

NO INVISIBLE HAND TO BE TOLERATED

Governor Brumbaugh Makes Vigorous Speech to Selinsgrove Folks

Governor Brumbaugh will not stand for any "invisible hand" interfering with legislation during the next general assembly. In the speeches on the closing day of his first tour of the farming regions of the State the Governor amplified the ringing speeches he had made on the northern tier by some declarations that he proposed to root out invisible government from Capitol Hill. His remarks were vigorous and struck home, especially at Selinsgrove where he made the best speech of his trip.

The Governor complimented the people of Snyder county for their upstanding qualities and then turned his batteries on "invisible government."

"It is an open secret and a notorious fact," said the Governor, "that this State has often been under the thumb of corrupt bosses and has been the prey of invisible government. This sinister influence has reached into committee rooms and legislative halls and it is time that it stopped, and by the grace of God, it will stop as long as I am Governor."

"We have often in the past," said the Governor, "seen that when good roads or some measure of special benefit to the people of the State was in abeyance the hands of the special interests working in the committee rooms."

"I promise you men that during the next session of the Legislature, whenever I see the subtle hand of the invisible government working anywhere, your Governor shall point his finger at it. Nor shall he stop there, but will devote his time and attention to the attempt of tearing the hands of the rotten rascals from their power."

The last leg of the 50-mile journey began at Wellsboro, and the first stop was at Mansfield, at the fair grounds. At Liberty the Governor found a gathering of what is known as "Pennsylvania Dutch." The Governor said that he belonged to this class, calling them by the homely generic expression, and that he was proud of it.

"There may be hyphenates in other parts of the country," said he, "but the Pennsylvania German is as loyal, as patriotic, as liberty-loving and as willing to fight and die for the things that he believes are right as any one of our citizens, descendants of any race or creed."

While at Mansfield the Governor went to a reunion of the Fifth Pennsylvania Reserves, veterans of the Civil War. The veterans cheered his attack on the administration. "I don't know why they are down on the border," said the Governor to a staid group of survivors of the Civil War, "and I don't know why they are not home. There was nothing for me to do but to obey when the call came for them, and willingly I obeyed. I thought then that they were badly needed. But now other guardsmen are back in adjoining States and our boys are still in Texas."

"I have been told that it is because General Funston and other officers of the army find the Pennsylvania guardsmen the best body of men that has come from any State. While we are proud of this, the fact remains that our boys are being punished longer than the others because they are more efficient."

Turn Wilson Out, Says Wm. H. Taft in Letter

New York, Sept. 15. — In his first campaign utterance in a letter to the Hughes National College League made public here yesterday, William H. Taft attacked the present administration:

"There are so many reasons why Mr. Wilson should not be continued at the head of the administration," the former President wrote, "that some important ones are apt to be forgotten in their multiplicity. It is of the highest importance that in the very critical issues that are to be met in connection with the ending of the war we should have a consistent and intelligible policy of a constructive and courageous nature and this cannot be predicted on a continued Democratic administration."

SUMMER HOTELS TO BE INSPECTED

State Authorities Require Inspection to Be Made of Fire Escapes at Once

Orders have been issued to the State's factory inspectors to concentrate their attention on inspection of summer resort hotels in Pennsylvania to bring about improvements in structural features for safety before next season. The orders have been issued by

CASTORIA

Chief L. R. Palmer after a conference with Commissioner of Labor John Price Jackson and the inspections will begin at once. As many of the hotels are of frame construction the department will insist that there be two means of egress from all hallways or passageways and that all passageways be connected to fire escapes or exits by easily accessible and unobstructed openings. The department will not approve exits to fire escapes through rooms which may be locked.

There are numerous summer resort hotels in the State which will come under the inspection and it is the idea to have the improvements made during the winter and Spring.

Fire Company Entertained on Member's Birthday

Mechanicburg, Pa., Sept. 15. — As a fitting celebration for his forty-fourth birthday anniversary, Anthony F. Bihl, a South Chestnut street butcher, entertained the Washington Fire Company of which he is a member at his home last evening.

Rattlesnakes Being Killed by California Squirrels

San Francisco, Sept. 14. — Up in the California national forest the United States Biological Survey has been poisoning squirrels.

Forest Supervisor Coffman found that the rattlers fed on the poisoned squirrels and were in turn poisoned from their food. The poison that was set out to clean the forest of squirrels has also cleaned it of snakes. And now the local forest service staff is looking for some one to dub with "Saint Patrick of California."

CLEANING WHITE SHOES

Queer processes and preparations for cleaning white shoes are constantly being put on the market with the proud title of "best cleaner in the world," or "the utmost in shoe cleaners," or some other equally pretentious characterization; but in many cases the least elaborate method seems to be the best — for buckskin and nubuck shoes at least. Experience proves that a stiff wire brush and a fine powder are effective. Begin by rubbing all stains thoroughly with the brush, keeping the shoes dry; it will be found that few marks can withstand a wire brush onslaught with much success. After the shoes have been well cleaned, wet them slightly and apply the powder with a felt spreader, so that it sticks to the material and restore its original immaculate hue. By using this brush instead of sponging the shoes the rough finish which is so essential in maintaining the appearance, of newness is easily secured.

BOW CUSHIONS

There are many novelty cushions this summer.

Some of them are for garden chairs and hammocks, some for divans and lounging chairs and some for the floor.

One that is very attractive is shaped like a big bow. The cover is made of beautiful silk and velvet, and is perhaps four feet long and a foot wide when finished. It is filled lightly with soft down and is tied with a band of velvet ribbon through the center. It is really a most comfortable shape to tuck behind the back, and could be made of less expensive materials—thin silk or cretonne.

Smocked cushions are another pretty novelty. They are covered with silk, smocked into shape. These are made in light colors for the bedroom or boudoir.

For the hammock perhaps the most serviceable cushions are those covered with black and tan cretonne, in small blocks or checks. It is sold especially for cushions for outdoor furniture, as its colors make it show dust very little.
