LADY EGLANTINE DEAD

Greensboro, Md., Sept. 14. — Lady
Eglantine, the wonder of the poultry world and the pride of the Eglantine for many years has been the most famous hen in the world. Her supremacy roses back to the time that she laid 215 eggs during her pullet year. At one of the shows here a room was reserved for her at the Imperial Hotel. This hen, which was of the single comb White Leghorn breed, left only nine cockerels and three pullets as her descendants at the Eglantine Farms. Her owners sold only seventeen of her eggs and these brought the record price of $10 each.

GLAB HE DIDN'T MAKE EGG-NOG

Farmer First Kills Snakes, Then Plows Em Up in Shells
East Greenville, Pa., Sept. 14. — George Ziegler has been having queer experiences with snakes. First, he killed two blacksnakes five feet long, which disputed the right of way in a path until Ziegler slew it.

Then Ziegler went plowing and turned up a number of eggs, which at first he took to be chicken eggs, but when he opened one out wiggled a five-inch snake, much to the farmer's surprise. Then he smashed the other snake exgs, a dozen and a half, and in each shell was a snake about ready to come forth.

Ziegler is mighty glad now that he discovered the nature of the eggs and cold sweat breaks out on him when he thinks what might have hoppened if he had used those eggs for egg-nog.

OBJECTS TO TROLLEY RIGHTS
Further opposition to the ordinance siving trolley rights of way in Mechaniceburg is expressed by A. H. Ego in a circular letter sent to taxpayers. The author of the circular gives the various ordinances providing for tracks and ties and denies that the railways company is at an expense of $20,000 as claimed in their request to Cumberland county court for an injunction to have the annual tax of $1,200 abolished. Mr. Ege claims the tax is just and not burdensome to the company.
Backing this claim, the writer says the railways company profited by laying vitrified brick between the tracks. He

KILL DEER-CHASING DOGS
Waynesboro, Pa., 5ept. 14. — Dogs that have been chasing deer in South Mountains for several days past, were brought to a halt by members of mountain rangers. Ranger Perrie, of Calendonia, has made several attempts to get up with the dogs that were chasing and killing deer. On Monday morning B. F. Hassler, J. W. Thomas, J. L. Thomas and Harry B. Perrie, all of the State Forestry service, began an organized pursuit of the canines, and several of the dogs were killed.

Legal Circles Interested in Given Notable Reception and President Judge Kunkel's Decision

Just what the next move of the cold storage companies of Philadelphia may be in their effort to attack the constitute of the constitution of criminal proceedings under the penal section, and that could be done only in case of its violation. It does not appear that the statute has been violated, either by the plaintiffs or by their customers." compliance with the act of May, 1913, as amended July, 1913, and to enjoin the act of may, 1913, and to enjoin the act of may, 1913, and to enjoin the state of the law is violated. The Judge declines to consider the matter in the equity courts.

"The real complaint," says President Judge Kunkel, "seems to be that the operation of the statute upon others lessens the plaintiffs' business and reduces the number of their customers, who, on account of its requirements cased to state the propersion of the statute spanished to the theorem and the state of the country side, and as I came into the sun again it reduces the number of their customers, who, on account of its requirements that there has been a threatened or actual enforcement of the statute against the statute was not accounted by the institution of criminal proceedings under the penal section, lawy, the statute could be enforced would be by the institution of criminal proceedings under the penal section, the statute and the statute and the state of t

CHILDREN DIE ON CANAL BOAT

Exhaust Steam Pipe at Traction Plant Scalds Occupants of Cabin

Hagerstown, Md., Sept. 14.-Three children of Captain William Spong, of Sharpsburg, this county, who operates a boat on the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, were scalded to death and his wife badly injured by steam from an exhaust pipe at a traction plant while the boat was tied up along a wall at Washington. The children and Mrs. Spong, the former being asleep, were in the cabin, and they were literally cooked alive. Mrs. Spong was rescued by her husband, who was also badly burned, while Thomas, the oldest son, escaped with slight injuries.

Murphy, who has had many narrow escapes from death, having been burled in quick sand, hit by an aeroplane and run over by an automobile, collided with a motortruck while on a motorcycle last night and was thrown to the street. It was said that his left leg probably will be too stiff for riding hereafter.

Seventeen years ago Murphy won his sobriquet of "Mile a Minute" by riding at that rate on a board track between the rails of the Long Island Railroad behind a train. It is said that he won 1,800 prizes as a bicycle racer.

wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 14. — Confronted by the suspension of his counsel, Paul Sherwood, Evangelist Henry Stough is said to be seriously considering an apology to William J. Cullen, John Fiero and Max Friedlander, three Hazleton men who are suing the evangelist for $150,000 for alleged defamation of character.

This news was conveyed to Doctor Stough's friends in this city while the court was passing on the appeal for continuance of the suit and coincident with the report that the evangelist would dismiss Attorney James Scarlet as additional counsel to Sherwood because the prosecutor of the Capitol graft cases is reported to have taken the Pennsylvania Brewers' Association among his clients.

Mesers, Cullen, Fierro and Friedlander, when interviewed last night, were not prone to consider an apology from Doctor Stough. The evangelist, they think, should prove the allegation they say he made against them as men responsible for social and political degradation in Hazleton. At best, one said, Doctor Stough should be compelled to pay all expenses thus far incurred in the prosecution.

Postmasters Interviewed

Postmasters Interviewed
The postmasters of the State held their convention here on Tuesday and Wednesday and by a carefully-arranged coincidence the partisan ceremonies were fixed for to-day so that the postmasters could be invited to remain over and render tithes. Reports that assessments had been levied were denounced in the crowd that gathered about the Sign of the Windmill in Market Square and emphasis was laid upon the statement that any contributions were purely voluntary. The bulk of the Democrats came last night and met the postmasters. This morning more came and continued the meeting. It was a great occasion and the funds of the State committee should be plethoric if the smiles on the faces of the tithe gatherers are any indication of the way things are going.

During the morning all county chairmen were taken into the Board of Trade hall and the doors locked. Acting State Chairman Joseph F. Guffey then discussed things and told them finances were an important part of a campaign. Reports were called for and the men presented adroitly sounded out as to how they felt about putting M. Clyde Kelley, Washington-Prohibition candidate for Congress in the McKeesport district, on the Democratic ticket without the belligerent Kelley declaring for Woodrow Wilson. On the result of the sounding process will depend the action of the executive committee at 6 o'clock to-night.

Election of Hughes

New York, Sept. 14.—Hughes backers in the financial district were offering odds of 2 to 1 to-day. Edward McQuade, curb commission broker, had $5000 to place at that figure.

He said that all the Wilson money which had been in his hands for a number of weeks to bet at 1 to 2 had suddenly been withdrawn, and that so far as he knew, there was "not a nickel of Wilson money in sight."
