THE WIDER MOTION PICTURE CENSORSHIP

The United States is made up of almost as many diverse peoples as Europe. This diversity in our unified population has to be taken into consideration by the National Board of Censorship of Moving Pictures.

If parents would find out from their nearest representative of the national board, or from the film company itself, whether a picture was judged suitable for mixed audiences or for adults only, it would be taking a long step toward the wider censorship.

150 British Hold Oasis Against Six Times Their Own Number of Turks

London, Sept. 21.—The defense by the British at the Egyptian desert post at El-Duedar during the British raid of April 23 deserves to be chronicled among the memorable incidents of the war, according to Reuters's special correspondent at the general headquarters of the Egyptian Expeditionary force.

The location of defense is a small oasis in a depression in the sandy waste about 13 miles east of the Suez Canal. The British had erected two redoubts and several small isolated posts in the vicinity of a grove of date palms. These defenses were not completed at the time of the raid.

Before the arrival of these last reinforcements, however, the Turks and Arabs began to fall back, and a British counter attack drove off in the rearward, twelve of the enemy being captured. The Australian Light Horse assisted in the full retreat, but were unable to overtake the camels on which the enemy was mounted.

Returning to the attack, the enemy fired a mountain gun and with it fiercely shelled the oasis, but, according to the correspondent, the British were able to return the fire with a deadly aim.
