

Autumn Activities About the Store

While the word to open wide the gates of the House of Fashion has not yet been spoken, they are beginning to swing on their hinges here, revealing many interesting new features in millinery and dress fabrics and glimpsing authoritative modes for early Fall impressively.

It is a far cry to the sun-flushed Heights of Attainment in Distinction in Dress—a long way and a rough way before the goal is reached. But we have so smoothed the rough places and widened the road that traveling is now made easy.

RICHES FOUND BY STEFANSSON

Copper Deposits Reported by Returning Members of Arctic Expedition

Seattle, Sept. 13. — The seven members of the party of Dr. Rudolph M. Anderson, commander of the southern branch of the Stefansson Canadian expedition into the far North, will leave Seattle, where they arrived yesterday for Ottawa in a few days to make reports to the Canadian Government. They will report, Doctor Anderson said, many interesting discoveries, including findings of great quantities of copper, new species of small mammals and perhaps new species of flowers.

Discussing to-day the work of his party, Doctor Anderson said: "We were instructed to survey the copper deposits already known and seek new ones. Every explorer from the earliest times had noted that the Eskimos east of the Mackenzie used knives, spearheads and other weapons and utensils hammered from copper, and the Coppermine river, which empties into the Arctic, got its name from mineral discovered many years ago. An Eskimo brought to us a lump of copper weighing forty pounds. There were seams in the lava that had been filled with pure copper.

"We also used coal that we took north with us. There is workable coal within ten miles of Franklin Bay on the Arctic. This coal outcrops in ravines, veins several feet thick being found.

"The Eskimos east of the Mackenzie are abandoning their copper and stone weapons and buying guns whenever they get a chance. Lately the Eskimos and Indians have been meeting at Great Bear and trading, and they have found this intercourse highly profitable to both sides, although formerly the Eskimos and Indians avoided each other. The Indians exchange ammunition, guns and other goods for fox-skins and musk ox hides.

Stefansson, after finding new land, returned and with the large powerboat Polar Bear passed last winter at Princess Royal Island with fifteen white men, nineteen Eskimos, including women and children and a large number of dogs.

Members of the returning party said they did not know when he would return.

Verdi Musical Republican Club Organized by Italians of City For Fall Campaign

Active participation in the Fall campaign is already being planned by the newly organized Verdi Musical Republican Club, composed of the most prominent Italians of the city.

Many names have already been enrolled on the charter by Casimiro Gaeta, who conceived the idea of a political organization among the city's Italians. He is being assisted in the work by Tony Demma.

The three-story building at 302 South Second street has been leased for headquarters. Here the band composed of club members will practice and rallies to be addressed by widely-known politicians will be held. A pool table will be placed on file in the reading room. Plans for an elaborate grand opening in a few days are under way.

The charter is being held open for all Italians of the city and enrollments are being made by both Mr. Demma and Mr. Gaeta.

CATCH AUTO THIEF; MAY BE GOOD WITNESS

Paul Kermer, charged with stealing an automobile from the garage of the Hershey Creamery company, was arrested yesterday in Philadelphia. Detective Shuler, this city, brought Kermer to Harrisburg this afternoon. Police believe the prisoner will be able to throw some light on the Garwood case. Kermer was one of the men who found J. B. Garwood, sagged and bound, near the Mt. Calvary cemetery last week. The authorities hope to obtain evidence which will clear up the mystery surrounding Garwood's story of having been waylaid and robbed.

100,000 MEXICANS CROSSED

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 13. — More than 100,000 Mexican laborers, including men, women and children entered the United States through Texas ports of entry during the year ending June

On a basis of immigration from Mexico since June 30, it is estimated the movement from the southern republic for the present fiscal year will be about 225,000. The heavy immigration from Mexico at this time is due to the deplorable conditions accruing from the several revolutions there.
