

STORMY CAREER OF STRONG MAN

Greatness of Paul of Tarsus Not Recognized in His Own Day

(By William T. Ellis.) Last evening I talked with a friend from Tarsus, the city in Cilicia which was the birthplace of the Apostle Paul, and which he declared to be "no mean city." As we discussed people and events—the new massacre—of which this is the first mention in print, a fresh outburst during the present summer, in which more than ten thousand Armenians have been slain outright; the brilliant students known to us, who had impromptu come to America, and who have since been slain; the Turkish officials and resident Americans known to us—I wished that this region of Asia Minor, so well known to my friends and to Paul and to his traveling companions, might become a real place to the millions of Sunday school members who are now looking back over three months of Sunday school lessons, all laid in this part of the world: The greatest danger in all Bible teaching is that of unreality. Many persons regard these lessons as from a book and not from life. That the participants in the events recorded in the quarter's lessons were as truly flesh and blood as the friend with whom I talked last night, and that all the places mentioned are spots in which, in times of peace, the traveler may go, is the first point to be stressed.

Every day now we read dispatches from the Near East with a Saloniki date line, and yet few of us recall that this is the very same Thessalonica where Paul adventured and established a church, and to which he addressed two of the letters which now make up part of the New Testament canon. Likewise Athens is a turbulent news center, with some of the same characteristics that it had when Paul preached on Mars Hill. It is stimulating to recall that in Athens and Tarsus, and elsewhere, one may still see, as I have seen, the very structures on which the Apostle Paul looked. So the first stage to imagination, in connection with the present lesson, is the fact that the world was just now at an acute stage in the very thing which the present quarter's lesson. The Bible deals with realities as truly as the daily newspapers.

A Man as a Storm Center About once a century there arises a man who seems born to be a world-center and a maker of history. These men, who are bigger than their time, and who seem to shape events to their own personality, are always great doers, as well as great thinkers. Among them, Paul of Tarsus has a place. His only day did not fully recognize his greatness. Paul's greatness was recognized only by a trouper of the established order, a fanatical follower of the new sect of the Nazarenes. At first his career had started auspiciously along conventional lines, by securing the attention and favor of the recognized leaders. Suddenly he broke from the powerful party whose protegee he was, and thereafter consorted with despised Galileans and peasants, and the folk who made up the company nicknamed "Christians." Paul voluntarily became a "nobod," and thereby became more potent in human history than any other man.

perils without number. Of a temperament needing the cherishing care of a wife and home and with a peculiar aptitude for domesticity, he was driven forth a wanderer on the earth, God's knight-errant, with the world for his family. Even Paul did not understand that his God was denying him the lesser comforts in order that he might earn a great crown; for by his toils and tribulations and labors, Paul the persecuted has become Paul, the leader of mankind, the shaper of a race's thought, the interpreter of God to all the world.

Jesus lives. Thus we are constantly dying, while you are in full enjoyment of life. "Nay, though our outward man is wasting away, yet our inward man is being renewed day by day. For this our light and transitory burden of suffering is achieving for us a preponderating, yes, a vastly preponderating, and eternal weight of glory; while we look not on things seen, but things unseen; for things seen are temporary, but things unseen are eternal." A host of ripe Christians, who have waded the way of tribulation, find their hearts beating in unison with the Apostle, as they read these words. They are following his way to the prizes of Christ. Paul is the spiritual progenitor of unnumbered saints. In another sense, he is still a living force in the turbulent scene of the present warfare in the Near East. The churches which he there founded still abide, despite the mutations of centuries. He planted a leaven which has been a revolutionizing force in the world, setting up new empires and overturning the old. The cross in which he died became the symbol of sovereignty of the Old Rome on the seven hills by the Tiber, and of the New Rome on its seven hills by the Bosporus.

London Society Unwillingly Sending Names to Fake War Charity Organizations London, Sept. 15.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—London society has been stirred by the revelation that some of its titled and most prominent members have unwittingly been lending their names to fraudulent war charity organizations. The names of the frauds and of the leaders of England's aristocracy who served on committees were not given out by the government committee which made the disclosures.

HUGE PLANES VICTORIOUS Four of New Russian Type Wreck Eight German Craft in Battle London, Sept. 15.—A Reuter Dispatch from Petrograd says that four giant Russian battleplanes of the Murometz type bombed a German seaplane station on Lake Angora, in the Gulf of Riga, where seventeen seaplanes of various sizes and models were discerned. The Russians dropped seventy-three bombs, with resultant fire and smoke which soon concealed the seaplanes.

SHELL BURSTS; THREE HURT Workmen Hammer One-Pounder Found in Black Tom Ruins Jersey City, N. J., Sept. 15.—A one-pound shell, picked up from the ruins of the $20,000,000 explosion on July 30 at Black Tom Island, burst yesterday when struck with a hammer. Three workmen were injured. The Lehigh Valley Railroad notified the authorities of Jersey City today that it is not handling explosives in bulk in the city and that ammunition is not allowed to remain in the city overnight.

GLASGOW FRENCH Tommy (to Jock, on leave)—What about the lingo? Suppose you want to say egg over there, what do you say? Jock—Ye just say "Oo." Tommy—But suppose you want two? Jock—Ye say "Two coofs," and the silly and wife gies ye three, and ye just gie her back one. Man, it's an awfu' easy language.—Glasgow Herald

After the War What we may call the geographical consequences of the present war will be very great. Among them will be the opening of the Near East to the western world. Where there used to be one traveler to Bible lands, there will be a hundred. I do not dwell upon Zionism, and the present plans it is making for the return of Jews to the world, after the war. With peace, and the complete overthrow of the Turkish Empire (without which any peace would be premature), order and safety will come to these places of sacred memory.

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they had had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever wearing glasses.

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 per cent In One Week's Time In Many Instances descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow it to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time. Note: Another prominent physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good drugist and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." It is sold by R. C. Kennedy.
