bombardment with infantry attacks, in which the British occupied the strategic point of Dolzzeli. Far-ther east the French right grushed a series of small villages in much the manner the French right cariled vil-lages on the Somme front. The situation along the whole line is regarded in Paris as satisfactory for the Allies. There is every indica-tion that the preliminary operations are extending rapidly.
