Very Little Coal In Storage

The following report appears in a recent coal trade journal:—

"The coal companies have not been able to stock coal during the past two months, as customary during normal seasons.

"On the contrary, some of them have been compelled to pick up considerable coal from such storage piles as remained over from the past mild winter.

With labor at the mines seriously short, and many other causes contributing toward a smaller production, the operators cannot hold any hope to the general trade that there will be an increase in production during the Fall months."

We strongly urge our customers to put enough coal into their cellar to last through the winter. United Ice & Coal Co. Forster & Cowden Hummel & Mulberry Third & Boas 15th & Chestnut Also, Steelton, Penna.

WILSON HIT HARD BY MR. TAFT

Assails War and Mexican Policies; Would Have Recognized Huerta

Ex-President Taft, in a copyrighted article in the Yale Review for October, discusses at length issues of the presidential campaign, analyzing the record of the present administration. Extracts from his article follow: "If within one month after the Lusitania tragedy avowal or disavowal had been exacted from Germany, as it was later done, three or severally of the diplomatic relations in case of avowal, would have been in a much better position than we are to-day. The work of the administration is to write a note well and appropriately phrased and to deem the incident closed has exposed the nation to ridicule. The administration cannot say that it has thus kept us out of war, for it has itself demonstrated by the result of its ultimate demand that it might as well have recognized the same result without loss of prestige and the actual loss of lives which the delay has entailed."

Mexican Policy Criticized
"The next feature of Mr. Wilson's foreign policy, the consideration of which forces itself upon the electorate, is that pursued in Mexico. "Attempt is made to avoid responsibility for the palpable blunders in Mexico by saying that the situation was an 'inheritance' from the last administration. The historical consideration of the facts and dates shows the lack of weight in such a defense. "Had the Republican administration continued, it would have recognized Huerta. "I am surprised that Secretary Baker seeks to justify President Wilson's refusal to recognize Huerta, by saying that I refused to do so. This is very far from the fact. With the probability of settling the pending claims by a slight delay and with less than a fortnight before the coming into power of a new President, it would have been not only hasty and premature, but it would have been lacking in proper regard for the coming into power of an important policy for him. The great European powers recognized Huerta, but not until a month after President Wilson came into office. The administration went out of power having done nothing to embarrass the situation with which President Wilson had to deal."
