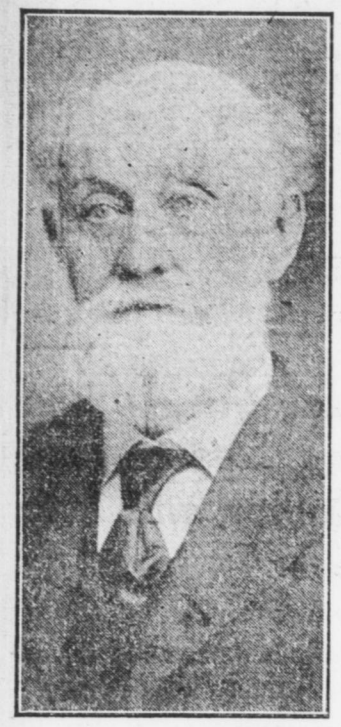
President Theodore B. Klein of Historical Society of Dauphin County to Celebrate Birthday



THEODORE B. KLEIN

One of the pleasantest things the social editor of the Telegraph has to do is once a year on this day, print an announcement that "to-morrow is the birthday anniversary of one of the best loved men of the city, President Theodore B. Klein, of the Historical Society of Dauphin County." Mr. Klein will celebrate his eighty-fifth birthday at Sunset Hall, Wernersville, where he and Mrs. Klein are enjoying several weeks in the mountains. Cards and good wishes from a host of friends will be sent to him there, for everyone loves to honor "Dorie" Klein who has done so much for his native city during a long and eventful life.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Underwood, of Schenectady, N. Y., were recent visitors at the home of James Burchfield and family of Market street.

How to Beautify a Summer Soiled Face

It's really a simple matter to renovate a face soiled by sun, winds or dirt. Ordinary mercolized wax, used like cold cream, will transform the worst old complexion into one of snowy whiteness and velvety softness. It literally peels off this outer veil of surface skin, but so gently, gradually, there's no discomfort. The wornout skin comes off, not in patches, but evenly, in tiny particles, leaving no evidence of the treatment. The younger, healthier underskin forming the new complexion, is one of captivating loveliness. One ounce of mercolized wax, to be had at any drugstore, is enough to remove any tanned, reddened, pimpled, freckled or blotchy skin. Apply before retring, washing it off mornings.

Many skins wrinkle easily with every wind that blows, with heat, worry, etc. An excellent wrinkle remover, because it tightens the skin and strengthens relaxed muscles, is a wash lotion made as follows: Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in witch hazel, ½ pt. This gives immediate results.

SHUT OFF NEWS FROM SOLDIERS

Boys May Write Letters Home, but Not Tell Official News

STORM HITS CAMP HARD

Plays Havoc With Tents and Equipment; Co. D Has First Rifle Practice

Special to the Telegraph

Camp Stewart, El Paso, Tex., Aug. 21.—No more camp news will be given out by special correspondents to their home papers, according to a report that reached here Saturday from General Funston's headquarters. Soldiers may write home and tell of their experiences in camp, but signed articles and special news must go out through headquarters.

What brought this about has not been explained. However, there will be letters to the editors, and the boys will continue to tell how they are getting along. Information regarding movements of troops, hikes, special drills, etc., will be told about officially from headquarters. A general opinion prevails here that the quietus on the news is because of the desire to keep the Mexicans from being informed as to what is going on along the United States border.

Extracts from letters sent home:

"I have told you before that we had no rain here—at least not enough to properly lay the dust. Last night we had a real rain, accompanied by a terrific wind that blew down tents and snapped off tent poles, and in many cases ripped up canvas. This storm came from the southeast and entered the valley between the mountains.

"Picture a valley much wider than the Cumberland at any place, and perfectly level, bounded on either side by ragged mountains—one side so far away as to be only an outline at night, the other standing out in bold relief against the sky and to all appearances about 1,000 yards away, but in reality about three to six miles.

"The rain poured and the wind blew, yet so bright was the moon that I had no trouble to read the addresses on the evening mail, which I distributed to the men by its light.

Rare Rainbow Scene

"More remarkable still was the presence of a rainbow, which touched the mountain at each end of it (that is apparently touched it) and was as bright and brilliant as any I have ever seen and much longer. I have never seen such a sight and I have not come in contact with any one who has seen anything to equal it.

"I have spoken about the generosity of the civilian population before. Last night the University Club of El Paso gave an entertainment back of our camp at the Mt. Franklin Country Club to all graduates or post graduates—in fact, they asked no questions of any one. There were songs, yells and plenty to eat and drink. They even gave the buckets and tubs they used for drinks and lemonade to the soldier guests for wash tubs.'

News From Company D

"Company D has now been encamped here four weeks, and it certainly has been a busy four weeks for the Harrisburgers. In checking back to our arrival here, we find that we are now a more efficient and organized unit; every man is fully equipped, ready for the field, and with the instruction and drilling we have had down here are almost ready to be classed as regulars. The men respond to their different duties promptly and willingly and all seem well satisfied with the instruction they are receiving.

"Last Tuesday evening members from Company D attended the dedicatory exercises of the Y. M. C. A. hut, erected near the Third Brigade headquarters for the comfort of Pennsylvanians. Major General Clement presided and one hour was devoted to dedicating the building, and the introduction of the secretaries. This Y. M. C. A. certainly is an oasis in the desert for the men in camp.

First Rifle Practice

"Saturady the company was out at the rifle range for a little target practice, and many of the men fired the rifle for the first time. The company made a very good average score and it would go pretty hard with Villa or his bandits if they ever came in contact with Company D.

"The company has now an organized baseball team and played their first game this afternoon, winning from the K. of C. team, 22 to 8. A league is being formed, and in a few days the boys will be having lively tilts on the diamond, relieving the monotony of the morning drill and making a fellow feel as though he were playing on the lot back home.

"The Harrisburg boys who were transferred to the machine gun company are rapidly learning the different parts of the new Leur's type gun, and in a test of speed in assembling are second to none in the entire Pennsylvania division.

"The boys of Company D received their first experience of hiking Friday morning, when the Eighth regiment, headed by Colonel Finney, made about a six-mile hike toward Mt. Franklin and back to camp. It was very rough walking over hills and rocky gullies, with now and then the road almost obliterated and only a small trail to follow. The cactus mesquite and sand made it rather rough hiking, but the boys all endured the walk very well, and are ready for another and larger one.

Foot Inspection

"After the hike was foot inspection the doctors examining the feet for any soreness, corns or bunions; and the feet of our men were found in excellent condition. There would seem with this warm climate and hot sand burning the feet that many a foot would be sore or blistered, but with the instructions in the car of the feet by our officers our men have learned to care for the feet more than they ever thought of caring for them before. A noted army man has been quoted as saying that the first thing that a soldier needs is a good pair of shoes, and the second thing, another good pair of shoes. Company D is very fortunate in being supplied with at least two pairs of good shoes for each man."

SPAIN INCREASES ARMY

PROCEDURE HAS BEEN MAPPED OUT

Compensation Board Has Arranged Matters Wth the County Courts

Rules of procedure, governing appeals to the courts from decisions of the Workmen's Compensation Board, similar to the rules adopted by the board of judges of Philadelphia county, will be adopted by other common pleas courts of the State when these tribunals resume their sessions this Fall. This action will assure uniform procedure throughout the Commonwealth.

Section 425 of the workmen's compensation act provides that a notice of an appeal from a decision of the compensation board must be filed with the prothonotary of the common pleas court having jurisdiction within ten days after notice of the board's decision.

The Philadelphia courts in July adopted rules directing the prothonotary to call upon the Workmen's Compensation Board for an entire record of a case in which the appeal has been taken and the prothonotary is further directed to obtain these records by writ, mailed to the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation at Harrisburg, with a copy of the exceptions.

Harry A. Mackey, chairman of the compensation board, has submitted the rules adopted by the Philadelphia courts to the other common pleas tribunals in the State and among the president judges who have already announced their intention to adopt the Philadelphia court rules so that the practice may be uniform throughout the State are Laird H. Barber, Mauch Chunk; G. G. Sloan, Clarion; Charles P. Staples, Stroudsburg; Henry A. Fuller, Wilkes-Barre; Albert M. Johnson, Lewisburg; G. A. Endlich, Reading; Donald P. McPherson, Gettysburg; William C. Ryan, Doylestown; S. P. Sadler, Carlisle; Harvey W. Whitehead, Williamsport; Charles E. Terry, Tunkhannock, and William Maxwell, Towanda.
