COLONIAL CLUB'S LABOR DAY PLANS

Kickers' Handicap Tournament Arranged for Both Men and Women Golfers

A kickers' handicap tournament will be held on the golf course of the Colonial Country Club, on Labor Day, Monday September 4. The tournament will be open to all members—men and women. No entrance fee will be charged.

The rules are: Before starting play, the player must obtain from the caddy master a sealed envelope, upon which he must write his name and the net score he expects to make for 18 consecutive holes (9 holes play permitted for women) and return to caddy master. Contained in the envelope will be an unknown number, 10 or under, and either plus or minus, which will serve as the player's handicap in this tournament.

Each player's net score will be computed by adding the handicap contained in his envelope, if plus, or subtracting it if minus, to or from his actual score.

The player when starting his tournament play must announce the fact to his witness.

Score cards for the tournament, signed and witnessed, must be placed in the golf box before 7.30 p. m. on the day of play.

The player whose estimated score endorsed on his envelope is nearest his net score, either under or over, will be counted the winner; and the one next nearest, the runner up. The consolation prize will be awarded to the player whose guess is farthest from his net score.

First prize — Wooden club, value $3.50. Second prize — Iron club, value $2.50. Consolation prize — Balls, value, $1.50.

The scores may be played off, or otherwise determined as agreed by those concerned; but no player tied for one prize, shall have a right to any other prize.

Every golfer in the club membership is earnestly urged to take part in this day's sport, Charles H. Hoffman, chairman golf committee, says.

MYSTERIOUS HIKE GREATLY ENJOYED

"Follow Your Leader" Slogan For Party Encountering Gypsies, Indians and Ghosts

Miss Hazel Weaver, of 151 Columbia road, Enola, arranged a mysterious hike for Friday evening, the guests meeting at her home and starting promptly at 8.15 for "somewhere in the country," only the leader and her assistants knowing where.

Walking out the north extension of Altoona avenue to the crossroads, the party saw a bright fire burning at a gypsy camp, near which fortune-tellers were plying their art. Of course everyone had to hear what the future had in store for them by palmistry and papers read by the heat of the fire.

The swartly maidens served a refreshing brew of iced tea and the party passed on to further adventure.

A bright reflection in the sky near the Seiders home and the sound of voices revealed part of a tribe of friendly Indians, two braves, two squaws and a papoose, who gave their yells and war whoops, and after serving the hikers with toasted marshmallows and popcorn accompanied them to the Seiders home for cooling refreshments.

Near the mountains there was a huge camp, the five tramps peacefully resting there generously sharing their sandwiches and wieners to be roasted over their camp fire. Following the leader through Shady Lane, near Enola, the party shivered with dread, for perched on a fence railing right in their path was a ghost. Carefully passing around it, their lively spirits returned and they accompanied the old-fashioned games like "Rings" and "Bingo," unanimously agreeing before separating at Miss Weaver's home that the "mysterious hike" was well planned and enjoyed by every one in the party.

The guests were Miss Hilda Eshbach, Miss Mary Towson, Miss Ruth Omer, Miss Genevieve Ward, Miss Roy William Conrad, John West, Miss Josephine Weaver, Miss Joyce Bell, Miss Pauline Conrad, Miss Gladys Smith, Miss Mabel Sites, Miss Evelyn Ritter, Miss Nellie Johnson, Miss Helen Hichman, Miss Elizabeth Kichman, Miss Ruth Lightner, Miss Carrie Best, Miss Hazel Hamill, Miss Alice Seiders, Miss Mildred Weaver, Mrs. Enoch Miller, and Mrs. Lyman Moyer.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Forrest, W. H. Seiders, John Kichman, Walter Harshbarger, Miss Hazel Weaver, Mrs. Max Brandt, Warren Gracy, Norman Finger, Clarence Jacobs, Haley Irwin, Mr. Richardson and Mr. Showers.

YOUNG LADIES TO GIVE LOVEPLAY

"Prunella," Granville Barker, to Be Given For Benefit of Civic Club

"Prunella," or "Love in a Dutch Garden" is the title of an interesting and attractive romantic comedy in three acts to be given by a cast of 21 young ladies and girls of Harrisburg to procure funds to furnish the Fleming residence in Front street, recently taken over by the Civic Club.

The play, by Lawrence Housman and Granville Barker, was given in the Little Theater, New York city, last winter and has been greatly in demand in many cities for amateur performance, to which it is well adapted.

Miss Dora W. Coe, 2017 N. Second street, is the originator of the idea and promoter of the plan to furnish the Civic Club's new home. On the committee with Miss Coe are Miss Eleanor N. Clark, Miss Katherine Etter, Miss Louise Carney, and Miss Mary E. Meyers, Miss Clark and Miss Coe will take the leading parts, that of Prunella and Pietro, but the remainder of the dramatic personae has not been announced.

The play will be given on the evenings of September 27 and 28, in the garden to the south of the Civic Club's home at Front and North streets. It is estimated that there are accommodations there for over 200 people and the location is ideal for the mechanics of the outdoor scenes. The performance is allegorical and quaintly entertaining, with a delightful thread of romance running through it.
