HIS NEW STORE

At this time, the close of the first season of my New Store, I wish to thank the people of Harrisburg and vicinity for their confidence and valued patronage—It is with no little sense of pride that I realize just what the New Store has become in one short season — The Store by Which Other Stores Are Judged.

For fall our new stock is everything a new stock should be—fresh—crisp—stylish—serviceable—we'll be glad to have you drop in any time—whether you're ready to purchase or not.

Respectfully,
WM. STROUSE.

AMUSEMENTS FAIR AND WARMER FULL OF LAUGHS

Author of "Twin Beds" Has Created a Merry Farce; Two-Day Visit

"Fair and Warmer" was the title of the laugh-producing farce that Selwyn and company presented at the Orpheum to a fair-sized audience last evening. Fair and warmer was the appreciation of those who went to laugh and were given a full measure. For there is an atmosphere of joviality and merriment throughout the three acts which is shared by actors and audience alike, and the timing slipped pleasantly by with nothing but undiluted humor to ruffle the emotions of the audience. As one critic has described it, "innocent silliness and attempts to become drinksters are always pleasing to the audience. Because they all know better."

The story of "Fair and Warmer" is that of a model husband and another man's glib wife. Sager Midgeley as "Billy" Bartlett and Edna Hibberd as "Blanny" Wheeler are the main performers, excellently supported by a small but capable cast. Billy's wife is one who must have her husband the object of other women's attentions, else she cannot be happy. Billy has never taken a drink in his life, never smoked, never deceived anybody. He is too good to be true. And it takes the second act and most of the third to prove that he is interesting always an innocently planned set-up on his wife with the aid of Blanny Wheeler, whose young husband has to have his rights off occasionally. Matters progress beyond the "best laid plans" of the plotters, with far more telling effect than had been intended. And therein lies the foundation for the acting. It vividly recalls "Twin Beds."

The lines include many clever sallies, paying particular attention to the psychology of a woman's mind where her husband is concerned. The dialogues are good and the whole performance calculated to keep the audience in roars of laughter, which it does. "Fair and Warmer" will again be played this afternoon and evening.

It is with pleasure Joseph L. Kernan offers for your approval the musical "A Tortured Heart," which is showing at the Colonial Theater to-day and to-morrow. The act contains three scenes, the first scene representing a courtroom on sentence day, the second, the trial of a woman, and the third scene is an exact reproduction of the "Tomb of the Unknown Soldier" in the Olympic Trio, in a comedy parallel bar with the last half of the act. Denman Thompson's famous Old Home-Double Quartet is the headline attraction. Complete cast includes: Nip and Tuck, comedy acrobats; Fisher and Rockaway, plantation dorkies; Wheeler and Lolan, novelty dancers, and one other Keith act.

There is a fine bill at the Majestic this week headed by Paul Armstrong's "A Romance of the Underworld." The act contains three scenes, the first scene representing a courtroom on sentence day, the second, the trial of a woman, and the third scene is an exact reproduction of the "Tomb of the Unknown Soldier" in the Olympic Trio, in a comedy parallel bar with the last half of the act. Denman Thompson's famous Old Home-Double Quartet is the headline attraction. Complete cast includes: Nip and Tuck, comedy acrobats; Fisher and Rockaway, plantation dorkies; Wheeler and Lolan, novelty dancers, and one other Keith act.

In the Southern story told in picture form in William Fox's "A Tortured Heart," which is showing at the Colonial Theater to-day and to-morrow, the Southern beauty of film land, has just such a beauty of film land, and dramatic acting. It has to do with a village pastor, who is engaged in the steps of his church, and the townspeople scorn his interest in the child, who grows up to be a charming young lady. From this point the story unfolds its tale of the evils of village gossip, and the heart-tortures that it brings. On the same program, as an additional attraction, will be shown the seventh episode of "The Grip of Evil," called "The Butterflies."

The value of an American husband over the lure of a foreign title is portrayed in George Selwyn's farce, "An International Marriage," which is showing at the Regent Theater to-day and to-morrow. Rita Jolivet (Countess de Cippico) and Courtenay Foote, who starred in "Hypocrites," this Paramount attraction will be shown at the Regent to-day and to-morrow. The story tells of Benjamin Grant, a laundry man, whose daughter, Florence, is loved by Congressman John Ogelsby. Florence visits her chum, Eleanor Williamson, who lives in Washington, and meets Eleanor's fiancé, Count Kribburg. The Duke of Buriz, a fellow-countryman of the Count, endeavors to corrupt Ogelsby for international political reasons. But he fails to estimate of the man. The Duke, who is the Ambassador for his country at the American Hotel, introduced to Florence by the Count, on whom she

DR. HYKES STARTS FOR CHINA
Carlisle, Pa., Sept. 20.—Yesterday the Rev. Dr. John Hykes, who has been engaged in religious work in China for 43 years, left for Harrisburg with Mrs. Hykes. From that city he will go to Pittsburgh, Chicago, Rochester, Minn., and to Minneapolis, St. Paul and Vancouver, sailing on board the Canadian steamship "Empress of Asia" on October 2 for China. This will be Dr. Hykes' ninth voyage across the Pacific, and the sixth for his wife. From 1900 to 1903 Dr. Hykes was vice consul general of the United States at Shanghai.

Record-Breaking Enrollment at Carlisle Institutions
Carlisle, Pa., Sept. 20.—School opening week in Carlisle was marked by the largest influx of new students to the town's educational institutions in their history. Yesterday Conway Hall opened with an enrollment of over 100, the Dickinson School of Law began sessions to-day with the largest student body in its history and Dickinson College to-morrow will begin its 134th year with a big new class. This year, following the custom inaugurated two years ago there will be no "rushing" of men for fraternities a week being set in October for the entertainments of freshmen by the various fraternities and the presentation and acceptance of "bids."

Riverside Folk Consider Annexation Problem
Residents of Riverside are seriously considering annexation to Harrisburg and at a special meeting last night discussed the proposed plan. Some of the residents favor the plan, while others oppose it. No action was taken at the meeting, but a petition is being circulated now among the people in the suburb and man; have signed favoring the annexation proposal. A regular meeting of the residents will be held Tuesday, October 10, and the question will again be considered. The plan was considered informally last night. It was decided last night to keep the street lights burning until November 1, provided some of the subscribers pay up back accounts to the light fund, which is maintained in this way.
