Phillies in Lead; One Point to Spare

The Phillies are in first place all by themselves. Although they did not play in Boston yesterday on account of rain, Brooklyn, which was tied with the Moramans for the lead, split a double-header with the Giants and thereby dropped one point in the standing.

Bits From Sportland

Some game. One more to-day if it does not rain.

Every player in yesterday's game was fighting until the run was scored.

Low Ritter watched the game from the grandstand.

Walter Blair's leadership was again a big factor, along with his fine throwing.

If there is any man in the League who can get over more ground and use his head as well as Cook, trot him out.

King is a fast boy and he can swing his stick at the right time.

Those tarrows to second by Walter Blair were the subject of much gossip to-day.

Baseball fans owe it to George Cockill to give the wind-up games a big patronage.

Millersburg Athletic Association plans for a great booster crowd on Saturday at the wind-up game in the Dauphin-Perry league.

There is some talk that Maryville has quit for the season and will not play the game with Dauphin. The report could not be confirmed.

In the seventh inning yesterday Helfrich retired the side on four pitched balls.

Layden was chasing them in center. Tom Downey is some boy at third, notwithstanding his Charley Horse.

Harrison had little to do yesterday. Mills is always on the move. He is one of the hardest and most conscientious workers in the league.

Elliott has no need to worry over his record this season. He has been hitting the ball and fielding like a fiend.

O'Rourke played a great game at short for the Utes.

KILBANE AFTER BIG MONEY

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 7.—Johnny Kilbane, world's featherweight champion, who Monday knocked out George Chasney, will meet Freddie Welsh in a ten-round bout in Brooklyn, N. Y., provided he gets $10,000 and a privilege of 33 1/3 per cent.

Kilbane's manager received a wire to-day from a New York promoter asking for terms. If the bout is staged it will take place either at Ebbets Field, the home of the Brooklyn National League club, or Madison Square Garden, New York.

GREAT FINISH IN GAME WITH UTES

Islanders score Winning Run in Ninth Inning in Greatest Pitchers' Battle of Season

Weather permitting, the Utes will wind up the season with Harrisburg at Island Park this afternoon. It is probable that Walter Blair will give a chance to pitch his last game against Harrisburg.

Mike O'Neill, with his champions, will be here to-morrow and Saturday. The season ends at home with Saturday's game unless there is a further switch in the schedule.

Harrisburg has one game scheduled with Reading for Sunday and will play it on Monday. As yet no plans have been announced for post-season games. It is probable that the team will return to Harrisburg next Tuesday and disband for the season.

Victory in Ninth

Victory over the Utes came yesterday in the ninth with two men down. It was a gruelling pitchers' contest from start to finish.

Ring both showed speed and were tight in pinches. Every man on the local team was a star.

Harrisburg had men on bases in three innings, while Utes had players on the bases in six innings. Only one Ute reached third base.

An early victory for Harrisburg would have been possible but for Downey's bad leg. He was unable to show any speed on the bags.

An interesting feature yesterday was the work of Walter Blair. His throwing of runners. The two errors chalked up against the locals were on hard hit balls and not costly.

Cook was the best fielder and Downey's hitting brought the answer.

In the ninth King opened with a strikeout. Cook followed with a fly out to center. Layden hit to O'Rourke, who was unable to handle the ball promptly, and in trying to shoot it over sent the ball into the right field.

Downey, the next man up, had two balls and one strike. The next ball pitched was to his liking and he sent it to center field for a single. Layden scoring the run and victory. The score follows:

Crowds See Demonstration, "The Evolution of a Hat"

A demonstration, unique in Harrisburg, took place in the show windows of The New Store of Wm. Strouse from 7.45 to 10 o'clock last evening.

For more than three hours the sidewalk in front of the windows was crowded with interested onlookers at the demonstration of "The Evolution of a Hat."

Each stage in the manufacture of the familiar Winter felt hat was shown from the time the fur of the small tan-colored cone was clipped until the hat is shaped.

The demonstration was under the direction of Mr. Fernier of the hat department of The New Store.

Local baseball fans are playing a cheap game these days, getting their information from the score boards. Patronage at Island Park has been rather slim and Manager George Cockill does not wear a pleasant smile.

Manager George Cockill would like to see one banner crowd before the season ends. Yesterday's battle was one of the greatest seen this season. A New Yorker who was here on a visit and is identified with the newspaper game in the Metropolis was a spectator. At the conclusion of the battle he said: "I have seen many major league games but never witnessed any that was more exciting and in which pitchers did better than to-day. You people are certainly getting good baseball."

A strong effort is being made to have a scholastic river meet before the winter sets in. Officials in the Harrisburg Academy have been talking over plans. A meeting will be held shortly. It is planned to invite high schools in other cities have rowing clubs to participate. Harrisburg will have a war canoe event and if any other cities have the equipment other entries will be permitted. It is the belief that rowing will be made an important factor in scholastic athletics from now on, and that close attention will be given to boating and swimming.

John Fox will quit the season a big winner. The Reading pitcher who was a factor in bringing Tri-State pennants to Harrisburg is a policeman when not playing baseball. He says this is better than being an iron worker.

The Phillies gained yesterday by not playing. The crucial games are still on. Brooklyn meets Boston and there will be some baseball playing with the Dodgers to prevent a further slide down the toboggan. Some fans are of the opinion that Brooklyn is Athletics Lose One More; One Hundredth Defeat

Philadelphia, Sept. 7. — Boston took the third game of the series from the Athletics yesterday, and it was well tripped the Browns in a ten-inning game, and the Red Sox still lead the American League race by one full game. The score of yesterday's tilt was 5 to 2.

Dutch Leonard who recently hurled a no-hit, no-run game, had the Mackies at his mercy, but he was nicked safely seven times by the tallenders for a total of thirteen bases.

Tom Sheehan was opposed to the world's champions, and he was touched up at a lively gait, especially in the third inning, when three runs were scored off him. It was the one-hundredth loss for the Mackies.

TO OPERATE AUDION DETECTORS

P. W. Cockill, 1620 Ninth Fifth street, and L. W. Barnhart, both professional wireless operators of this city, have purchased Audion detectors, with which they expect to conduct several wonderful tests. The Audion de-

One thing is certain. Manager Connie Mack will not be interfered with in his record for games lost. He dropped the century contest yesterday. This is an unusual thing in baseball.

It has been decided to make the Park tournament of the Harrisburg Park Tennis Club a "Round Robin" event. The committee is now at work along this line believing that the best results will follow with a contest of this kind. There will be no drawings. Each entrant will be required to play off his or her three sets before next Tuesday, September 13.

Ike McCord, one of Harrisburg's popular players who has been with the Raleigh, N. C., team, is home. He had a good season. McCord will rest a few days and will then start plans for basketball.

Harrisburg basketball fans will see some good games this season in addition to the regular schedule. Bookings are now being made with crack college teams. On January 5 Yale's varsity five will play a local team of former Yale stars. This game is offered by the local Yale Alumni Association and promises to be a big event.

Syracuse will fly the flag. Yesterday's victory over Reading brought the answer. The score was 5 to 1. Taylor pitched a great game for the Stars. Elmira gave Scranton a big surprise, winning by a score of 7 to 5, and Binghamton trimmed Wilkes-Barre in a pitchers' battle, score 4 to 1.

As was announced yesterday 55 candidates resounded to the call for Tech high football candidates. Coach Penzger decided to start practice today. Only four uniforms remain to be called for, and one of these has been promised a newcomer to the school who will enter the junior class. His name is George Fisher and he is from the Enola high school. He is a promising candidate.

factor is the latest invention of Dr. Leo De Forest. Without this apparatus the wireless telephone tests which were conducted between the station at Washington and that of Paris would have been a failure. These operators propose to listen to the stations situated at Nauvau, Germany, Paris, France, Honolulu, H. I., and Sayville, N. J. They also expect to hear all the stations using a continuous wave in the United States beside many local amateur stations.

Coaches Smith and Harris Ready to Start Training

Coaches Paul G. Smith and Leo Harris will again be in charge of football at Central. Smith is not in favor of a too early start claiming that the player get stale when it is nothing but practice for a long time. Because of this fact the first practice will be on next Monday, September 11, on the lower island. All candidates will report to Coach Smith at 3 o'clock. This call not only applies to old candidates, but to new ones as well, particularly to freshmen. The first game is with Lancaster at Harrisburg on September 30.
