BUSINESSMEN ARE BOYS AGAIN

Rain Could Not Dampen Ardor; Present and Ex-Presidents Have Boxing Match

Despite the drenching efforts of the rain god to dampen the ardor of the Chamber of Commerce members who spent Saturday afternoon at Inglebrook celebrating the annual outing, there was no let-up of activities from the time the hungry mob surged toward the well-filled tables at 1 o'clock till Chairman George W. Bogar made a good-night speech and the long line of automobiles started for home. It was a great day, full of entertainment and characterized by that feeling of good-fellowship which is a part of every gathering where Harrisburg's businessmen get together to play. Over two hundred and seventy-five picnicers were there, two hundred of them members. Like those in the table, the tables were kept constantly loaded with all manner of food and drink, and the variety of games and sports provided allowed none to become idle, even when the rain drove the whole party to the porches of the clubhouse.

Bowman Displays Fistic Ability

The Commonwealth Band played during the entire afternoon and a group of men's voices from St. Stephen's Church was repeatedly recalled for encore. Secretary McColein was the proverbial busy bee and could not be tried loose from the big basket whence handfuls of cigars kept popping for all the smokers in the crowd. President J. William Bowman did his best to clean up the entire assemblage with a display of fistic ability which drew David Kaufman and Joe Wallaz to the tall timbers for refuge after several rounds apiece, but the fire-eating president met his mate in "Kid" Gilbert, who stripped at 150 and "didn't care who knew it." "Charley" Covert was a very able second when he wasn't busy playing indoor baseball and burning up the grass around the ball.

Whenever the party showed signs of getting rough the Chamber's noble president, sworn in with much pomp and ceremony by City Commissioner Gross, and consisting of Herman P. Miller, C. Floyd Hopkins, S. S. Eberts, R. H. M. Wharton and Joseph H. Wallaz, wielded their powerful weapons with great force and quelled all disorders. "Chief" Miller, however, after a particularly grueling siege, was found inert at the bottom of a culvert, firmly planted in one end of the drain pipe.

"Badger Fight" Harmless

Some of the more timorous and those who were opposed to cruelty to animals stayed away from the "badger fight," which threatened to stir up quite an argument. A big dog firmly held by a chain was one of the fighters, and the badger, concealed in a wooden box strongly tied with ropes, was his opponent. Will Bowman, on behalf of the fearful, objected to a continuation of the fight, but the badger gave up without a struggle and there were no casualties. Dwight Raker, snugly ensconced in a baseball mask and protector, was prepared to aid the weaker of the two, but his assistance was not needed.

Indoor baseball, swimming, quoits, rifle shooting, potato races, spelling bees with Arthur E. Brown as "teacher," boxing matches and "seven up" were some of the ways in which the time passed. And all the while a motion picture screen recorded the events of interest as they happened. By late afternoon Henderson Gilbert had recovered sufficiently from his boxing match to be able to receive the mark of distinction which was given him as past president of the association by Flavel Wright. The neophyte was decked in chains and straps and led to the place of execution by a black-masked individual whose musical tones, after a lengthy peroration, pro-

"Meat Takes Another Jump"—a familiar headline in your daily newspaper. But why worry about the cost of something you don't need? The most expensive foods are generally the least nutritious. In Summer health and strength come from a meatless diet. One or two Shredded Wheat Biscuits, heated in the oven, covered with berries or other fruits and served with milk or cream, make a complete, satisfying, nourishing meal at a cost of five or six cents. All the meat of the whole wheat made digestible by steam-cooking, shredding and baking. Made at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

announced the "infantile past officer of the C. of C. an exalted knight of the Order of the Chamber of Commerce."

On the return trip in the early evening the long line of machines carrying the members was held up at the foot of Red Hill, this side of Specceville, where repairs to the road necessitated a detour. Several cars were stuck in the deep mud and a pleasantly congenial old lady in a party which had been excursions in a big truck entertained the assembled motorists as she rolled over the side of the car with the remark, accompanied by a groan, that she "would never see Entering again!"

Grandson of Chief Justice Gibson Dies at Carlisle

Carlisle, Pa., Aug. 28.—William McClure, a native of Carlisle, and a grandson of Chief Justice Gibson, died here suddenly from heart failure last evening at 9 o'clock. Mr. McClure was visiting relatives here where he has spent the summer months for several years. His home is at Babylon, Long Island. Mr. McClure was for many years secretary of the New York Stock Exchange. He was educated in the Carlisle public schools and was at Dickinson College two years. He then went to New York and went into the banking business, becoming a member of the Stock Exchange in 1868. Mr. McClure was a son of Charles and Mary (Gibson) McClure, his father being a well-known Carlisle attorney. Funeral services will be held on Wednesday afternoon with burial in the Gibson family plot.
