Some Styles That Will Reign Supreme in Fall Millinery

While elaboration of shapes is carried to the extreme in the new Fall Millinery, this feature of itself has necessitated the use of simple trimmings that the smartness and cleverness of the lines may not be lost. A multitude of new ideas has been evolved and when the season gets fully under way many more are promised. We shall show them all, without, however, including the tiresome, commonplace and too extreme features.

Despite the great variety of charming modes and effective shapes—their distinction and "class"—we have prepared as usual an admirable line at $1.95, $3.95 and $6.50. No two are alike and hence the opportunity presented is most unusual. Ready to-morrow morning—ready for the woman alert to correct styles at popular prices.

GOVERNOR AND PARTY AWAY ON TOUR OF FARMS

Increasing Food Supply and Marketing Produce Purposes of Inspection Trips

"We are going to see some of the finest farming country in the land and we are going to meet the farmers and talk over ways of increasing our food supply and of getting the produce to market. These are the main purposes of our tours and I think that much good will come from them," said Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh this morning just before leading a train of over a score of automobiles out of Harrisburg on the first of the three tours of the farming districts of the State which he plans for this month.

The Governor and his guests were up bright and early this morning for the start. With the Governor were Mrs. Brumbaugh, who returned to the city from Maine late yesterday, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. Corby, of Washington. The Governor greeted many of those who were in the line of cars which mobilized in Market Square and soon after 8 o'clock gave the signal for W. R. Douglas, of the State Department of Agriculture, to start away with the advance car in which were several newspapermen.

To See Fine Country

The Governor and Secretary of Agriculture Patton were highly pleased with the prospects for the tour as numerous meetings have been arranged and word came this morning that guests of the Governor would join the party on the way and that motorists from various places would act as escorts for the column.

Each of the cars in the line carried national and State flags and then a big sign with the words "Agricultural Tour" and the number of the car. Motor clubs joining the procession will display their own flags.

The route for the morning run was to Center Hall and the way led up the Susquehanna valley for a distance and then the party will branch out into the valleys which cross the seven mountains. The Center County Grangers are in session at Center Hall and some time will be spent there this afternoon. To-night the party will be at Clearfield.

Prof. Wallace Opens New Organ of Grand Theater

Professor C. W. Wallace, the blind pipe organist, who has been heard in various motion picture theaters of the city, last night opened the new Moller pipe organ in the Grand Theater, 1426 Derry street. This organ, built under the direction of Professor Wallace, is said to have many features which make it distinctive both in tonal beauty and in delicacy of effect. The management has planned to give a portion of each evening's entertainment to a musical program. Last evening's program was a liberal one of the classics designed to show the beauty rather than the full orchestral effect of the organ. Handel's Largo and "Morning" from Grieg's "Peer Gynt" suite were two of the numbers well received by the audience and demonstrated Professor Wallace's ability as a musician.

SHORTY MILLER TO COACH TECH

Former Central High and State College Football Star to Assist Pendergast

At a faculty conference late this afternoon plans were discussed for an additional coach for Technical High and the football squad. He will be Eugene

"Shorty" Miller and will work daily with Coach Pendergast. Athletic Director Percy L. Grubb said there was no likelihood of a hitch in the plans; that the faculty was anxious to give Tech candidates an opportunity to study the methods of two successful football stars. As soon as the plan is approved, it is understood, Coach Miller will sign up and be ready to start work to-morrow.

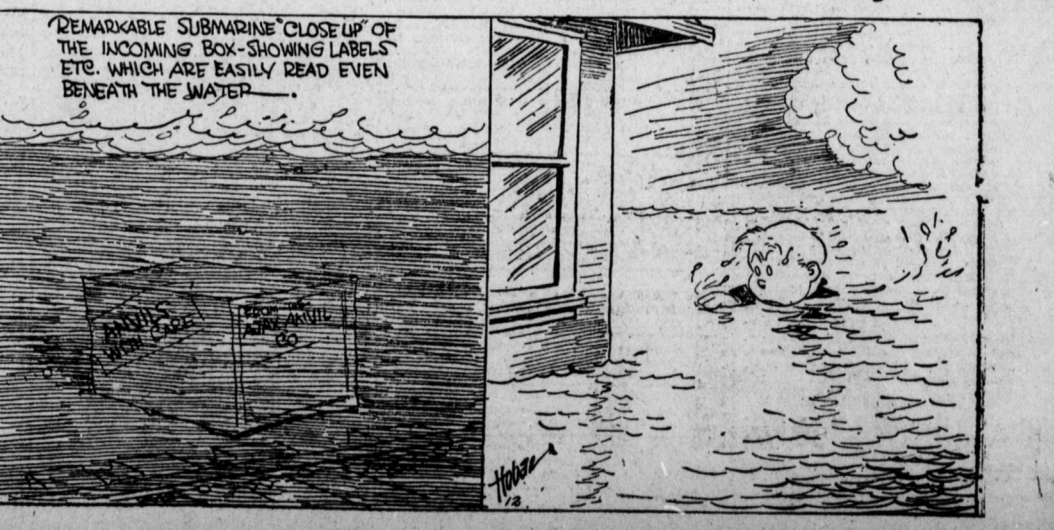

"Shorty" Miller is a Harrisburg product, a graduate of the high school and a Penn State star. He was captain of the State College football eleven and won honors as a leader. In the opinion of local football enthusiasts,

Coach Miller will be a valuable addition to Tech's coaching squad. While not announced officially, it is understood that Coach Miller will later take up other athletic work at Tech.
