Gompers Is Pleased With Labor's Gain in Last Year

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, made public tonight a statement on "Labor's Achievements and Issues" for 1916, in which he characterized the past year as a remarkable one in the progress of the labor movement, especially in the shortening of the working day and in general labor legislation. The statement follows in part: "Labor Day, 1916, brings to the workers of America the right to cheer and confidence in the trade union movement. There have been tests and crises that have proved its fundamental principles; there have been opportunities that have tested its practical efficiency. Through them all the trade union movement has made sure progress and gained in confident vision for the future."

MOORE TALKS ON McCORMICK VETO Action of the Democratic Chairman While Mayor Is Put on Record

Special to the Telegraph Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—Sessions of the House of Representatives on Saturday were enlivened by Congressman J. Hampton Moore, of Philadelphia, who charged while the Senate was considering the administration eight-hour day law that National Chairman Vance C. McCormick had been the opponent of the eight-hour day for city employees of Harrisburg, Pa., when he was mayor in 1905. Mr. Moore inserted in the record what he declared was a copy of a veto message signed by Mayor McCormick disapproving a city ordinance to give city employees a nine-hour day and increase their pay from 15 cents to 15 2-3 cents an hour. Mayor McCormick's veto message said the ordinance "would interfere with the proper work of the city departments as the work is such that the heads of these departments should be free to regulate the hours of their employees as emergencies arise. 'The rate of 15 cents per hour' he continued, 'is above the average rate of wages paid for ordinary labor in this locality, and it is not fair to the taxpayers of the city to increase the rate to 16 2-3 cents per hour, as stated in the ordinance, which is considerably higher than the average wages paid by other employers.' Mr. Moore's reference to Mr. McCormick's labor record followed the Pennsylvania member's opposition to the eight-hour law which the House had just passed.

PENNYPACKER FUNERAL TUESDAY

The most prominent men in the State, follows: Former Governors William A. Stone, Edwin S. Stuart and John K. Tener, Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh, and the following representatives of societies and other organizations which the Governor was connected: Provost Edgar Fahs Smith, of the University of Pennsylvania; ex-Chief Justice D. Newlin Sell, ex-Judge Mayer Sulzberger, Judge Norbert S. Barrett, Richard M. Cadwalader, president of the Sons of the Revolution; John Ashhurst, of the Philo-Bibliou Club; Charlamagne Tower, senior vice president of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania; General Henry S. Huidekoper, former president of The Netherlands Society; William D. B. Arney, chairman of the State Public Service commission; ex-Attorney General Hamilton Livingston, Judge J. Whitaker Thompson, of the United States District Court, and William H. Sayen, president of the Valley Forge Park Commission. Samuel Whitaker Pennypacker was born in Phoenixville, Chester county, Pa., April 9, 1843. His father having been appointed to a professorship in the Philadelphia Medical College, he family moved to that city, where Pennypacker was sent to the North-west Grammar School, from which he was given a scholarship in Saunders Hall, Philadelphia. On the death of his father, after a few years' residence in Philadelphia, he returned to Phoenixville, where he attended the Government Seminary. He was president of the Pennsylvania Literary Union and in 1865 was chosen president of the Law Academy. In 1866 he was appointed a member of the Philadelphia Board of Education. He was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court of the United States in 1887 and in 1889 was appointed judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia. In the late Governor Beaver's cabinet, in 1893, he was elected to the same position for a term of ten years and in 1899 was re-elected for a similar term. In 1886 he was appointed a member of the Pennsylvania Board of Education. He was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court of the United States in 1887 and in 1889 was appointed judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia. In the late Governor Beaver's cabinet, in 1893, he was elected to the same position for a term of ten years and in 1899 was re-elected for a similar term. At the time of his nomination for Governor of Pennsylvania by the Republican State Convention Mr. Pennypacker was president judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia. He was elected Governor by the largest vote ever given a gubernatorial candidate in Pennsylvania and served as the State's chief executive from 1901 to 1907. While Governor he declined the nomination to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania which was tendered him.

During the term of Governor Pennypacker good roads and State armories were started; the Department of Health and the Department of State Police were created; Pittsburgh became a great city and the beautiful capitol at Harrisburg was erected. Governor Pennypacker was a president of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, a member of the Historical and Biographical Sketches, and aided in the preparation of forty-five volumes of "Weekly Notes of Cases," and in all has written some ninety books and other publications. He was married October 20, 1870, to Virginia Earl, daughter of Nathan B. Broomall, of Chester county. There were four children, three daughters and one son. On May 14, 1912, the former Governor was appointed a member of the State Railroad Commission and served until the duties of the commission were assumed by the Public Service Commission to which he was appointed by Governor Tener, July 1, 1913, for a term of eight years. On May 20, 1915, when Governor Brumbaugh announced some changes on the commission, he reappointed Commissioner Pennypacker for a term of ten years dating from July 1, 1913.

On Tuesday afternoon, August 22, Mr. Garwood left home with more than $50 to pay a bill and settle the account with a wholesale manufacturer. Near the foot of the steps at Cameron street, under the Mulberry street bridge, according to Mr. Garwood's story, a white and a colored man attacked him. He could not remember where he was dragged, but said that

YOU CAN HAVE PINK CHEEKS

What causes the color to fade from pink cheeks and red lips? In a word it is thin blood. When the fading color in cheeks and lips is accompanied by a loss of brightness in the eyes and an increasing heaviness in the step, the cause is to be sought in the state of the blood. A hundred causes may contribute to the condition of thin blood that is known as anemia. Overwork, lack of outdoor exercise, insufficient rest and sleep, improper diet, these are a few of them. The important thing is to restore the blood to normal, to build it up so that the color will return to cheeks and lips. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the great blood builder and invigorator. They begin at once to increase the red corpuscles in the blood and the new blood carries strength and health to every part of the body. Appetite increases, digestion becomes more perfect, energy and ambition return. A booklet, "Building Up the Blood," will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., if you mention this paper. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six Bauman's FASHIONS for FALL of 1916 YOU may safely turn to this store for Fashion Information with a greater assurance of certified information. In these first Autumn styles as though our stocks were complete we have more than justified our reputation as the Fashion Center of this community. To see these Suits is to be informed of the new style tendencies. The collars, the sleeves, the jackets, the skirts all give authentic information as to what shall be worn this Fall and Winter. Bordeaux and plum dominate the color scheme. Coats that we show settle the question of how collars are to be, the sort of pockets that will be popular, the materials that are best suited to various styles, the lengths, and the draping. Then our Dress gathering manifests the newly accepted skirt drapings, the remarkable effectiveness of new waist treatments, and again settles beyond a doubt that satin will be a favored fabric. In separate Skirts the new drape has been incorporated in a most diverse manner, and in the smart plaids and novelties the effect is pleasing.
